

THINGS LOOK BLACK IN CHINA.

Officially the Young Emperor is Said to Have Suicided.

Actually He Was Assassinated After the Reins of Power Had Been Wrenched From Him—British Attaché Mobsed—Sir Claude MacDonald in a State of Anxiety.

From The Sunday World.
London, Oct. 1.—A special despatch from Shanghai published to-day says telegrams furnished by the British Consul-General to a Chinese paper there, allege that the Emperor of China committed suicide on Sept. 21, after signing the decree which placed the Dowager Empress at the head of affairs in China.

This, it is added, is understood to mean that the Emperor was assassinated. All the English-speaking secretaries and the principal members of the Chinese Foreign Office, it is further announced, have been seized and banished.

His Opponent Banished.
London, Oct. 1.—According to a despatch to The Times from Peking, the Emperor's Imperial decree issued Friday dismissing from office and banishing to the Chinese Turkistan, Chang-Yin-Houan, Li Hung Chang's opponent in the Foreign Office, and former Chinese Minister at Washington, "acquires the dismissed official of complicity with Kang-Yuwei, the Chinese reformer, but convicts vaguely as a traitor and traitor."

The true reason for his dismissal and banishment, The Times correspondent asserts, is that Chang-Yin-Houan was a powerful supporter of the Emperor's party.

British Attaché Stunned.
London, Oct. 1.—The British Foreign Office to-day received a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Peking saying that Mr. Mortimer, a member of the British Legation, on returning home yesterday with a lady, was insulted and attacked by a mob, which stoned and covered him with mud.

American Missionaries Attacked.
Later in the day, the despatch adds, some American missionaries were similarly attacked, as was the Chinese Secretary of the United States Legation. The latter's ribs were broken.

Sir Claude Grows Anxious.
Sir Claude M. MacDonald, the British Minister at Peking, reports that there is a dangerous feeling abroad.

Steps have been taken to call the attention of the Chinese Government to these outrages.

The Emperor Suicided.
London, Oct. 1.—A later special despatch from Shanghai says it is semi-officially announced that the Emperor of China committed suicide on Sept. 21.

Alleged Conspirators Executed.
Washington, Oct. 1.—Minister Conger of the State Department.

Peking, Oct. 1, 1898.—Day, Washington: Six alleged conspirators executed by the Emperor's order.

There is a fresh deal also with France, who is building up a vast empire in the north and west, to which she hopes eventually to add the centre by succeeding to the throne.

There are sufficient hints that if France should show signs of proving nasty over her claims in the Upper Nile, the Congo Free State. However that may be, the feeling in governing classes here is that the moment has come when England must have a definite and astute leader in foreign affairs, just such a leader as a man like Lord Cromer could give.

BET WHO'D DIE FIRST.
Grim Wager Between Two Young Port Wager Consummated—The Winner Died Yesterday.

Port Hope, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Mr. Alfred Richardson, a young man well and favourably known here, died yesterday after a lingering battle with consumption. He was 34 years of age, and his aged father and mother survive him. He voted on the 1st of September for the Conservative ticket.

He is the general opinion that he has already been done to death by the Dowager Empress, who it now appears, was once a herald in a Chinese house, the Emperor of China is known to have lately shown leanings towards Christianity, and it was recently reported that he had been the Confucian classes in the palace.

Vin Is Successor.
The man who will now ascend the throne of China is Yin, a grandson of Prince Kung. He is a good looking, intelligent young man of decidedly foreign leanings. He is regarded by the Chinese as being the legitimate successor of the Emperor's predecessor, Kwang-Hsu.

Won't Be a Puppet.
Englishmen who have met Yin declare he will not be a puppet like his predecessor. He has a stronger will, and, moreover, is not related to the Dowager Empress. A prominent resident of Peking, Mr. Dudgeon, who is only foreigner who ever dined with Yin, asserts that the Dowager Empress is not opposed to progress. He adds that this was proved by the installation of the electric light in the palace, and introduced a railroad and an electric launch into the palace grounds.

Causes of the Emperor's Deposition.
It is now said that the dismissal of Li Hung Chang, who was the ally of the Dowager Empress, and the strong pressure of Russia, which country was alarmed at the probable results of the mission of the Marquis Tsui to China, are the true causes of the Emperor's deposition.

