JOE MURPHY READ HIS OWN OBITUARY

West End Man Writes of Narrow Escape in the Montreal
Herald Wreck—He Was Reported Dead.

Joe Murphy the West End man who was reported as killed in the Montreal Herald wreck, but which report fortunately turned out to be without foundation, is probably convinced that it is the little things in his life which count in the end. Had it not been for a little thing Joe might have been numbered among those who were taken in the disaster and that little thing was a cigar.

The West End man was entering the Herald building on the morning of the accident and just a few seconds before the tank fell which took so many lives. Almost at the door he met a friend in the Herald employ who invited him to have a cigar. As they left the building to go to the cigar store the crash came but they were out of the danger zone. In a letter to friends in The Standard office received yesterday, Mr. Murphy says:

"A cigar saved me from being in the Herald office the morning of the wreck, not for the purpose of seeking employment but to see a friend and to drop you a line. When I was about to enter the editorial room I met my friend coming out and he invited me out to have a cigar. We started to leave the building and had reached the door when I heard the awful crash. The building trembled and we ran across the street. Shortly after the whole place was in flames and we could see men and women on the window sills and climbing out wherever they could. When the tank first fell the screams of the people who were penned in were terrible. They could be heard above all the other noise and I don't want to go through such another time. Then I had to go to Valleyfield and stayed there a couple of days. When I returned I was surprised to learn that I was dead and in the St. John papers I read my own death notice."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS' CONFERENCE

It Was Opened at Rothesay
Last Night—Inspiring Address by Rev. Dr. Rexford of Montreal.

The opening session of the Church of England Sunday School Workers' Conference for 1910, which was held in the Rothesay Collegiate school building last evening, about 90 teachers and Sunday school workers attended. Among those present were His Lordship, the Bishop of Fredericton, Dean Schofield, Canon Cowie, Canon St. John, and Archdeacon W. O. Raymond and Revs. G. A. Kuhlring, J. W. B. Stewart, G. F. Scoville, H. A. Cody of St. John and Rev. A. W. Daniel and Rev. Principal Hibbard Richardson in his address of welcome, outlined the proceedings of the conference.

The address of the evening was by Rev. Principal Rexford of the Montreal Collegiate school, who spoke on the subject: "The Child a Determining Factor in Sunday School Work." Dr. Rexford's address was divided into four special points. The Lord had given us a world of chief gifts. First, the Home; second, the nature of a child; third, the Bible and fourth, the Church. He spoke of the child as a factor of importance in Sunday school work, in connection with the Church of England the general system had recently appointed a special committee of 100 members to inquire into the subject and a special secretary had been named. Dr. Rexford was listened to with great interest and his address gave much pleasure.

BOTH CANDIDATES VERY CONFIDENT

Ex-Alderman Scully and Geo.
A. Chamberlain Both Expect to Win in Today's By-Election.

Both candidates in the by-election today are confident of victory, and the public apparently would not be discommodated if it were possible for both to realize their hopes. The prospects look very bright, said ex-Alderman W. E. Scully, when interviewed by The Standard.

"I have an organization in every ward, and I feel my friends will muster at the polls in considerable force. I've done quite a lot of canvassing personally, and the results were eminently satisfactory."

"What about by platform? Well, I think my stand on practically all the civic questions now before the public is fairly well known, and I don't believe in making a human, and giving promises that I might not be able to fulfill. I've been in the council some time, feel I've done my duty by the citizens to the best of my ability, and am content to be judged on my record. I feel pretty confident of the result."

"The outlook is encouraging," said Geo. Chamberlain. "I have a fair organization and intend to make a good fight of it. My canvass has been encouraging and if all who promised to vote for me, stick to their words, I'm bound to be elected."

"My programme? Well, I'm not sufficiently familiar with all the civic questions to come out with a cut-and-dried programme. I don't know how my opponent stands on the bridge question just now, and I don't know enough about the circumstances connected with the proposed transfer of the 40 acre lot to the C. P. R. to give an opinion on it at this stage of the game." Generally, there is little interest in the game, and it is not believed the vote will be large. Results will be received at city hall as usual.

A MUSICAL TRIBUTE TO UNION OF RACES

City Bands to Play National Anthem and Marseillaise at Unveiling of the Champlain Monument.

