

Men's Distinguished Clothing.

If you are a particular dresser this store deserves your patronage. The Clothing Stock of ours will meet your requirements.

If it is style, we have it.

If it is fine work, we have it.

If it is a certain fabric, we have it—

And All at Reasonable Prices.

UNION CLOTHING CO.,

23 and 28 Charlotte Street.

Opp. City Market.

ALEX CORBET Mgr.

Classified Ads.

ONE CENT PER WORD per issue is all it costs to insert advertisements like these appearing below in the lively columns of THE SUN or STAR. This ensures them being read in 6,500 St. John homes every evening, and by nearly 8,000 people during the day. SUN and Star Classified ads. are veritable little busybodies.

6 insertions for the price of 4; Minimum charge 25

ROOMS AND BOARDING

TO LET—A large sunny furnished room, also adjoining room if wanted. (ask open fire place, suitable for one or two gentlemen. Central. Box 523, Star Office.

ROOMS AND BOARD—Good accommodation can be had at the Prince Royal Hotel, Street railway at the door, two minutes from ferry boat, 113 Prince Street.

TO LET—Comfortable furnished rooms, 99 Elliott Row. 3-5 mo. 1-4-11.

ROOMS AND BOARD—Apply 143 Union St. 1-4-11.

TO LET—Two furnished rooms, heated. Apply 18 Peter Street. 3-4-11.

BOARDERS WANTED—Gentlemen can be accommodated at 10 and 12 Charles Street. 1-4-11.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO LET—At Rideau Hall corner of Union and Prince William Sts. 19-5-11.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDING—MRS. SHANKS, 12 CHURCH STREET. Apply Mrs. SHANKS. 19-4-11.

FURNISHED ROOM AT 173 Charlotte Street. Apply Mrs. ANDERSON. 19-4-11.

TO LET

TO LET—Furnished room, centrally located. Apply to MRS. ANNIE MELICK, 151 Charlotte Street. 21-4-11.

TO LET—A new and up-to-date store at 689 Main Street. Size 21 by 65. Apply 489 Main Street. 17-4-11.

TO LET—Small tenement, 116 Duke Street. 19-4-11.

TO LET—Desk room in office near Post Office. Address Box 152 Star Office. 19-4-11.

TO LET—Newly remodeled flat, 151 Charlotte St., Cor. Queen Square. Seven rooms and bath, (large bedrooms), modern and new plumbing. 19-4-11.

TO LET—Large unfurnished Rooms on Wellington Row, Furnace Heated and Gas Lighted, Very Desirable. Apply Star Office. 19-4-11.

TO LET—Up-to-date flat in new house No. 162 St. James Street (now occupied by H. Strothgar, Esq.) Can be seen any time. Enquire of Bustin and French, barristers, 119 Prince William St. 4-9-11.

TO LET—3 large well lighted rooms in McLean Building, Union Street, opposite Opera House. 2 rooms 22x28, one room 16x23, modern conveniences on same flat. Parties wishing to lease can have rooms fitted to suit their requirements as building is now undergoing repairs, which will be completed Oct. 1st, 1908. For further information apply to H. A. ALLISON, 16 North Wharf, City. Tel. 361. 21-4-11.

SITUATIONS VACANT—FEMALE
GIRL WANTED at once to do attending and replying. Apply "The Co-operative," 128 Charlotte St. 19-4-11.

WANTED

WANTED—Small house or flat, furnished, heated. Family of two. Address, Box 534, Star Office. 21-4-11.

WANTED—By experienced collector accounts to collect. References furnished. Apply Box 532, Star Office. 21-4-11.

YOUNG MECHANIC wants employment, handy at anything. Box 531 Star Office. 21-4-11.

WANTED—By a young lady, comfortable room with board, in central locality. Private family preferred. Address Box 530, Star Office. 19-4-11.

WANTED—PERSONS TO GROW MUSHROOMS for us during the winter and fall months. Waste space in cellar or outhouse can be made yield from $15 to $25 per week. See free illustrated booklet, THE MONTREAL SUPPLY CO., Montreal. 19-4-11.

WANTED TO PURCHASE—Gentlemen's cast-off clothing, footwear, furs, jewelry, diamonds, musical instruments, fire arms, tools, etc. Call or send postal. H. GILBERT, 24 Mill St., City. 19-4-11.

