THE STRENGTH OF TEN. By Winfield Scott Hall, M.D., Ph.D., Chicago. This little book is pronounced the very best work published on the subject of personal purity for boys. It deals with the subject of manhood from the heroic viewpoint, directing attention to those qualities which make strong, successful, manly and noted men. The last chapter deals with personal purity, approaching the subject in such a tactful, forceful and thorough manner that the boy's interest is held until the very last, and he is given just the information he ought to have at this period of life. Price, 25 cents.

LIFE'S STORY—A Book for Girls. By Jeannette Winter Hall, wife of Dr. Hall, Chicago. In response to the oft-repeated question, "How shall I tell my daughter the Story of Life?" this little book is written. It seeks to tell the truth plainly, yet without offence. Its object is to show the great and beautiful plan of Nature by which all life reproduces its kind, and to inspire a reverence for creative power. Girls from ten to fourteen may read it alone, or read and talk it over with their mothers. A copy ought to be placed in the hands of every girl. Price, 25 cents.

SCARLET, OR WHITE? "Scarlet, or White?" is, without question, the strongest story that has appeared in any language in pleading the cause of the "scarlet" woman, and in properly showing up the "scarlet" man. It deals most effectively with every phase of the purity question. It ought to be scattered by the thousand in every land. Price, 25 cents.
