GREEK KING VEERS TOWARD ALLIES

Declarations of Willingness to Fight for Advantages
Win Support.

ATHENS, Sept. 22, via London, Sept. 24.—All the Athens newspapers comment in length on the latest declarations made by King Constantine of Greece to the Associated Press, and published here yesterday, in which his majesty said that Greece was ready to join the entente allies whenever she could see definite and certain advantage in so doing.

The Hesperini, an anti-Venizelos organ, devoted a four column editorial to the declaration of the king. The author of the editorial is Nicholas Stratos, minister of marine last year in the cabinet of Premier Goumris. M. Stratos takes each sentence as a text for the elucidation of a pro-war policy, making it is evident that the Greek king is seeking an excuse and means to depart from a neutral course. The ex-minister, who heretofore was a most ardent opponent of war, declares openly:

"The country cannot further depend on the dubious assurances of the central empires and must enter the war by national action."

With Agamemnon Schliemann, in 1914 Greek minister at Washington, Venizelos war party. One of the foremost political figures in Greece said to the Associated Press today:

SECOND WAR LOAN DECIDED SUCCESS

Is Striking Testimony to the Financial Strength of Canada.

tion, inclusive of the fifty millions subscribed by the chartered banks, I am confident that when the subscriptions now in the mails are received the total will reach one hundred and eighty millions, and probably more. Ninety per cent. of the subscriptions are Canadian. The number of subscribers may reach thirty thousand. The lists closed on Saturday and no further subscriptions can be received.

A Notable Achievement.—"The result can only be regarded as one more notable achievement on the part of the Canadian people. It is the more extraordinary when it is recalled that before the war Canada depended for her borrowings upon the London market. The overwhelming success of the issue is a striking testimony not only to the loyalty but to the financial strength and soundness of Canada today."

"No special appeal was made to the public to support the loan, because we believed the patriotism of the Canadian people required no stimulation. The terms of the issue were made to accord with the prevailing conditions, and success was never for a moment in doubt. To the Canadian public belongs the credit, but I feel it should be less than just if I failed to specially acknowledge the services of the brokers and bond dealers who from the beginning spent lavishly of their money and employed their utmost endeavors to make the issue a success. I feel particularly grateful also to the press of the Dominion, which, without exception accorded the loan most generous and invaluable support. The handsome subscriptions of financial, commercial and industrial organizations sufficiently attest their share in bringing about the great result. A furthestmost gratifying feature has been the participation of provincial governments and municipal bodies subscribing on behalf of their trust and sinking funds."

"The question of the amount of allotment to the subscriber cannot be considered until the returns are nearly all received, that is to say until about the middle or towards the end of next week. It is regarded as probable that the banks will receive no part of their fifty million dollar subscription, and that the smaller subscriptions will be allotted in full. The cutting down will be done in connection with the larger subscriptions."

Co-operation.—There was no conflict of interest between the bankers and the brokers. The former at their three thousand offices throughout Canada, received subscriptions from the public and payments therefor. They keep accounts in connection with these transactions, issue provincial receipts and interim certificates in exchange for which they finally deliver the definitive bonds when prepared. Their duties in this connection extended over months and are of an exceedingly arduous character. In addition they pay for the government at all their branches Canada free of exchange, all coupons maturing during the entire term of the bonds. In addition the chartered banks guaranteed the loan to the extent of fifty million dollars. Will Establish Credits.

Sir Thomas White is so impressed with the result of the loan as showing the essential strength and soundness of the Canadian financial situation that he will at once take under consideration the question of establishing large dollar credits in Canada to be availed of by the imperial government for the purchase of munitions and supplies here.

Speaking of this question, the minister said that it was of the utmost importance both from the standpoint of the successful prosecution of the war and of Canadian business as well that Canada should lend to the imperial government as much as possible towards meeting the huge expenditures which it is making here, amounting to over a million dollars a day, for shells, explosives and other munitions.

Canadians Derive Benefit.—"The Canadian people," said Sir Thomas, "are now deriving the full benefit of this enormous expenditure, and it is our bounden duty to save as much as possible of the profits to be available for the creation of government credits from which further purchases may be made. In exercising rigid economy and making the national savings thus available, the Canadian people will be serving the two-fold purpose of high patriotism and good business."

The minister concluded by saying that the amount of orders which Canada will receive must depend upon the amount of dollar credits which Canada can establish for the imperial government. To increase these credits will be the chief concern of the minister for the immediate future. Already Canada has furnished credits to the amount of one hundred and fifty millions.

CONVALESCENT SOLDIERS STAGE BIG CORN ROAST

Entertained Lady Soldiers in Real
Old-Time Feast and Dance.

Longwood Military Convalescent home was on fête on Thursday evening, when the patients entertained about 80 members of the Women's Canadian Volunteer Corps with a real old-time corn roast.

The huge bonfire, which was lighted in one of the fields, illuminated the whole country. While the more sober spirits slipped the corn and tended the fire, the rest amused themselves by playing games, until the bugler sounded "the coochoochoo door." The welcome summons was quickly responded to.

When the last corn was eaten and the coffee pot drained the party repaired to the lawn in front of the house, where Chinese lanterns illuminated the proceedings. Dancing was soon in full swing on the well-kept grass, after which a few