WANTED: SMALL OFFICE SAFE
Quote lowest price and state make, condition and inside and outside measurement. Box 516, City. 19-4-11.

BUSINESS CARDS

TRY GRANT'S EMPLOYMENT AGENCY, 72 St. James Street, West St. John.

EYES TESTED FREE—Difficult repairing solicited. C. STEWART PATTERSON, 55 Brussels St. 19-4-11.

NOW LANDING—All sizes Scotch Anthracite Coal, delivered promptly. Prices right. Telephone 42. JAMES S. McGIVERN, Agent, 5 Mill Street. 19-4-11.

EXHIBITION SIGNS—Now is the time to order your signs for your home at the Exhibition. All kinds and styles; this is my specialty. Satisfaction guaranteed. Lowest cash prices. F. W. EDLESTON, 33 Sydney St.; House 10 daymarket Square. Telephone 161. 19-4-11.

D. FITZGERALD, 25 Dock Street, Boots, Shoes and Rubbers repaired. Also a full line of Men's Boots and Shoes at reasonable prices. Rubber Heels attached 35c. 1-1-11.

W. V. HATFIELD, Mason, Plasterer, Builder, Stone work in all its branches. 144 Union St. Estimates furnished. Only union men employed. Telephone 161. 19-4-11.

S. A. WILLIAMS, CARPENTER and CONTRACTOR, office 109 Prince William Street. Telephone, 281. All kinds of work promptly attended to. 19-4-11.

J. D. McAVITY, dealer in hard and soft coals. Delivery promptly in the city, 33 Brussels Street. 19-4-11.

WM. L. WILLIAMS, successor to M. A. Wain, Wholesale and Retail Wine and Spirit Merchant, 119 and 121 Prince William St. Established 1870. Write for family price list. 19-4-11.

F. C. WESLEY Co., Artists, Engravers and Electrotypers, 29 Water Street. St. John, N. B. Telephone 982. 19-4-11.

E. LAW, Watchmaker, 1 Coburg St. 19-4-11.

DOMESTICS WANTED

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Two in family. MRS. E. R. JEWELL, 162 Charlotte St. 21-4-11.

WANTED—Girl for general housework, one to sleep at home preferred; family 3, no washing or ironing. Apply 19 Queen Street, left hall, 21-4-11.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply MRS. A. J. RUSSELL, 42 Waterloo Street. 21-4-11.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Apply 41 Douglas Avenue. 21-4-11.

WANTED—Immediately, capable housemaid. To sleep home nights. References required. Apply 199 Germain Street. 19-4-11.

WANTED—At the Clifton House, a table girl. 19-4-11.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. To sleep home at nights. Apply to MISS HUNTER, 34 Sydney Street, from 6 to 8 p. m. 19-4-11.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Family of three, 134 Waterloo Street. 19-4-11.

WANTED—A competent girl for general housework in a family of three. Good wages. MRS. JOHN SEALY, 109 Leinster Street. 19-4-11.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. References. MRS. D. McKENDRICK, 41 Padwick Street. 19-4-11.

WANTED—A housemaid. Apply to MRS. CHARLES WELDON, No. 1 Chipman Hill. 19-4-11.

WANTED—A competent girl for general housework in a family of three. Good wages. MRS. JOHN SEALY, 109 Leinster Street. 19-4-11.

WANTED—At 51 Coburg Street, competent housemaid. Wages $12 a month. Apply at once. 19-4-11.

GIRL WANTED—For general housework. Good wages paid. Apply to MRS. McGIVERN, 22 Wellington Row. 19-4-11.

WANTED—At once, experienced dining room girl; also chambermaid. Apply, LANDDOWN HOUSE, 49 King Square. 19-4-11.

WANTED—General girl, family of three. Apply, MRS. VERNER McLELLAN, 159 King Street East. 19-4-11.

WANTED—A competent girl for general work. Apply to MRS. F. R. DEARBORN, 200 Princess Street. 19-4-11.

WANTED—A kitchen girl. Apply 119 E. Ward Hotel. 19-4-11.

