AMENDMENTS TO THE CRITERIA FOR GRANT PROGRAMMES

The CLIPS Board of Directors decided at their meeting in April to amend certain grants criteria. The first two items below apply to both Research and Public Programmes.

1. Overhead and Administrative Costs

The Institute will continue its policy of not funding indirect costs or overhead, but may be asked to make an exception to this rule in special circumstances. CLIPS may then contribute up to fifteen percent of the proposed project budget towards the overhead costs of non-governmental organizations or of an independent researcher.

Please note that neither governmental organizations (municipal, provincial or federal) nor universities are eligible under this clause.

2. Frequency of Applications

Previously, applicants could not hold more than one grant in each programme at a time. Also, when an organization or individual had received funds from the Institute and wished to make a new application, the Institute would consider the request only if final reports had been satisfactorily reviewed and remaining funds disbursed for the prior grant.

From now on, an organization or an individual may submit one application per programme per six-month period.

In all cases, the Institute will require all the information (including progress reports on any earlier grant) necessary to determine whether in its sole judgement the organization can carry out the projects for which funding is sought.

3. Labour Costs: Public Programmes

Formerly, the Institute provided partial salaries to organizers of conferences, editors of publications, organizers of special projects, etc. if the individual was not a regular employee of the sponsoring organization.

From now on, labour costs will not normally be considered. However, in special circumstances where such project-related costs cannot be covered from other sources the Institute may be asked to make an exception to this rule.

4. Labour Costs: Research

Formerly, the Institute did not provide funds for sabbatical supplements, part or supplemental salaries of grant applicants or principal researchers, or the salaries of individuals applying as private scholars.

From now on, an independent researcher may request remuneration (based on a university pay scale in the region where the researcher is working) for the time spent on the research project.

A non-governmental organization may include in its application the remuneration of any researcher assigned to the proposed research; costs of social benefits are not admissible.

In the case of a researcher on sabbatical leave, a sum based on the loss to be recovered may be included in the application. This sum must be proportional to the rate of pay and to the amount of time spent exclusively on the proposed research project.

In all cases, including applicants on the faculty of universities, out-of-pocket labour costs for research assistants may be included in the application but not the costs of full-time, paid, principal researchers in universities or governmental organizations.
