The half-yearly term of the Seminary taught by the Rev. J. G. Macgregor in this City was brought to a close on Friday, for the usual weeks of vacation. As the School had been examined in March, it was thought unnecessary to institute another examination so soon after, although the pupils would, without doubt, have afforded as decided proofs of diligence and improvement in their respective studies, as they did, on that occasion, to the Reverend gentlemen who presided and judged of their merits.

The School will be re-opened on Friday, the 1st of August, when an opportunity will be afforded to pupils to begin the study of the Lutin, Greek, or French Languages—Geometry or Algebra.

Buttus Day School, St. John.—The Committee which was appointed by the Public Meeting, held in April last, at the Mechanics' institute, applied at the close of that month to the Secretary of the British and Toreign School Schools in London for a suitable Teacher. By the last Math, a reply was received, studing that a Teacher possessing the necessary qualifications had been appointed, and would leave length of Gr. St. John by the first vessel in which a passage could be procured.

We understand that the conduct of Alexander McLaggin, Esq. who resides near the scene of the late disaster by Fire, on the Bartholomew's River, was beyond all praise. He opened his house to the destitute sottlers, supplied then with the necessaries of life, and subscribed a liberal sum towards their future relief. Such disinterested and humane conduct, merits the highest praise.—Miramichi Glagaer,
