THEOROUGHBRED

as a stake race. The stamina that finished a short length in front.

"It looks good for the Derby, Lang-

He had moved up to the gate as he

"How did he shape under

"I would'nt ask to ride a better horse.

"I guess you're right, Westley;

from the saddle.

safe at a mile."

more'n half ready yet."

you at long price, see?"

"He didn't win to-day."

rying his proper weight?"

"He came pretty near it."

"About where he was, I guess.

"Just pass me that saddle,

"In itself, I reckon-lift it."

What's in it?"

stake horse, too."

"Gad! it's heavy. Did Diablo carry fiddle, you know. You're the first man

"Then Diablo did carry his own

"Just about, and carried it like a

"It looks as though Diablo had some-

"The colt must be extra good, Lang-

"But where would he have been car-

"You said as a four-year-old he

"I understand, sir."

The two boys cantered their mounts down to the quarter post carelessly, as and a half handicap course though they were going around to the showed itself. First he was level with far side.

"Look at 'em!" cried the trainer: "isn't he a little gentleman?" To the uninitiated this might have "Agreat trial," cried the trainer, been taken as a tribute to one of the gleefully, holding out his watch for boys, Westley, perhaps; but the train- Crane's inspection. "See that!" pointer was not even thinking of them. ing to the hand he had stopped as the drawn forth this encomium. His head, mile and a quarter on a fast track'll straight and true in front, and his big the record." eyes searched the course with gentle inquisitiveness, for others of his kind, don

Crane, knowing quite well to what year-old; but I knew he had it in him. Langdon referred.

"He's all that, but just look at the other devil." fully up and down, up and down; grabbing at the bit; pirouetting from one Derby, if you're set on winnin' it." side the course to the other; nearly minute, as with lowered head he sought to break away, and the next dashing forward for a few yards with it stuck | fierce gallop, turned them about and foolishly high, like a bad-mouthed In-dian cayuse.

| The gand, turned the paddock were trotting toward the paddock where stood the two mere angdon

"But Westley'll manage him," Landon confided to Crane, after a period him in toward the stalls. of silent observation; "he'll get his "How did he shape belly full of runnin' when he's gone a Westly?" he asked, as the boy slipped mile and a quarter with The Dutchman. Gad! that was neat; here they come"; for the two boys had whirled with sudden skill at the quarter post, and broke away, with Diablo slightly muttered Langdon, abstractedly, and bit of it; ran as game as a pebble; he had floated into oblivion. He saw only is his journey. He held the Dutchman a great striding black horse coming wide-mouthed up the stretch. At the black's heels, with dogged lope, hung the three-year-old, which means that out over the rail, as the horses raced route to be a stayer, for the colt isn't he ment to have this good thing all to by, Diablo well in front.

The trainer's admonition seemed like a cry to a cyclone, as void of useful- sir; I might asgeezed a bit more out of ness. What power could the tiny dot him. Did we make fair time?" lying close hugged far up on the straining black neck have over the galloping thought Langdon to himself; "it's news

"Yes, that's the way," Langdon said, aloud, with a diplomacy born of many years of turf tutionn: "Fairish sort of time; it might have been better, pering a thumb out toward the first turn in the course where the two borses are the two borses where two borses where two borses where the two borses where the two borses where the two borses where the two borses where tw the way he's worked here.'

'Which one?" asked his companion. 'The black, an' if he ever does that in a race-God help the others-they'll never catch him; they'll never catch thought, as he saw the confirmation with wonderous carlessness: "It doesn't fer to trow yous downe. repeating, dwelling lovingly on the of it being enacted before his eyes; for across the new green of the grasssprouted course he could see two open lengths of daylight between Diablo and The Dutchman.