The Champlain monument will be unveiled on Friday evening at 6.30, and if present plans carry, the people who attend, will have the rather unique opportunity of hearing two of the city bands play God Save The King, and the Marseillaise almost concurrently. This is not unusual in other parts of Canada where there is a large proportion of French-Canadian population, but St. John is not one of these.

The present plans are that as the monument is unveiled by Mayor Frink, the two regimental bands which will be present will play the two airs referred to. In token of the two great races which find congenial union here in Canada.

At the ceremony addresses will be delivered by Premier Hazen, representing the province; Hon. Dr. D. V. Landry, representing the Acadia French, and Clarence Ward, president of the New Brunswick Historical Society. Mayor Frink will then unveil the monument. The city regiments and their bands will have a marchout and will be drawn up on the square during the ceremony.

MAGISTRATE HEARS AN INTERDICT CASE

Profanity on the Street Also Came in for Some Criticism in the Police Court Yesterday.

Saturday and Sunday drunks appeared in the police court yesterday morning. The session did not last more than a half hour, but was rather interesting while the prisoners were being dealt with. Magistrate Ritchie, after looking the lot over, said: In all the cases the defendants were arrested during the hours that saloons were closed. He exhorted the police to make diligent enquiries in an effort to find out where the men procured the liquor.

Thomas McCann pleaded guilty to being drunk on Main street Saturday night, but did not know anything about being profane.

Policeman Crawford testified that McCann was profane. The defendant's brother at this stage of the proceedings entered the court and made a lengthy address. He stated that the defendant was on the interdict list and had a family of six and he was the only means of support. About a year ago he had been struck on the head and since then he goes crazy when he drinks liquor. He was perfectly sober at supper time. A young Frenchman called on him later in the evening and must have given him the liquor. The brother then stated to the court that it was a frequent thing to hear men taking the name of God in vain on the street when they were sober and he had never heard of one of them being arrested.

The magistrate said that a little publicity should be given to the alleged swearing on the street; that it was the duty of the police to make enquiries for profanity, and it was also the duty of any citizen to report any delinquent.

The prisoner was remanded to jail.

Liquor Dealer Fined.

In the police court yesterday afternoon P. M. O'Neill was fined $30 by Magistrate Ritchie for selling a wholesale order in his retail premises. The case against R. W. Carson charged with being in his barroom after hours was dismissed.

INTERESTING CASE IN FAIRVILLE COURT

Stipendiary Allingham Delivered Judgment in a Peculiar Suit Yesterday Afternoon—An Appeal Will be Taken.

An interesting civil case was tried before W. H. Allingham, stipendiary magistrate of the parish of Lancaster civil court, yesterday afternoon, at Fairville. The plaintiff is Alfred Burley, of this city, and the defendant is James Russell, a linotype operator. G. Earle Logan appeared for the plaintiff and Edmund S. Ritchie for the defendant.

In April, 1909, the plaintiff purchased a property from the defendant, situated at Lancaster. The purchase price was $2000, but before closing the deal the plaintiff claims that the defendant promised that the tenant would pay an increased rental of $25. The tenant, being under no legal obligation to pay, refused to take upon himself the additional burden. The defendant then promised to pay the extra rental himself. After some time had elapsed the plaintiff asked for his $25, which was refused and proceedings were taken on June 2nd inst., before Judge Ritchie, who non-suited the plaintiff on technical grounds.

A suit was then commenced before Justice Allingham, and after the plaintiff and the tenant, William Shea, testified, Mr. Ritchie asked for a nonsuit on eight grounds. After listening to the argument His Honor denied the motion for nonsuit, and as no defense was offered, judgment was given for the plaintiff.

Mr. Ritchie will appeal.

West Indies Exhibit At Fair.

The commissioner of agriculture for the West Indies in a letter from Barbados to the Dominion Exhibition management, gives further details of the West Indian exhibit to be made at the approaching fair in September. The communication states that comprehensive displays will be made by British Guiana, Barbados, St. Lucia, Dominica, Montserrat and Antigua. No details of the exhibits are given, but a former communication conveyed the impression that a much greater cash outlay would be made in bringing the West Indies prominently before the Canadian people.

In Effect Yesterday.

The new regulations governing sleeping and parlor car reservations on the C. P. R. and I. C. R. and other Canadian railway lines came into force yesterday. Hereafter it will be necessary to pay cash at the time of making reservation. The ticket will, however, be redeemed at face value at the office from which it was obtained any time prior to the leaving of the train.
