Lady Workers For The Free Kindergarten Will Be Out In Force—Aiming At $2,000—Committees And Collectors.

Today the unwary man will be beset by fair ladies to purchase a little red tag in the interests of the free kindergarten. All the plans are completed and it is hoped to raise something like $2,000. One lady will have charge of the clock and the Bank of New Brunswick will be open until 6 o'clock in the evening in order to receive deposits. Continued from page 1. "A few days later, in substance, I told Mr. Aids I had seen my brother; he would be in Albany on a certain night in my apartment, my brother was there. They had a conversation.

Extra Money. "Mr. Aids said to my brother: 'This bridge bill is one of the good things in this session. We follow up here have to have some extra money for our expenses.' "My brother said: 'I don't want this bill to pass; it will hurt the business badly. I have just become interested as vice-president of the new bridge company, the American Bridge Co., and I must make good.'

"Mr. Aids said: 'The rules committee has got to have $5,000, if that bill does not pass, I can't stand for that amount. They ought to be satisfied with a thousand dollars.' "There was other discussion. Mr. Aids finally said: 'I don't know how the others would think, but I will do what I can to keep that bill in for a thousand bills.'

"My brother said: 'If that bill dies in committee, or is not pressed for passage I will see that you have a thousand dollars.' "Later Mr. Aids said to me with some profanity: 'Don't forget to get your man up here before the end of the session and don't mix up mine with anybody else's.' "Senator Conger then told how he met Moe here on April 23.

"Mr. Moe and myself had breakfast in my apartments, he said. 'He had with him, when he came there, in a satchel, $6,500 in cash. After we had breakfast, we went back up into my apartment and there Mr. Moe took the money out of the satchel and counted it out and placed it in piles; four thousand in one, one thousand in another and one thousand in another. He then placed them in separate envelopes and wrote the names on each envelope. I directed him what to put on. He then placed the envelopes in his satchel pockets and together we came to the assembly chamber.

The $4,000 One. "As we passed along, in towards the corridor, we met a gentleman, whom I introduced to Mr. Moe as a man representing my brother. Mr. Moe stepped to one side and gave him the envelope which contained four thousand dollars.

"When we passed into the assembly chamber, remained there a few minutes and came out, passed down the steps and turned to the left. I recognized a gentleman coming towards me as Mr. Aids. I said to Moe: 'There is Mr. Aids.' We passed rapidly toward him and met him and I introduced Mr. Moe to Mr. Aids. Mr. Aids said to me: 'This man represented my brother. Mr. Moe, Mr. Aids and myself turned about and passed around towards the assembly parlor, or, as the committee room. Mr. Moe being close by our side—a little in the rear, as I recall it.

"We went to a room, adjoining the committee room. The door was open and Mr. Aids and Mr. Moe passed just inside the door. I remained just outside the door. Mr. Moe took one of the envelopes from his pocket and handed it to Mr. Aids and said: 'Mr. Frank Conger wished me to hand you this.' Mr. Aids turned about and was placing it in his pocket as he saw me. Passing by me, he said: 'Guess it's all right, Conger; it feels good.'

Close Of First Week Of Evening Services Sees Churches Thronged With People—Evangelists Much Encouraged By Results—Women Serve With Chorus In Centenary This Evening—Mass Meetings For Men And Women On Sunday Afternoon—Striking Addresses Delivered To Large Congregations

The first week of night meetings in the simultaneous evangelizing campaign was brought to an end last evening. Since Monday the meetings have been held in seven churches and in the Saturday night meetings in most cases the attendance has been very large. It is at present too early to say how much good has been accomplished. The meetings will be continued next week with even greater enthusiasm and it is believed many more souls will come to Christ.

Main street church last night was packed to the doors to hear Rev. A. J. Smith, every seat being occupied in the Sunday school and the auditorium. Dr. Smith is a very forceful speaker and drives every word home to the hearts of the hearers, arousing those who have become indifferent and bringing conviction to the unconvinced.

When Martha was told that her brother Lazarus was dead, she said: "Lord, if Thou hadst been here, my brother would not have died." This is the spirit in which we should live.

Brussels street church was crowded to the doors last night. The audience listened to Mr. W. A. Cameron with rare interest. He spoke on "The Uniqueness of Jesus." The address would satisfy a theologian for thoughtfulness, but it was expressed in a simple and direct manner.

Living on the Borderland. Again Pharaoh said to Moses, "If you do leave Egypt stay on the borderland." Many Christians today were in the church but not in the world.

Centenary Group. An Appeal by Rev. C. A. Sykes, for Courage and Faith that Dare Be Righteous Against Opposition—The Mission of Evangelists.

Carleton Group. "Where Art Thou?"—Rev. M. S. Rees Applies the Question to the Different Phases of Life—An Eloquent Appeal to Embrace Christianity.

Fourth, where art thou in personal development? Have you progressed in righteousness, in prayer, in testimony and in Christian living? You must develop or die. Be out and out for Jesus.