"Fifty-one and a half for the half- have the leg up, with a bet down for mile," he imparted to Crane, looking at his watch. "Now The Dutchman is moving up; Colley doesn't mean to get left if he can help it. I'm afraid Diakind are apt to do that. The Dutch- and he was led away. men is game, an' if he ever gets to the It takes some ridin'; it takes some an' have a bit of lunch. siastic, exuberant. The silent man at up the subject of the trial. his side noticed the childish repetition thought that Langdon would have represented to be, not much account." been overjoyed to see the bay horse smother his opponent. Was not the to win a big handicap, if he happened tariner to have ten thousand dollars if to be in one at a light weight." The Dutchman won the handicap? But here he was pinning his satisfaction to the good showing of Diablo. He didn't know of the compact between Langdon and the Bookmaker Faust, but he strongly suspected from the trainer's demeanor that the gallop he was wit- should have had up a hundred and for the Brooklyn. nessing foretold some big coup the lat- twenty-six, and he carried a hundred

"He hasn't got him yet, he hasn't got boy by seven pounds on his back." him yet!" cried Langdon, joyfully, as Diablo." still a short length in the lead.

giving the black twenty pounds the best should have. "What's it caught in?" he of it in the weights, for one was a asked, fretfully. three year-old while the other was four, and they each carried a hundred

"The mile in 1:42," chirped Langdon. That's movin', if you like, considerin' the track, the conditions of the horses, an' that they're runnin' under a double for some time. I tell you." wrap. Now we'll see a ding-dong finnish, if the black doesn't show a weight," commented Crane, a light good horse?" streak of yellow. Dutchy's got him," breaking in upon him. he added, as through his glasses he saw them swing into the straight, neck

"Clever Mr. Westly!" for Diablo's rider, having the rail and on the lead, Westley weighed. He's a good boy, and for me didn't you?" had bored out slightly on the turn, so | don't shoot off his mouth much, but all as not to cramp the uncertain horse he the same things will out while riding, ode and carried The Dutchman wide. boys have the power of speech." Up the straight they came, the boys helping their mounts with leg and thing in him," said Crane, meditatively. then? Shall I lay against him fur- sordid satisfaction. Men in battle were Co. at Rushville, Ind. arm; the black holding his own with a logged persistence that quite upset Fancy The Dutchman in at seventy turns out well, that's so much to the posite Allis's name. good. But it's a bit of luck Porter's raced pretty loose."

that fairy tale?" thought Langdon. Aloud, he said: "But you'll back him now, sir, won't you? He must be a "H" column he came to Ike Hummel, skilled in managing anything but a long price in the winter books." 'Yes I'll arrange that," answered the

"It's the Brooklyn, sir, is it?" 'Seems like it.'

"I woun't say anything about the race to Westley, though.' to getting the money on; you do the him off his guard.

When Crane had gone, Langdon paid

ered; "the old man just thought to keep me quiet; throw me off the scent Langdon had said would stand The till he duplicated the other trial, whendutchman in good stead over the mile ever they pulled it off. Now he's got a sure line on the black, an' he'll make such a killin' that the books'll remem the black, then gradually, stride by ber him for many a day. But why does stride, he drew away from Diablo, and he keep throwin' that fairy tale into me about buying a bad horse to oblige somebody? A man must be a sucker to believe that of Crane; he's not that sort. But one sure thing he said he'd They were of no moment. It was the bay's brown nozzle flashed by the post; a man quick enough, but when he gives his word it stands. Mr. Jakey Faust ing with gentle, lazy grace, that had that beats that pair, fit and well, a can look after himself: I'm not goin' to take chances on loosin' a big stable somewhat high carried, was held have to make it in two-five, an' that's of bread-winners by doubling on the Langdon's mental analysis of Crane's notives was the outcome of considerable experience. The Banker's past ing I've had from the colt as a three- life was not compatible with generous dealing. His act of buying Duablo had Hanover was a great horse-to my been prompted by new-born feelings of mind we never had his equal in Amer- regard for the Porters, chiefly Allis; ica-but this youngster'll be as good as but no man, much less Langdon, would Diablo was throwing his nose fret- his daddy ever was. I don't think have given him credit for other than you ought to start him, sir, till the the most selfish motives.

True to his resolve, Langdon utterly refused to share his confidences with

"We've tried the horse," he said, "and doubt know all that's doing." to break away, and the next dashing down the horses gradually after the the Dutchman won, but Crane knows more about the whole business than I do. You go to him, Jake, or wait till to keep away from the stables. How about it. My game's to run straight took Diablo by the bridle rein and led with one man, anyway, an' I'm goin'

That was all Faust could learn. When knew the lad was full open to a bribe, I thought I had the colt beaten, sure; but Shandy knew no more than did the it was all his own fault; his superbut my mount seemed to tire a little Bookmaker. The Dutchman had won at the finish. He did'nt toss up not a the trial from the black quite easily. was the extent of his knowledge. As quiet to himself. The man at his side just tired at the finish. I think a mile to Diablo himself, Shandy gave him a very bad character indeed.