CRUSADE AGAINST THE "GREAT WHITE PLAGUE"

International Congress Will Discuss Means of Eradicating Consumption—A Tuberculosis Exposition

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—For the next three weeks the national capital will be the scene of such a crusade, perhaps, as never has been witnessed against humanity's worst common foe—the white plague. It will be an educational campaign, world-wide in its scope, the ultimate object of which is to eradicate, if possible, from the ends of the earth, a disease which, statisticians declare, cuts short the lives of from one-tenth to one-eighth of the civilized population. Such distinguished foreigners as Doctors Robert Koch, of Berlin; Bang, of Copenhagen; A. Calmette, of Lille; N. Theodorow, of Leyden; R. W. Phillips, of Edinburgh; C. Von Pinkus, of Vienna; G. Sims Woodhead, of Cambridge; Lydia Rabinowitch, of Berlin; Camillo Cajeles, of Spain; T. Ishigami, of Japan, and noted American physicians and scientists and others who are devoted their lives in an effort to solve this problem, will actively participate.

The campaign will be carried on by the coming international congress on tuberculosis during its sixth annual session, which will meet in the United States for the first time at the new national museum in this city.

The initial step will be taken tomorrow night, when there will be a jubilee opening at the new national museum in connection with the congress of a tuberculosis exposition. It will be one of the largest, most important and in every way the most comprehensive exhibit ever assembled and it will be illustrative of what is being done through the world in the fight against tuberculosis.

They are few but active.

"Their sole object is notoriety, a thing that no lady ever seeks, but rather, shrinks from. Women of this stamp are few in New York, but, alas! they are so apallingly active. They have done untold harm to the good name of American society in the minds of foreigners."

"When a distinguished man arrives from the other side, he is treated upon a pedestal, and he is treated with much the same spirit that we would have as spectators of an Indian war dance. He is treated with the same spirit that we would have as spectators of an Indian war dance. He is treated with the same spirit that we would have as spectators of an Indian war dance."

"The best women in New York society, those of the greatest influence, and those who give it, its true tone, are almost unknown outside of their own circle. Society newspapers, notoriety is interesting to them as it is to me, as a study, a very amusing one, her priest often. Mr. McCallister writes: 'The latest thing in social entertainment is a dinner, followed by a variety performance. This is a matter of vast importance. It is, I say, one of the most significant indications of the tendency of American society. It shows how steadily our society is advancing in the extravagance of its expenditures and what a craving there is for a variety. Variety has now been secured by a variety entertainment.'

"The simplicity and modern outlay of American society used to be its distinguishing features and very agreeable ones. I think, however, it should be remembered that every departure of this kind adds to the expensiveness of the thing. It is a matter of vast hands of the multi-millionaires. We may expect in time, perhaps, to hear of dancing by the clearest dancers, and boxing by the skillful pugilists, so that all tastes may be gratified. If society desires to be amused rather than to dine, it will have its wishes gratified in this way."

"Mr. Astor speaks of entertaining men more fitting to a circus than to a gentleman's home. James P. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, gave a ball there last winter for the coming out of his daughter, Miss Mary Astor. Paul, James W. Paul, Jr., married Miss Mary Astor. Paul's nephew, who married Miss Astor, was a member of the New York '400' were guests, is now performing as a circus than to a gentleman's home."

"The great ballroom, a public hall, where thousands of butterflies were liberated. The gaudy but fragile creature fluttered and swayed and quivered in the flower-laden air and the heat killed them, and then the slippers of the fair dancers crunched them. An enthusiastic collector of butterflies would have been less cruel; he would have chloroformed the butterflies and tenderly preserved their puny bodies."

"Many people seem to think I could have done a great deal in making New York society as democratic as it is in London and open to any one of intellectual attainments, as it is over there. But one can do only one's best under the conditions. English people all recognize a certain authority in social matters. The king is the leader of society, and the hostesses who gather about them such brilliant men and women can be as independent as they wish to be without assuming the responsibility of an onslaught upon their own domains. The king's authority is never questioned and the authority of the great old families is never questioned."

"We have to be more exclusive in New York because in America there is no authority in society, and Americans in general are not inclined to admit its possibility. Each woman is for herself and trying to outdo the others in lavish display and mad extravagance, with little thought of any ultimate good or any ill."

"I can speak with authority about our young people. I have always kept them out of the process, because, counts a new age and often have ideas different from my own, old conservative. It is perhaps true that they are frequently go to excess in amusement, but they are not degenerate and they are not vicious."

"Our young women are easily trained in domestic matters, and taught to appreciate their responsibility towards the poor. There are no such barriers in Washington like him."