Evangelist William Matheson, assisted by Rev. F. A. Robinson, held another successful meeting at the Salvation Army Citadel. The following extracts give the trend of Mr. Matheson's address:

Man needs a new heart. Houses, churches and about everything else can be repaired. Heaven does not waste time on old bottles.

Mr. Crockett contended that not one of his statements had been refuted. He also dwelt on the fact that Mr. Geoffrey Stead, the resident engineer, had not appointed the foreman, Mr. Osman had nominated him.

Mr. Haggart was severe on the irregularity involved in the payment of the company. Mr. Pugsley retorted that the Crown owned the wharf, having merely agreed not to charge tolls on the vessels of that company.

Evening Session. In the evening the Richibucto harbor came up, the items being $5,000 for the breakwater wharf at Richibucto Cape, $5,000 for the re-construction of approach and head block of Richibucto Wharf, and $9,000 for piers and north and south sides of the breakwater in Richibucto harbor.

Mr. Crockett asked if Thomas O. Murray would be employed in the work. This man had been guilty of criminal conduct, he had charged the government $12 for lumber for which he had paid $7. Mr. Pugsley declined to believe that Murray was guilty, not having read the evidence before the committee of public accounts and having heard an explanation that the cost of the lumber had averaged $12.

Reports Adversely. After passing the New Brunswick public works the committee turned to those of Ontario. In this connection Mr. Pugsley took occasion to make the important announcement that the International Waterways Commission has reported adversely to the proposal to dam Lake Erie. The result of the commission's report, would be to lower the levels in Lake Ontario and the canal system and therefore the proposal could not be entertained.

Mr. McCull, of Norfolk drew this announcement by urging the Government to improve Port Dover harbor. Questioned as to the Long Sault dam Mr. Pugsley said that he was not yet prepared to recommend it.

Increasing in Favor. In today's issue will be found one of an attractive and well-written series of advertisements setting forth the many excellent qualities of Royal Household Flour, milled by the Ogilvie people of Montreal. The product is of the highest quality and is in the favor of the Maritime Province housewife and today enjoys a reputation second to none, and the advertisement which heralds the product is equally excellent and genuine.

PROTECTION OF THE FORESTS.

Lecture By Mr. James Lawlor Under the Auspices of The Canadian Club. This evening in Keith's Assembly Rooms, under the auspices of the Canadian Club, an illustrated lecture will be delivered on the subject of "Canada's Forests and Their Protection," by Mr. James Lawlor, Secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, who is in connection with the Forestry Convention at Fredericton on February 23rd and 24th.

This lecture is sent out by the above named association for the purpose of showing people by words and pictures the dangers that confront Canada from the ruthless cutting and burning off of her forests. All the civilized countries of the world are increasing their demands for timber. When these demands centre on Canada the forests will not last long unless measures are taken to perpetuate and develop them. It is to point out how this may be done that the lecture is given.

Besides the loss to trade from the disappearance of the forests, agriculture, navigation, hydraulic power systems and other industries are affected in grounds all over the country. This is being strikingly exemplified all over Canada at the present time and some of the pictures shown are startling to Canadians.

MacAdam at 8:30. The bride was Miss Mary MacGillivray, and Mr. A. E. Murphy acted as the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood will reside in Sydney.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of gun-powder blue, with a fawn velveteen silk hat trimmed with willow plumes. BRIDGE OR NO BRIDGE?

To the Editor of The Standard: "Sir—When the projector of the present suspension bridge at the falls was refused a charter to bridge the harbor at Navy Island, the slogan with the West Side electors was bridge or no bridge. Politicians of every shade sought their support, under flowery promises of bridges, but it has now lost its pull. The people of the West Side after being hooked into unions with the city, turned their attention to the ferry and were determined to make it give a good and efficient service. This we now have, clean waiting rooms, good sanitary arrangements, boats clean and comfortable, and, weather permitting, run on schedule time. They also have the street railway. By taking a car with a ferry transfer, any part of the city can be reached for 5 cents; or take the route by the bridge, you will find that the majority of ferry parties will use it in preference to a bridge, and particularly one built after the plan now before the city council.

WINGS OF LORDS TO BE CLIPPED

Continued from Page 1. "Congratulations to you on your magnificent stand. The whole fighting force of Liberalism is behind you." It is almost universally agreed that Mr. Redmond has been driven to take the present step by pressure from the new O'Brien party, whose bond of union is a hearty dislike of the budget. The Liberal editorials remind Mr. Redmond that though he undoubtedly can overthrow the Government he is not likely to gain much by such a course.

WINGS OF LORDS TO BE CLIPPED

Some of the Unionist newspapers, notably the Glasgow Herald, see the possibility of a bargain with the Government to get rid of obnoxious parts of the budget. They argue that the Unionists might support the Government should the Irish members vote against the budget, on the condition that its objectionable features be eliminated from the next year's budget.