CHAPTER XXI.

Faust was in a quandry. First Crane "Take him back, take him back, we stley!" yelled Langdon, leaning far had twenty pounds the best of it, he had confided in him over Diablo, but should have held his own the whole now his silence seemed to indicate that himself. Then Langdon had promised to "I didn't hustle him none too much, cooperate, now he too, had closed up out now." like a clam; he was as mute as an

"Quite a feller, Mister Jockey," oyster. you want, eh?" Then he answered time," thought Faust; "but there's worked together a good deal wthout a couple of seconds. But they'll come stable-boy; it was unsigned: "Dere Boss, Yous is gittin it in the on-they'll come on, both of them. If anybody asks you, Westly, The Dutch- neck. de big blak hors he didn't carre ped. man was beaten off, see? I don't like the sadel you think the blak hors had to discourage the clever owners that on his bak. Yous got the buble cros has good 'une in the Derby." Then he that time. Der bokie hes axin me wot added as a sort of after thought, and de blak is good fer der bokie is playin "No moar at presen." matter about the black, you know; he's

This was the wholly ambiguous com only a sellin' plater, so it doesn't matmunication that Crane had found under the question of friendship. ter. But all the same, Westley, when we find a soft spot for him, an over- his door. There was no stamp, neither night sellin' purse or somethin', you'll place nor date written in the letter: nothing but an evident warning from tous than he appeared at the earlier some one, who, no doubt, hoped to get stage of the game. into his good graces by putting him on his guard. By the time Langdon had slipped Duablo while the odds were long bet.' "Send them home, Westley. Now, enough to make it possible with the "Thank you, there won't be any more black's throat-latch he'll chuck it. But Mr. Crane, we'll drive back to the house outlay of very little capital. He bad breaks made by me; but I didn't smoked a heavy Manuel Garcia over mean to give you none the worst of it ridin', sir." He was becoming enthu- As they drove along Crane brought his new contingency. It did not mat- Good day, sir," and he was gone. ter about the saddles. Langdon had confided in him fully. But how had Crane, as he took from the drawer the with inward amusement. He had don, or the black is-well, as he was the writer of the mspelledi etorfl ody stable-boy's ill-favored note. "I wonthe writer of the ill-spelled missive der who sent me this scrawl? It gave "I guess Diablo's about good enough known of that matter?

That must be Faust. Why was he straight, now he's been scorched. He sent for Faust. When the latter Woman while I think of it had come, Crane asked Diablo's price

Bookmaker; "somebody's and twelve; and, besides, had the best Faust's small baby eyes were fixed pretty good win if it comes off. She the horses swung around the bottom turn, closer locked, but with Diablo wer. "No; not that—the one I took off as he imparted this information; but for it's a part of the bargain that I Crane saw no great cause for exhilir- Crane reached down his hand, but the aration. The Dutchman was certaintly saddle didn't come quite as freely as it surface was not more placid, more de- a small bet. But this is a small bet. void of indication, than the smooth There was nothing said about the size countenance he was searching.

"Lead built into it; it's my own old other subject.

foolish outsider, tempted by the long suppose that's the love sympton. But matter; in fact, it's all the better. at forty! it's hardly my normal con-"Yest I changed the saddles after You took that five thousand to fifty dition, I fancy." "Yes' now at a profit." "You don't want to back Diablo, "He's got the Brooklyn in him. ther?"

the greatst thing on earth right in always thought he was a bad horse, len by the wayside because of his youn hands now." and—and—well, never mind, just lay sword play did not interest him; they Langdon hesitated for a minute, and that bet off. I shall probably want to then added: "But I guess you knew back The Dutchmann again shortly." harrased him not at all. If there were this all before, or you wouldn't have When Faust had gone he opened the commercial blood stains upon his hand, little drawer which heid his betting they were hidden by the glove of suc-"I bought him for a bad horse," book took it out, and drew a pencil cess. After a manner he had had answered Crane, quietly; "but if he through the entry he had made oppeace; now all was disquiet; the tur-