"The best women in New York society, those of the greatest influence, and those who give it, its true tone, are almost unknown outside of their own circle. Society newspapers, notoriety is interesting to them as it is to me, as a study, a very amusing one, her priest often. Mr. McCallister writes: 'The latest thing in social entertainment is a dinner, followed by a variety performance. This is a matter of vast importance. It is, I say, one of the most significant indications of the tendency of American society. It shows how steadily our society is advancing in the extravagance of its expenditures and what a craving there is for a variety. Variety has now been secured by a variety entertainment.'

"The simplicity and modern outlay of American society used to be its distinguishing features and very agreeable ones. I think, however, it should be remembered that every departure of this kind adds to the expensiveness of the thing. It is a matter of vast hands of the multi-millionaires. We may expect in time, perhaps, to hear of dancing by the clearest dancers, and boxing by the skillful pugilists, so that all tastes may be gratified. If society desires to be amused rather than to dine, it will have its wishes gratified in this way."

"Mr. Astor speaks of entertaining men more fitting to a circus than to a gentleman's home. James P. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, gave a ball there last winter for the coming out of his daughter, Miss Mary Astor. Paul, James W. Paul, Jr., married Miss Mary Astor. Paul's nephew, who married Miss Astor, was a member of the New York '400' were guests, is now performing as a circus than to a gentleman's home."

"The great ballroom, a public hall, where thousands of butterflies were liberated. The gaudy but fragile creature fluttered and swayed and quivered in the flower-laden air and the heat killed them, and then the slippers of the fair dancers crunched them. An enthusiastic collector of butterflies would have been less cruel; he would have chloroformed the butterflies and tenderly preserved their puny bodies."

"Many people seem to think I could have done a great deal in making New York society as democratic as it is in London and open to any one of intellectual attainments, as it is over there. But one can do only one's best under the conditions. English people all recognize a certain authority in social matters. The king is the leader of society, and the hostesses who gather about them such brilliant men and women can be as independent as they wish to be without assuming the responsibility of an onslaught upon their own domains. The king's authority is never questioned and the authority of the great old families is never questioned."

"We have to be more exclusive in New York because in America there is no authority in society, and Americans in general are not inclined to admit its possibility. Each woman is for herself and trying to outdo the others in lavish display and mad extravagance, with little thought of any ultimate good or any ill."

"I can speak with authority about our young people. I have always kept them out of the process, because, counts a new age and often have ideas different from my own, old conservative. It is perhaps true that they are frequently go to excess in amusement, but they are not degenerate and they are not vicious."

"Our young women are easily trained in domestic matters, and taught to appreciate their responsibility towards the poor. There are no such barriers in Washington like him."

"The best women in New York society, those of the greatest influence, and those who give it, its true tone, are almost unknown outside of their own circle. Society newspapers, notoriety is interesting to them as it is to me, as a study, a very amusing one, her priest often. Mr. McCallister writes: 'The latest thing in social entertainment is a dinner, followed by a variety performance. This is a matter of vast importance. It is, I say, one of the most significant indications of the tendency of American society. It shows how steadily our society is advancing in the extravagance of its expenditures and what a craving there is for a variety. Variety has now been secured by a variety entertainment.'

"The simplicity and modern outlay of American society used to be its distinguishing features and very agreeable ones. I think, however, it should be remembered that every departure of this kind adds to the expensiveness of the thing. It is a matter of vast hands of the multi-millionaires. We may expect in time, perhaps, to hear of dancing by the clearest dancers, and boxing by the skillful pugilists, so that all tastes may be gratified. If society desires to be amused rather than to dine, it will have its wishes gratified in this way."

"Mr. Astor speaks of entertaining men more fitting to a circus than to a gentleman's home. James P. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, gave a ball there last winter for the coming out of his daughter, Miss Mary Astor. Paul, James W. Paul, Jr., married Miss Mary Astor. Paul's nephew, who married Miss Astor, was a member of the New York '400' were guests, is now performing as a circus than to a gentleman's home."

"The great ballroom, a public hall, where thousands of butterflies were liberated. The gaudy but fragile creature fluttered and swayed and quivered in the flower-laden air and the heat killed them, and then the slippers of the fair dancers crunched them. An enthusiastic collector of butterflies would have been less cruel; he would have chloroformed the butterflies and tenderly preserved their puny bodies."

