at her companion, who grows somewhat guilty appearance. "That noise of running water—that is the river that flows beneath Geyocourt. If I had only followed I need not have given you all this trouble." "It was no trouble," says he plainly. "You should have told me, I am sure." "Was it that you were going to tell me? Did you know?" regarding him somewhat austerely, "that it would take me home?" "How was I to know that you could follow it?" asks he lamely. "My eyes are quite strong," says she, now regarding him with evident suspicion. "I do not see how I could have helped following it. However, seeing his crestfallen air, you have been very kind, very, I am very much obliged to you." She thinks for a moment, and then looks out to him her hand. "Good-bye," she says gently. "Oh, not good-bye, I hope," returns he anxiously, taking the slim little hand and holding it as warily as he does, perhaps more so, for he is quite aware. "I shall see you again!" "Oh no, no indeed," softly. "You must not think that. Uncle Gregory does not get out of his room for many hours; therefore I shall never know you at all." "That is a hard saying," restraining by a strong effort the smile that rises to his lips. "I am afraid your Uncle Gregory is somewhat of a tyrant," gravely "that he does not deny you the pleasure of walking in these beautiful woods." "At least he has not forbidden me," with a doubtful sigh. "I shall take my advice and get from them all the pleasure you can in the present," says her companion, gazing artlessly at her. "And now if it must be—"

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, gas, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting rid of it through a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Sage Tea Darkens Hair to Any Shade

Don't Stay Gray! Here's a Recipe that Anybody Can Apply With a Hair Brush.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But having at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"A mere skirmish of wits, unworthy a second thought. She wished to be insolent to me, so I knocked her down." "What?" says Vera, very naturally startled. "Metaphorically speaking of course. I rather fancy I reduced her to powder. Oh, Vera, since a day as it has been a regular adventure. First, I lost my way, and then someone came to my rescue, and who do you think the same one was?"

"The man who saved the carriage from being upset," says Vera, with a touch of excitement.