"Thats off for a few days, thanks to clashing with the polemics of self-satis not having declared him out to save Mr. Faust," he thought. Then he ran fying selfishness. All because of a girl! nearly a hundred. He seems to have his eye back over several other entries. To him that was the peculiar feature "Ah, that's the man-Hummel; he'll of the disturbance in his nature. He 'I wonder if he thinks I'm taking in do."

commission broker, Madison 71184." Over the 'phone he made an apother, "and I'll take of you, too. I pointment for the next day at eleven with one's self," he thought, "but suppose Westley will take the mount?" o'clock with Hummel; and the result simply can't help it." He was astonof that interview was that Crane ished to find that he was pacing up and "Well, you can just give him to un- backed Diablo to win him a matter of down the floor of his own apartment. derstand that he'll be looked after if seventy-five thousand dollars at the Undoubtedly he was possessed of laid off all his own bets and sent the done? . To let it master him meant the horse back in the markets on the longer giving up things that were almost sec-'I'll leave all that to you. I'll attend odds. Crane had completely thrown ond nature. He could not love the girl further mental tribute to his master's Diablo's bets than he heard that a honesty would surley bring him disastuteness. "Now I see it all," he mut- big commission had been most skil- quietude. It would indeed be difficult to Crane, feeling very much at sea.

> sir." he said. "Are they?"

"Yes; heavy." "If he's worth backin' at all I supose he's worth backin' heavily." This aphorism seemed to merit a

"He's travelling up and down in the market," continues Faust. "He dropped to thirty, then went to seventy-

"I shouldn't try," advised Crane, soothingly. "Too much knowledge is even as great a danger than a lesser with inquiry at the speaker, but, as usual, there was nothing in his presence beyond the words to hang that conjecture on. "I thought for your sake that I'd better find out."

"Oh, don't worry about me; that is too much, you know. I go to Gravesend once in a while myself, and no

A great fear fell upon Faust. Evidently this was an intimation to him he sends for you, an' you'll find out all did Crane know-who split on him? Was it Langdon, or Shandy, or Cooley? Someone had evidently Crane's suspicion, and this man of a great cleverness had put him away an occasion offered he slipped a ten- while he worked a big commission East, and a farm laborers' excursion dollar note into Shandy's hand, for he through some one else. The thought was none the less bitter to Faust that

"An' you don't want me to work a commission for you on Diablo?" he asked, desperately.

"No: I sha'n't bet on him at present And say, Faust, in future when I want you to do any betting on my horses, on my account, you know, I'll tell you. Understand? You needn't worry, that is-other people. I'll tell you myself. "I didn't mean-" Faust had started to try a plausible explanation, but Crane stopped mim.

"Never mind; the matter is closed "But sir," persisted Faust, "if you've oyster.

"Crane is dealin' the cards all the bit now? Is it good business? We've misunderstanding before."

"Yes we have," commented Crane. "Yes; an' I'd like to be in on this at Key West until further orders. In in the course, where the two horses were hugging close to the rail; "that's thought they might have bettered that illiterate epistle, evidently from a crane raised his hand in an attitude retary of State Bacon said that there of supplication for the other man to was no disposition on the part of the desist, but Faust was not to be stop-

"I made a mistake, an' I'm sorry; an' if you will tell me whether Diablo's good business for the Brooklyn, I'll back him now at the shorter price. There's no use of us bein' bad friends." "I think Diablo's a fairly good bet," said Crane, quietly, entirely ignorinng

"It won't be poachin' if I have a bet,

"Poachers don't worry me," remarked Diablo's owner. "I'm my own game the saddle from Diablo's back the boy As it happened, Crane had just made keeper, and they usually get the worst blo'll shut up when he's pinched; his had thrown a hooded blanket over him, up his mind to make a plunge on of it. But you go ahead and have your

"Faust has had his lesson," thought me a pointer, though. I suppose the Yes, he had better make his bet be- writer will turn up for his reward; fore these whisperings came to other but the devil of it is he'll sell informa-Must weed him out when I discover the But the bookmaker mentioned? Imp. At any rate Faust will go prowling about among the stable lads? just re-enter that bet to the Little 'Three thousand seven hundred and fifty to fifty, Diablo for the Brooklyn, laid to before such actions became necessary. 'It's thirty to one now," replied the Miss Allis Porter.' " Then he dated backin' it. "She looses by this transaction, but that won't matter; it may be a he might as well have studied the in- was to have a bet on for her, a small In Collision Between Freight Trainsof the winnings. She was probably Freight trains numbers 8 and 12 on the Crane remained tantalizingly silent thinking of gloves. Jingo, she has a Western & Atlantic railroad collided for a full minute; evidently his lovely hand, I've noticed It; long slim at Ringold early to-day, and seven men houghts had drifted away to some fingers, even the palm is long; sinewy ther subject.