"Many people seem to think I could have done a great deal in making New York society as democratic as it is in London and open to any one of intellectual attainments, as it is over there. But one can do only one's best under the conditions. English people all recognize a certain authority in social matters. The king is the leader of society, and the hostesses who gather about them such brilliant men and women can be as independent as they wish to be without assuming the responsibility of an onslaught upon their own domains. The king's authority is never questioned and the authority of the great old families is never questioned."

"We have to be more exclusive in New York because in America there is no authority in society, and Americans in general are not inclined to admit its possibility. Each woman is for herself and trying to outdo the others in lavish display and mad extravagance, with little thought of any ultimate good or any ill."

"I can speak with authority about our young people. I have always kept them out of the process, because, counts a new age and often have ideas different from my own, old conservative. It is perhaps true that they are frequently go to excess in amusement, but they are not degenerate and they are not vicious."

"Our young women are easily trained in domestic matters, and taught to appreciate their responsibility towards the poor. There are no such barriers in Washington like him."

"The best women in New York society, those of the greatest influence, and those who give it, its true tone, are almost unknown outside of their own circle. Society newspapers, notoriety is interesting to them as it is to me, as a study, a very amusing one, her priest often. Mr. McCallister writes: 'The latest thing in social entertainment is a dinner, followed by a variety performance. This is a matter of vast importance. It is, I say, one of the most significant indications of the tendency of American society. It shows how steadily our society is advancing in the extravagance of its expenditures and what a craving there is for a variety. Variety has now been secured by a variety entertainment.'

"The simplicity and modern outlay of American society used to be its distinguishing features and very agreeable ones. I think, however, it should be remembered that every departure of this kind adds to the expensiveness of the thing. It is a matter of vast hands of the multi-millionaires. We may expect in time, perhaps, to hear of dancing by the clearest dancers, and boxing by the skillful pugilists, so that all tastes may be gratified. If society desires to be amused rather than to dine, it will have its wishes gratified in this way."

"Mr. Astor speaks of entertaining men more fitting to a circus than to a gentleman's home. James P. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, gave a ball there last winter for the coming out of his daughter, Miss Mary Astor. Paul, James W. Paul, Jr., married Miss Mary Astor. Paul's nephew, who married Miss Astor, was a member of the New York '400' were guests, is now performing as a circus than to a gentleman's home."

"The great ballroom, a public hall, where thousands of butterflies were liberated. The gaudy but fragile creature fluttered and swayed and quivered in the flower-laden air and the heat killed them, and then the slippers of the fair dancers crunched them. An enthusiastic collector of butterflies would have been less cruel; he would have chloroformed the butterflies and tenderly preserved their puny bodies."

"Many people seem to think I could have done a great deal in making New York society as democratic as it is in London and open to any one of intellectual attainments, as it is over there. But one can do only one's best under the conditions. English people all recognize a certain authority in social matters. The king is the leader of society, and the hostesses who gather about them such brilliant men and women can be as independent as they wish to be without assuming the responsibility of an onslaught upon their own domains. The king's authority is never questioned and the authority of the great old families is never questioned."

"We have to be more exclusive in New York because in America there is no authority in society, and Americans in general are not inclined to admit its possibility. Each woman is for herself and trying to outdo the others in lavish display and mad extravagance, with little thought of any ultimate good or any ill."

"I can speak with authority about our young people. I have always kept them out of the process, because, counts a new age and often have ideas different from my own, old conservative. It is perhaps true that they are frequently go to excess in amusement, but they are not degenerate and they are not vicious."

"Our young women are easily trained in domestic matters, and taught to appreciate their responsibility towards the poor. There are no such barriers in Washington like him."

"The best women in New York society, those of the greatest influence, and those who give it, its true tone, are almost unknown outside of their own circle. Society newspapers, notoriety is interesting to them as it is to me, as a study, a very amusing one, her priest often. Mr. McCallister writes: 'The latest thing in social entertainment is a dinner, followed by a variety performance. This is a matter of vast importance. It is, I say, one of the most significant indications of the tendency of American society. It shows how steadily our society is advancing in the extravagance of its expenditures and what a craving there is for a variety. Variety has now been secured by a variety entertainment.'

