THE EXHIBITION PROBLEM.

In view of the revival of activity in the Exhibition Association of St. John, it is interesting to note a discussion now in progress in Halifax in relation to the future of the Exhibition in that city. The buildings used for the Nova Scotia exhibition last December, and most of the grounds were taken as a site for temporary dwellings for families whose homes were destroyed. Moreover, the plans are afoot to utilize this area in the development of a Greater Halifax, which may call for its abandonment as an exhibition site. This being the state of affairs, a meeting of about fifty prominent business men was recently held to consider the situation and offer suggestions as to the future of the enterprise. The last issue of the Maritime Merchant contains a report of the meeting and summary of the suggestions. The most important of these was the proposal to secure a site which gives a fine view of the harbor, Bedford Basin and surrounding lands. The report says: "The construction of the buildings was suggested so that they could be utilized during the whole of the year, for frost proof storage, or refrigeration, or other purposes, while not in use as part of the exhibition, and the construction of the main building, so that it may be available as an auditorium for big public meetings, or as a rink and thus bring in a constant revenue for the city and province. The planning of the grounds and race tracks so that they might be suitable for other outdoor recreation, besides horse-racing and be a part of the modern method of providing for the aesthetic eye were dwelt upon."

It was the unanimous opinion that all gambling features should be rigidly excluded from exhibitions, and a keener competition in exhibits of natural products and in arts encouraged. The advertising value of exhibitions in the period of industrial and trade expansion following the advent of peace was dwelt upon, and the meeting strongly favored the renewal of the annual fair next year. The damage done to the exhibition by the disaster of last December is estimated to have been $225,000, and it is assumed this amount will be made available for the erection of new buildings. Editorially the Merchant says it has expressed doubt whether it is possible to make a provincial exhibition a successful annual affair, and has led to the idea of holding a maritime exhibition in alternate years in St. John and Halifax, with the expectation that a healthy rivalry would always ensure a good show; but if that were not practicable it believes a plan that could be used all the year round would be the most desirable. It says:—

"We should like to endorse one of the suggestions made at last week's meeting, namely, that the new buildings should be of permanent construction, and so planned as to be made useful and possibly productive during the period when they would ordinarily be idle. For example, one building might be used as a skating rink in the winter months, and for other entertainment purposes during the summer months. Another building might be used for a permanent industrial exhibit, similar to the institution of similar name in Winnipeg. Still another might be a local art gallery, kept open the year round, and thrown in as a part of the exhibition in the fall. The buildings should all be of dignified design and well grouped; and the grounds, properly laid out and planted, might be converted into a public resort for play and rest in the summer months. Hither and thither the plan has not only been developed in such a way as to make the plant useful and possibly productive the year round, and we hope that the commission may see its way clear to develop it when it gets down to the task of reconstruction."

IN GERMANY. It would be extremely interesting if we could learn from day to day what is going on behind the curtain in Germany. The gentlemen whose ambition it was to dominate the world are still there. They have bowed to the storm, but they may be very sure they have not undergone a change of heart. Their leader is just over the border in Holland, safe for the present, and free to carry on intrigues of any sort. There is an almost suspicious eagerness on the part of the autocracy in the German states, large and small, to embrace democracy. To realize what this means we have only to picture to ourselves the former regime, with the imperial court at Berlin, to which only the high and mighty could gain access, and the petty courts in all the kingdoms, grand-duchies, duchies and principalities, each aping to the extent of its ability the exclusiveness and pomp and show of the Kaiser's court. The whole atmosphere of these courts was military, and the doctrine of the supremacy of the state, and of the duty of all to respond to every nod of the Kaiser, held full sway. The whole empire was under the heel of big and little autocrats, and the highest ambition of the average German citizen was to gain the recognition and favor in court circles which was the sure road to patronage and preferment. A more vicious system could not exist, and it had to come to an end. The inordinate ambition of the autocracy, puffed up by the adulation of the people, and encouraged by the success of imperial policy for forty years, brought on the world-war. But the autocrats are not, apparently,

THE PRAYER OF A SOLDIER

Father of all, helper of the free, we pray with anxious hearts for all who fight on sea and land and in the air to guard our homes and liberty. Make clear the vision of our leaders, and their counsel wise. Into thy care our ships and armies we commend; guard them from chance down mines and all the dangers of this war at sea, and of old give them the victory.