The accident was due to the overfesty, F. Landsberg, Saunders & Co., Dixi at the prayer meeting, and five looking of orders by the engineer of hand. Hey, Crane, you're silly!" he looking of orders by the engineer of looking orde thoughts had drifted away to some fingers, even the palm is long; sinewy that's had his hands on that saddle for break the trying quiet, "some one's cried, half audibly, taking himself to No. 8, who went to his death as did the Publishing Company. nibblin' at Diamo in the books. I won- task; "doing business in big moneys- engineer of No. 13. Both the firemen In a few remarks Trustee Jay ex- What the world needs is an der if it's Porter; did he think him a a cool seventy-five thousand if it and one man who was learning the pressed his appreciation of the work consecrated men and women materializes, perhaps even more-and road, Conductor Whithead, of No. 13, that had been accomplished by Mr. St. surely is man's "help-mate. "It can't be Poorter, nor any one then slipping off into a mooney dream, and a brakeman were killed. else who knows Diablo. It's some vaporing about a girl's slim hand. I The engines were demolished.

The slim hand had beckoned him off To the watchers it was as exciting other twenty pounds to-day. You've odds. I suppose, however, it doesn't tle; the financial soldiers that had fal- dition is dangerous.

moil of an awakened gentler feeling do."

Phillip Crane, the strong man of strong

Next he consulted his telephone men, to be shorn of his indifference to

"It's all very fine to argue it out liberal odds of seventy-five to one; for tremendous regard for the girl Allis. Jakey Faust feeling that he had made But why not put it from him; why not a mistake in backing the black, had conquer himself as he had always as a good woman should be loved, and No sooner had Faust congratulated —and—well, the gray eyes that had the vacancy without unnecessary loss and that no person be allowed to in himself upon having slipped out of their strength because of supreme of time. Other matters of importance struct more than two evenings a week fully worked on this outsider for the Brooklyn. In his new dilemma he went were almost like leopard's spots; they mitted from Superintendent Eaton in A verbal rep had grown into the woof of his exis-"They're backin' your horse again tence. Even if he won her it must be almost entirely because of a superior diplomacy. erything told him that his love was not returned. It seemed favor of the proposal. The new classes After the consideration of o impossible that it should be; there was will be placed in the hands of any of ness of minor importance the meeting not more disparity in their years than the teachers desiring to work at night. adjourned. in their two selves. "All very fine new cigar on Crane's part, so he lighted again," he muttered, somewhat necessity of some action being taken savagely; "I want her, I want her, not towards the prevention of the spread of she is, or what I am counts for noth- ance with his suggestion a resolution ing; love is all compelling; my first was passed asking the provincial aufive; now he's at twenty; I can't make master, I salute thee," this in sarcastic sincerity.

In his strength he relied upon his power to bring forth an answering love, at least regard should win Allis. Yes, it would surely come. He had not Faust started guiltily and looked even a young rival to combat. Yes, he would win, first Allis, and afterward her love.

"I'm quite silly." he ejaculated: "but I can't help it. But I can go out and get some fresh air, and I will." (To be continued.)

TEN PERSONS REPORTED

KILLED IN COLLISION

Ottawa, Sept. 12.-A report comes from Sudbury that a head-on collision laid over for consideration. took place west of that town between the Transcontinental train coming from Quebec, going West.

It is said that some ten persons are killed and several injured, but so far no reliable information can be obtained as appended:

PREPARING FOR EMERGENCY.

Warships Will Proceed to Cuban Waters to Protect American

Interests. Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.-President 3 oosevelt's policy of preparedness for any emergency in Cuba so far as the immediate operation of war vessels is concerned was announced at the state department to-day. It includes protected cruiser Denver and the gun-boat Marietta at Cienfuiges to-morrow. The cruiser Des Moines will remain United States government to make a demonstration in Cuban waters, but that the insurrection had attained such proportions that it had been necessary to take steps for the protection of Am erican interests in Cuba. The department believed that for the present the Denver will be sufficient for all needs along the northern coast of Cuba and the Marietta for the southern coast.