Reforms Must Come.
The time, however, has come for a continuance of the old regime. The Young China party will not rest satisfied with the existing state of things. Kang-Yuwei, the fugitive Chinese reformer, who is now safe at Hong Kong under British protection, is known as the modern sage of China. He is the leader of the reform party, and the originator of the society formed in opposition to the custom of binding the feet of Chinese girls.

The society was organized in Canton with a membership of 10,000. Kang's daughter has never bound her feet, and she has published a treatise against foot-binding.

RUSSIAN GAME.
Who Among British Statesmen Can Take Charge of Affairs in the Chinese Puzzle?

New York, Oct. 1.—The Post's London correspondent, calling to-day, says, "England will probably not interfere at Peking. To do so during the present turmoil would mean attempting in reality, if not nominally, to govern China, and that is a task beyond the power even of England. What Englishmen to-day are most eager to know is, first, what part, if any, Russia has played in the Peking upheaval. Second, how if Russia's indirect influence has brought about the overthrow of the pro-British and reforming young Emperor, such conduct is consistent with the Emperor's peace manifesto and Russia's official expression of sympathy with the new dynasty in China on the basis of the spheres of influence.

Wanted, a Man.
The great difficulty that England is struggling against in China, as in Africa and elsewhere, at the present moment, is the fact that she has no one man at the head of her foreign affairs whose one business it is to map out and lead the British policy along firm and definite lines. England, in a word, wants, above all things, now, a man. That is the problem of the moment with which the Ministers individually are now wrestling.

Lord Salisbury has come back from his holiday with something of his old vigor, but advancing years and his duties as Premier and leader of the Unionist party make it more evident than ever that he is not a man. That is the problem of the moment with which the Ministers individually are now wrestling.

Who Would Succeed Balfour?
There are only two conceivable successors to him in the leadership of the Commons, Joseph Chamberlain and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

Such a lead the Tories feel Balfour would give. Balfour is, indeed, in their mind Salisbury's only possible successor in the present anxious times. But Balfour's appointment to the Foreign Office necessitates his resignation of leadership in the House of Commons.

Is the Problem?
The problem with which the Ministry is now face to face is where to find a man of sufficient experience and weight to really direct British policy. Under Salisbury's leadership, the Ministry has been able to maintain the leadership, and cannot be removed to the Foreign Office for the same reason, the impossibility of overlooking Chamberlain's claim.

Another African Deal.
To say nothing of the Ministry is clear that another gigantic all-round deal in Africa is in course of negotiation between the European powers. England, Germany and Portugal have practically concluded an agreement on lines outlined on September 6. The inevitable sequel of this Anglo-German-Portuguese deal in East and West Africa is a fresh deal also with France, who is building up a vast empire in the north and west, to which she hopes eventually to add the centre by succeeding to the throne.

There are sufficient hints that if France should show signs of proving nasty over her claims in the Upper Nile, the Congo Free State. However that may be, the feeling in governing classes here is that the moment has come when England must have a definite and astute leader in foreign affairs, just such a leader as a man like Lord Cromer could give.

THE FASHODA DISPUTE.
Is Really the Stalking Horse for Other French Purposes—Other Questions to Be Raised.

New York, Oct. 1.—The Commercial Advertiser's London cable says: The Fashoda dispute is really the stalking horse for other French purposes. The place itself is relatively valueless, but by contesting its possession the French Foreign Office hopes to raise again the whole question of Egypt. The French are determined to tolerate no proceedings, and the indifference of the other powers are nearly sure to kill the scheme. In the case of the failure of the intrigue, France intends to debate the English-French rights in the Upper Nile, hoping thereby to start long and intricate negotiations like those of the Nile, ending in a mutual concessions profitable to France.

Marchand's expedition was a prospecting tour to find a basis for negotiations. Behind the scenes, however, is really directing the French course. English opinion, without distinction, upholds Lord Salisbury's resistance to French pretensions.

AFRAID OF THE ANARCHISTS.
Extraordinary Precautions Now Being Taken to Protect All Royal Persons in England.

New York, Oct. 1.—A London cable to The Mail and Express to-day says: Extraordinary precautions are being taken to protect all royal persons in England. Extraordinary precautions are being taken to protect all royal persons in England.

The Czar's Efforts for Peace.
Berlin, Oct. 1.—The correspondent here of the Associated Press learns from the German Foreign Office that the Czar's proposal for a disarmament congress is quietly but slowly making headway. All the powers, including France, have now accepted the invitation, but with limitations.