To men on watch give vigilance; to those below calm sleep; make strong our soldiers' hearts, and brace their nerves against the burning shrapnel, and the unseen fire that lays the next man low. In pity blind them to the sight of fellow comrades left upon the field. May Christ Himself in Paradise receive the souls of those who pass through death. Let not our soldiers ever doubt that they shall ever overcome the forces of that king who seeks to wage through slaughter to a throne and shut the gate of mercy to mankind. O God of love and pity, have compassion on the wounded; make bearable their pains and send unconsciousness. To surgeons and to dressers give strength that knows no failing, and skill that suffers not from desperate haste. To tired men give time to rest. Pity the poor beasts of service who suffer for man's wrong. For us at home, let not our open shame be ours that we forget to ease the suffering of

There was never a time when the sacrifices and the help of women were more appreciated than at the present time. Women should learn war-nursing and nursing at home. There is no better way than to study the new edition of the "Common Sense Medical Adviser" with chapters on First Aid, Bandaging, Anatomy, Hygiene, care of the Sick, Diseases of Women, Mother and Baby, Marriage—to be had at some drug-store or send 50c. to Dr. Pierce, Courtwright St., Bridgeport, Ontario.

If a woman suffers from weak back, nervousness or dizziness—if pains afflict her, the best tonic and corrective is one made up of native herbs, and made without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is the prescription of Doctor Pierce's "Pink Pills for Pale People" used by him in active practice many years and now sold by almost every druggist in the land, in liquid or in tablets. strength. I could do all my work and feel fine. I had practically no suffering and my baby was strong and healthy.—Mrs. J. H. Thorne, 308 Ave. St.

Scattered Out—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription" was sent to me. During an expectant period I became all run-down, weak and nervous and could not rest—was persecuted. I also suffered with backache. I was a complete wreck when I began the use of "P. P." I soon commenced to feel better and it finally restored me to health.

War, of brave men fighting in the line. O thou who makest human hearts the channel of thy answers to our prayers, let loose a flood of sympathy and mercy upon the soldiers and sailors who wander desolate and suffering, leaving wrecked homes and fields and gardens trodden under ruthless feet. With these who suffer more than all, may we with reverence Thy burden share for all are Thine and in Thy image made; they too are Thine who caused the wrong. O Father may this war be mankind's last appeal to force. Grant from the stricken earth born with Thy dead the everlasting flower of peace shall spring and all thy world become a garden where the flower of Christ shall sprout. And this we beg for our dear sister Brother's sake, who gave Himself for those He loved. Our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Brain Power

IN the brain is consumed one-fifth of all the blood in the human system. This goes to feed the nerve cells and to create the all-essential nerve force—for whether you think or speak or move your hand, nerve force is consumed in that act.

When an unusual demand is made on the brain, whether by excessive mental effort or as the result of mental worry and anxiety, still more blood and more nervous energy are used in the brain and other organs of the body are robbed of the nervous energy necessary for their proper working.

This is why the thinker—the man who works with his brain, and who does not in these trying days—is most subject to nervous indigestion, nervous headache, sleeplessness and weak functioning of the vital organs such as the heart, stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

The human system is a bundle of nerves, and, whether we realize it or not, our health depends to a very great extent on the condition of the nerves.

There is always a big demand on the nervous system, and when this is increased by shock, or sorrow or any great mental worry or anxiety there is danger of a breakdown.

At this trying time, when so many are suffering from nervous troubles of one kind or another, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is proving a blessing of untold value.

This food cure is not like a stimulant, because it cures in Nature's way by restoring the depleted nerve cells, increasing the nervous energy, and building up the system generally.

When you feel tired out in mind and body, have brain fog and failing memory, and feel that you are losing your energy and vigor, it is time to turn to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of renewing mental and bodily vigor.

If your experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is like that of the great majority of people who use it you will soon feel the benefits in increased capacity—both mental and physical. You will feel that you have the reserve force necessary to withstand the strain of life's work and to ward off disease. It is only by building up nerve force that you can hope to counteract the debilitating influence of mental worry and anxiety.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so universally used that you can obtain it from any dealer at 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, or from Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on every box of the formula.