STATE AND CHURCH

Animated Discussion at Meeting of the French Cabinet.

Paris, Sept. 12.-There was an animated discussion in the course of the cabinet meeting held to-day relative to Gregg, Tresyhair Monro, Bert Bendrodt, the application of the separation law. Alfred Johnson, Lansdowne Palmer, Jack the application of the separation law. The result was that the ministers decided to enforce the enactment in its entirety with firmness, but at the time to pay the greatest degree of respect possible to the conscience of the people. No church will be closed before December, 1907. The government can issue a decree of closing only in cases where worship has not been exercised Victoria West; (girls) Gertrude Jackson, during a twelve month preceeding the enactment or where no worship association has been formed.

It was the general sentiment of the change in public feeling would occur They believe opposition will subside thus obviating the danger of a religi-

SEVEN MEN KILLED Engineer Overlooked Orders.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 12.-

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Three workmen were killed on Tuesinto a disjointed reverie. Was he bet- day by coming in contact with a barb- connection with the fall fair. After "Well, just lay it off. You can do so ter for it? What would the end be? ed wire fence that had been charged some debate it was decided that it Before the new emotion he could look with electricity from the plant of the would be impossible to prepare a disback upon his past struggles with a Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction play.

not given to uneasy qualms of com- A mesage from Berlin says that Al- referred to, was submitted. She an-"If you like-in your own book. I punction, nor questionings as to the brecht, Prince of Prussia, regent of the nounced that she had accepted a posi-Langdon's prognostication of cowar- pounds; that's what it comes to. Diablo don't want to have anything to do method that had led to victory. His Duchy of Brunswick, has had a stroke tion with the Western Canadian Immigot ninety to carry, an' he gave the with him, one way or the other. I life and been one long-drawn-out bat- of apoplexy and as a result his con- gration Association, with headquarters field (Essex) prison has taught

RESIGNATION OF MISS CAMERON ACCEPTED

At Regular Meeting of Trustees and Bye-Election Ordered--Important Business Transacted.

At the regular meeting of the board of school trustees held last evening Miss A. D. Cameron, a member of the board, tendered her resignation. It of charge and that the teachers taking was accepted and instructions given to the matter up should be permitted to prepare for another bye-election to fill charge $2 a month per pupil for tuition reference to the advisability of introducing night schools. Some discussion the arrangements that have been made followed and finally, upon motion, the for the school children to participate Trustee Hall drew attention to the because of anything but love. What tuberculosis in the schools. In accord- Rev. Dr. Campbell Gave an Interesting thorities to take up the matter of appointing medical examiners whose duty it would be to examine the pupils at regular intervals, not only with the idea of checking the possible spread of tuberculosis, but for the purpose of in- for his text Genesis ii., 18: "And the specting the hearing and sight of the Lord God said: It is not good that man children

> Miss H. A. Nason wrote tendering ner resignation, to take effect on the 30th of September. It was accepted with regret, members of the board put- nature. Man without woman is inco ting on record their best wishes for her future happiness.

Permission was asked by W. H. Binns use the manual training room to instruct the children of the Collegiate school, in charge of J. C. Barnacle, and those of Rev. W. W. Bolton's institution. Payment for the use of tools and the rooms, he pointed out, would be taken from the cost of tuition. It was

The finance committee was instructed to report upon the advisability of extending the manual training school work to the High school. Ian St. Clair presented a report in reference to swimming classes conducted by him during the summer months,

Sir:-I have the honor to report to you as follows:
I conducted a course of instruction in swimming from July 3rd to September

