Olympic Pala Garden rastaurant, attempted to leave the city last hight by the Battle line steamer Furtria.

Wishing to travel as cheaply as possible Mr. Walker did not consult the captain of the vessel, but found quarters for himself in the forward part of the ship. He was discovered and conducted ashoge by the mate, who telephoned for a police officer. The finate did not with fo give him in charge. As it was learned that a sheriff had been looking for Mr. Walker it was not thought advisable to allow him to leave the country. F. E. Williams, who is the restaurant keeper's largest creditor, was notified of the occidrance. Accompanied by his lawyer Mr. Williams appeared on the scene, and accused Walker of attempting to skip the country to avoid payment of his debts. Walker denied this, and explained his plans. He said Mr. Williams had encouraged him to start in huginess for himself and had been supplying him with provisions ever since the started. Lately, owing to the fact that he found it impossible to secure the necessary help to wait on his customers his business had fallen off to such an extent that he was unable to pay his bills with the usual promptness. He said that he thought it necessary to take some drastic measures to secure the neceded cash.

an English Clergyman

LONDON, Aug. 17.-The Rev. S. B. James, who recently accepted a call to the pastorate of Trinity Congregational church at Walthamstow, was formerly a cowboy and he regards his rough experience as the most valuable part of his training for the ministry.

"I would not exchange my life among the Canadian cowboys for the in the world," he said yesterday. "I attribute the success of my pleasant Sunday afternoon service at Teignmouth, before I came to Walthamentirely to my cowboy training.

The men who did not care for church used to flock to those afternoons, and they used to say to me, 'I guess you know what it is to have hard time.'

guess I do. I have slept out many a Fine Scotch Terrier Met His Fate in "Clergymen who live in fine houses may be good men, with the best of in-tentions, but their words will not carry weight because they cannot quite enter into the spirit of the poor.

"I was brought up to be a minister, but as I was in doubt about certain but as I was in doubt about certain

A good deal of trouble with poachers is anticipated, on account of the plentifulness of the fish, and the prevailing high prices. Already a couple of poachers have been captured and fined, and more summonses are to be issued. A steamer will also be placed in the conditions. waters to protect against the poachers.

DOG POISONER

King Square Last Night

The dog poisoner has begun his deadly work again this year. The first victim reported was a fine Scotch terrier, whose death agonies as he writh-ed in King Square last evening at-tracted a large crowd of commiserating spectators. The animal had been munching at a bone, which it is believed it picked up in the square, but soon dropped it, and rolled over on the struggling philips of the square. grass, struggling pitifully for nearly an hour before his sufferings were over. The symptoms were diagnosed by over. The symptoms were diagnosed by several officers of the law as those caused by strychnine which was the poison employed with such devastating effect upon the canine tribe here last year. It is not known by the police who owned the terrier, now deceased. The bone was taken possession of by officer Ross, and it will probably be hemically examined.

Quality of Circulation.

is an important consideration for the advertiser. So important that one paper can get as much price as another with double the circulation. Some papers force their circulation with premiums in sections where the people are very little interested from a news standpoint and simply subscribe to get the premium, in many cases refusing to make future payments. The percentage of that class of subscribers who will read your advertising is not so great, and their purchasing power is small.

The circulation of the STAR is a natural circulation. People buy it on its merits and read it. It is circulated mostly in the homes of the best buying class of people in the city.

When you think of it—the largest circulation in the radius you derive your business from and the best class-don't you think you should spend the larger portion of your appropriation with us?
