There was much indignation expressed yesterday at the threatened attack on the Mayor elect by legal process, with a view to disqualify him from holding the office to which he has been chosen by so large a body of citizens. While the best legal authorities were of the opinion that no such attempt to disqualify Mr. Barker could succeed, some thought that the city might thereby be involved in legal difficulties of a serious character. There, however, does not seem to be any good ground for these fears. Where a person is filling an office of which his title is disputed a tax at the Point and Comment.