The attendance was larger than in former years, but more irregular. I am proud to state that not a single accident occurred, and, with the exception and women. of a difference with two parents who wished me to teach their children out of their class hours, I had no unpleasantness whatever. The graduating class was the largest I ever taught, and 54 pupils succeeded in conclusion without logic; and the m passing. I received the commendation of the the arrival at Havana to-night of the protected cruiser Denver and the gunmeeting in March, and was authorized to conduct a competition in British Columbia track; and if in business is almost for the society's badge, medal and certi-ficate in vellum. to be on the way to insolvency, world had always a good opini I hope to succeed in this at no distant The following boys acted as school captains in a praiseworthy manner Charles Thomas, South Park. Fred. Brown, Central. a. Beaumont Boggs, Victoria West. A. Heater, North Ward. The following pupils qualified for firstclass certificates: John Fletcher, Ray Jones, Frank Palmer, Clyde Rogers, Henry Pottinger, Fred. Beckwith, Diana Dunn, Fred. Brown, Jack Dowler, Jean Robinson, Ralph Rogers, Andrew Alex-ander, Erma Erskine, Meta Berryman, Ethelred McIlhenny, May Jennings, Evertt Taylor, Alex. MacDonald, Andrew Paterson, Chas. Brown, Kenneth Cunningham, Theresa Robinson, James McCahill, Victor Jenkins, Vladymir Langley, Hazel Morrison, Orvil Falconer, Douglas Trouis Frank Francet Lock Alice Fordert Lock Alice Francet Travis, Frank Fredette, Jack Allice, Jos. ihue, Albert Ross, John Fredette, Whittier, Eloise B. Sinclair, M. Griffin, William M. Cheeseman, John Nicholles. Robert Elworthy. James

Day, William A. Braden. Governor's Medalist-Head of the homes of a country depends school, Charles Thomas, South Park; (girls) Meta Berryman, North Ward. North Ward. Mayor's Medalist-Frederick Beckwith, the moral tone of society canno

Courtenay, Charles Catteral, William

Emergency Swimming-A. Godfrey, High members of the cabinet that a great change in public feeling would count girls under 12, Madge Griffin, North Ward. Diving—A. Beaumont Boggs, Victoria Waste of time and the evil of ga West; (girls) Elsie Sparrow, High school. by the thin edge of 500? Echo a Exhibition of Stroke-A. Boggs, Victoria West; (girls) Rhoda Mc-Garry, North Ward. Acknowledgment-Prizes for the tournament were received from His Honor Lieut.-Governor Dunsmuir, the Royal Humane Society (London, England). Premier McBride, Mayor Morley, Aldermen Lewis Hall, Vincent and Stewart, Rev. W. Leslie Clay, Messrs. F. B. Pemberton, Chas. Hayward, C. E. Redfern, Colonel Prior, Stephen Jones, Arthur Brenchley, W. Wilhout the influence of good without th Wenger, Challoner & Mitchell, R. A.

Clair. His views were endorsed by all like a strong tug nestling to th the trustees. J. E. Smart, secretary of the B. C. Agricultural Association, requested the board to appoint a committee to assist

Miss Cameron's resignation, already the gift and wish Mr. Bittan sble to give the required attention to her duties as trustee. It was accepted and W. W. Northcott was appointed returning officer, with instructions to bring on an election as soon as pos-

Accounts amounting to $936.70 were presented by the finance committee They were received and ordered paid. Attention was called to repairs required at the North Ward and Victoria West schools. Referred to the buildings and grounds committee.

It was reported that the banking system recently inaugurated in connec tion with the schools was being well patronized. At the present time there was a total deposit of $40, and, according to the committee in charge, there was every indication that it would grow rapidly.

Discussing the proposed inauguration of night schools Superintendent Eaton did not see why any or all of the teachers should not be permitted to arrange classes. He recommended that the use of the schools be granted free After the reading of the minutes and resulted in the resolution in favor of

A verbal report was submitted by Superintendent Eaton in reference After the consideration of other bus

WHAT IS WOMAN?

Lecture on This Subject Sunday Evening.

Rev. Dr. Campbell Sunday evening at First Presbyterian church gave a interesting lecture on woman, taking shold be alone: I will make an helpmeet for him.'