"The simplicity and modern outlay of American society used to be its distinguishing features and very agreeable ones. I think, however, it should be remembered that every departure of this kind adds to the expensiveness of the thing. It is a matter of vast hands of the multi-millionaires. We may expect in time, perhaps, to hear of dancing by the clearest dancers, and boxing by the skillful pugilists, so that all tastes may be gratified. If society desires to be amused rather than to dine, it will have its wishes gratified in this way."

TOO MUCH CIRCUS IN NEW YORK SOCIETY DECLARES MRS. ASTOR

Noted Leader of Fashionable Life Declares Notoriety Seekers Have Hurt Its Good Name—Compares Conditions With Those in Europe.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Astor, who was for years the leader of New York society, has declared that the "circus" in New York society has hurt its good name. She has declared that the "circus" in New York society has hurt its good name. She has declared that the "circus" in New York society has hurt its good name.

When our girls marry, they take up the management of establishments in town and country, they rear large families of children, and personally supervise their education at home during the critical early years. They are in love with their husbands and devoted to their interests."

"Yes, I have heard that our young women smoke and drink, and go to terrible things. I know of no such thing. I am quite sure there is not one in my circle who is a cigarette fiend or who drinks to excess."

"Although I have been in Europe a great deal I have always returned to my country with renewed interest in it. I believe in a republic, and I believe in a republic in which money has a good deal to say, as in ours. Money represents, with us, energy and character; it is acquired by brains and untiring energy; it is kept intact only by the same means."

"It was well if Europe were imbued more with the American class of money power—I do not say dollars—that is another thing. But American ideas about developing the national resources of the country and their common sense notions about work bring about great things in Europe. Best of all, there is the American idea, demonstrated about us every day, that each man can bring happiness to himself and to those he loves if he will only set about it and that education, books, pictures travel are all within his reach."

RECALLS McALLISTER'S PROPHESY.

Mrs. Astor's criticisms are even more interesting in the light of a prophecy made 15 years ago by Ward McAllister, a man of good taste and high character. Mr. McAllister writes: "The latest thing in social entertainment is a dinner, followed by a variety performance. This is a matter of vast importance. It is, I say, one of the most significant indications of the tendency of American society. It shows how steadily our society is advancing in the extravagance of its expenditures and what a craving there is for a variety. Variety has now been secured by a variety entertainment."

"The simplicity and modern outlay of American society used to be its distinguishing features and very agreeable ones. I think, however, it should be remembered that every departure of this kind adds to the expensiveness of the thing. It is a matter of vast hands of the multi-millionaires. We may expect in time, perhaps, to hear of dancing by the clearest dancers, and boxing by the skillful pugilists, so that all tastes may be gratified. If society desires to be amused rather than to dine, it will have its wishes gratified in this way."

"Mr. Astor speaks of entertaining men more fitting to a circus than to a gentleman's home. James P. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, gave a ball there last winter for the coming out of his daughter, Miss Mary Astor. Paul, James W. Paul, Jr., married Miss Mary Astor. Paul's nephew, who married Miss Astor, was a member of the New York '400' were guests, is now performing as a circus than to a gentleman's home."

"The great ballroom, a public hall, where thousands of butterflies were liberated. The gaudy but fragile creature fluttered and swayed and quivered in the flower-laden air and the heat killed them, and then the slippers of the fair dancers crunched them. An enthusiastic collector of butterflies would have been less cruel; he would have chloroformed the butterflies and tenderly preserved their puny bodies."

"Many people seem to think I could have done a great deal in making New York society as democratic as it is in London and open to any one of intellectual attainments, as it is over there. But one can do only one's best under the conditions. English people all recognize a certain authority in social matters. The king is the leader of society, and the hostesses who gather about them such brilliant men and women can be as independent as they wish to be without assuming the responsibility of an onslaught upon their own domains. The king's authority is never questioned and the authority of the great old families is never questioned."

"We have to be more exclusive in New York because in America there is no authority in society, and Americans in general are not inclined to admit its possibility. Each woman is for herself and trying to outdo the others in lavish display and mad extravagance, with little thought of any ultimate good or any ill."

"I can speak with authority about our young people. I have always kept them out of the process, because, counts a new age and often have ideas different from my own, old conservative. It is perhaps true that they are frequently go to excess in amusement, but they are not degenerate and they are not vicious."

"Our young women are easily trained in domestic matters, and taught to appreciate their responsibility towards the poor. There are no such barriers in Washington