

matters relating to the Soviet control of Germany's armament industry. In view of this, it is considered that a senior military officer should be accredited to the Canadian mission at Bonn, to be located in Berlin in order to look after the affairs of the military mission and act as military observer in Germany.