These words are the "Magna Charta" of woman's place in the economy of plete, and woman without man equally incomplete, but the two, li the hemispheres of a great hall. a complete whole. Woman was last work of creation, and is therefore not only the crown of glory for m but for all creation. Man in the ec omy of nature stands for strength head-power, and woman for gentler and heart-power, the queen of home. There can be a house without woman, but there cannot be a hom without her: for she alone can conv a house into a home. It is impossible o make man equal to woman, or man equal to man, for each in the per sphere is superior to the ot Woman is not man's equal in quarry or the smelter, and man is woman's equal in the home or si room. They are so unlike that you contrast, but not compare them. mannish woman, or an effeminate n is charactures. A woman aping to a man, or a man aping to be a woman are despised by all well-balanced men

In broad, deep-thinking a man is su truth, intuitively, without waiting logical argument, woman is superior who tries to get along without the vice of his wife; his "help-mate, ignores her advice, is on the wr world had always a good opinio woman, and in all nations she e dom has been a great man who was preceded by a wise and good wor generally his mother. In Shakesn plays there are no heroes, all are ines. There are only three bad and one weak woman in plays. The catastrophes are att to men, and the averting of the women. Few understood hur as England's greatest poet did. But home is woman's kingdon is her throne, and there she shines man ever amounted to much wh not embody in his character th qualities of his mother. Eng 'Grand Old Man' had a good m and a good wife, and he would what he was had it not been for Half of the presidents of the States were left fatherless at an age, and their care devolved upon mothers; and a large number o like Adraham Lincoln and Jame Brown, Fred. Milne, Flora Neate, Douglas Morley, Harry Stuart Yates, Wallace He was a far-seeing man who "The hand that rocks the cradle the world." The character of character of the women in these hom for the home may rise above the le of the men, but not above that of women. Women govern society, a higher than that of the women constitute society. Where is the of New Year's day of thirty years The women of Canada saw the it and it vanished. Who is intro waste of time and the evil of gan who? Woman has unlimited for good and also for evil. The irresistible thing in the world power of a good woman. You able to resist the power of > man, but it is next to impossit sist that of a godly woman. What would the Christian c you are almost sure to find th majority to be women. Twenty nen. Women are the salt of the a large vessel, keeping her along ing her in safe water and off the in arranging for a school exhibit in a side of venison by F. J. Bit The deer was killed on Salt Spring secured on an outing just mad bers of the staff of this paper on all future hunting expeditions

One of the convicts at the SI in Chicago, and therefore would be un- self shorthand in seven months' study Vol 37

Victoria Do sentative

Victoria's welcome lencies yesterday aft to the city. In the citizens did honor King and his worthy the person of Earl role of distinguished have filled the posi General in Canada more general esteem sent occupant of the is now a guest in outpost of the Domin just traversed from Grey has likewise wo Canadian people and the family have also at the capital and Dominion.

The welcome accor party yesterday was It was a hearty re sense of the term. manner in which T entered into the spi features connected them the more to great majority of v them by reputation The D. G. S. Quadra bor promptly on time

C. P. R. wharf at 4 steamer neared the warf. After the gang plan out a small represen on board to extend gr cluded His Honor ti and Mrs. Dunsmuir. ow representing the Major Andain, A. D. and the Lieut.-Gove H. J. S. Muskett. Landing from the the wharf to Bellevil canopy on the gangu body of the recepti Excellency and the him. The timely pro of Hon. Wm. Tem Inland Revenue, resentative of the Fe being among those Grey on the Pacific also present to recei Senator Macdonale Riley, Hon. R. F. Fulton, Col. Holm Supt. Elliston, Capt. Shearwater, Mr. Jus Supreme court bench bishop Orth, His Lo rin, Col. Prior, Lieu Muspratt Williams

After greetings ha the party moved alo was drawn up. Thi men drawn from th A., and a detachme Collegiate school latter party was ac of honor by special done in consequence est which Earl Grey subject of cadet cor honor was under the Angus, Lieut. Dun Booth. The cadet con ed from the drill ha body taking its comi Angus was under the mand of its own offic son, and Lieuts. Dav Forming up on the guard the little fel very smart appearan His Excellency was guard with presented lery according to regi without fixed bayone contrast on the left who coming under inf presented arms with His Excellency dur took one of the rifles The arm which is issu Martini-Henry, and he tested its weight rifles were altogether omplemented the soldierly bearing, and upon the smart ap uard of honor furni Regiment.

The inspection ove turned to the drill ha bers of the Fifth Regi the causeway, where cellencies were driver lined the way. The vice-regal part the steps of the parl between the lines of rayed in white and of flowers. Alighting steps Their Excellenc by His Worship, who the landing at the top The reception comm council, Alds. Yates, ere also there to and after presentation