THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 13.—Cotton conprice. The trade have received a re, and evidently will not stop unthey have provided themselves with included themselves with indicated protection for their future quirements. With the actual movement of new cotton three to four onths distant, the ordinary relief hich comes to a market from hedges lacking, and the contracts in existence are simply changing hands from me set of buyers to another. This all result, ultimately, in an extremely reak technical position, with no short erest to come to the rescue of the arket in times of need, and there will no doubt be several such periods store the season is well on its way. The weather report today was said to more favorable, the complaints are uppearing of high temperatures in the othwest. We continue to feel that, otwithstanding the many crop uncer-intles that are before us, the present evel of values is a good one, and ad-vantage should be taken of it by longs to liquidate. There will be many reactions, and substantial ones, that will July ... 231 afford ample opportunity to replace cotton now sold.

wheat values. Largely as a result, the market, altho steady at the close was a half to two centarnet lower, with July at $2.31 and September at $2.07½. Corn finished ½c to 2½c up, and oats gained ½c to 1½c. The outcome in provisions was a setback of 2½c to 25c.

One of the leading authorities in the wheat trade estimated the 1917 production in North and South Dakota and Minnesota at 160,000,000 bushels, as against $3,000,000 bushels last year. There were also continued favorable reports from Canada, which were partly offset, however, by assertions that three of the provinces would not harvest within one milition acres of the 1916 total.

Firmness in the oats market developed in the main from signs of a liberal export demand.

Winnipeg, Man, June 13.—Wingipeg October was late in opening and was 1 cent higher, and after a very limited trade it closed % cents up for the day. July oats were % cents higher, and October % cents higher. July flax was 2 cents up and October 6 cents higher at the close.

toper % cents higher. July flax was 2 cents up and October 5 cents higher at the close.

There was very little trade in futures at Winnipes, but the market had a firmtone. There has been considerable rain in eastern Saskatchewan and western Manitoba, and temperatures below freezing points. This is not good frowing weather, especially as crops are in a backward the generally healthy condition. The forecast, however, is for rising temperatures.

In cash grains there was a fair demand for all grades of cash wheat, the specials setting a full share of attention. No. 6 wheat was 1 cent up. Spreads on other grades were about the same as yesterday. The government exporters and millers were all on the market, offerings being moderate. There was fair inquiry for oats, and a good demand for cash barley and flax.

Non-Producing Mines

The non-producing mines of Porcupine have not been materially affected by labor difficulties. This is an important matter when looking for investments.

The location of a high-grade ore body 32 feet wide below the 300-foot level on the Davidson Gold Mines has gone far in establishing the character of the property as a permanent mining proposition. The extensive ore bodies already opened up on upper levels, where over half a mile of cross-cutting and drifting has been completed, warrants the erection of a mill, which has already been purchased.

We Strongly Advise the Immediate Purchase of Davidson Stock

BANK'S DAMAGE SUIT.

Judge Winchester yesterday resumed hearing of the arbitration case in connection with the claim of the Dominion Bank against the C.P.R. and the City of Toronto for alleged damages to premises at Yonge and Cottingham streets by the construction of the North Toronto subway. The chief witness was J. F. Simpson, assistant assessment commissioner. He estimated the value of the land and building at $53,200 before the construction work had been done. He said the building was not now suitable for a bank. He estimated the present value of the land was not now suitable for a bank. He estimated the present value of the land at $20,340. A. F. Wickson, an architect, told the judge that the bank building could be remodeled for $3500 and be as good as it had been before the subway was built.

TECHNICALITY SNAG IN HARBOR BOARD CASE

Hali today to resume hearing of the case of T. H. Watson against the To-case of T. H. Watson against the Toronto Harbor Board, which was called in the non-jury assize court and heard in that court for two days.

That James Bicknell, K.C., told I. S. Fairty, the assistant city solicitor, that he would waive the technicality by which the proclamation extending the city's boundary in 1903 omitted taking in the Watson water lots at the Humber was the declaration of Mr. Fairty on the witness stand yesterds.

During his examination b.

During his examination b.
McMaster, counsel for the board, Mr. Fairty stated that a ror had been made in the proclams of 1903 extending the western bodary of the city. Instead of the boundary line extending northwest from the island, it was read to extend southwest, and thus the southwestern boundary stopped 1000 feet out from the shore, and did not include the Watson lots.
