

- Price publications to reduce superfluous distribution. Most survey respondents did not recall receiving the documents they were sent. However, the vast majority who used the documents would be willing to pay for them.
- Actively promote the benefits of using export market development publications.
- Implement a strategy utilizing communication, promotion and incentives to encourage users to migrate to electronic products.