MANCHESTER STREET RAILWAY After making a liberal allowance for depreciation and all other inciden tal or prospective engagements, the street railway committee of the Manchester (Eng.) city-council has made a contribution of $500,000 in relief of rates. This amount is claimed to be the greatest ever granted by any British municipality towards rate aid, and exceeds by $75,000 the contributions made last year by the Manchester committee. The city has only had control of its street railway undertaking for ten years, and during that period has profited in the way of rate relief to the extent of $3,500,000. This, too, on the basis of a two cent fare and one of the most efficient transportation services in the United Kingdom.

ST. ALBAN'S CATHEDRAL.

Not Anglicans of the Diocese of Toronto alone, nor of Canada alone, but the public generally will receive with satisfaction the announcement that contracts for the new and stately Cathedral of St. Alban the Martyr have been let. In the meantime they do not provide for the completed edifice, but there is little doubt that once begun the cathedral will be carried steadily forward till it rises conspicuous among the ecclesiastical buildings of the city. Recent statistics show hat the Anglican Church in Canada is receiving annually large accessions of membership. Its activities in all lines of church and missionary effort reveal the living spirit in its clergy and lay members. St. Alban's, it is rightly claimed, will be a national edifice of which the city and province will be justly proud.

Upon the merits of this case there is no liability at common law. There was no failure on the part of the board to supply proper machinery, or to take any other reasonable precaution to insure the safety from injury, in their employment, of their servants. A foot-board was not a usual, or indeed a proper part of a small machine such as that in which the plaintiff was hurt, nor would it have prevented such an accident as that in which he was injured. But under the Workmen's Compensation for Injuries enactment, the plaintiff has. I find, a good cause of action against the defendants, as such corporate body.

The witness Edwards was a person employed by defendants, to whose orders the plaintiff, in the same employment, was bound to conform: the plaintiff was ordered by Edwards, to oil the tympan of the press, and while conforming to that order, and by reason of conforming to it, was injured thru the negligence of Edwards in setting the machine in motion without first giving the plaintiff some warning of his intention to do. n motion without first giving the plain-iff some warning of his intention to do
