COUNT TOLSTOÏ'S WORKS.

MR. WALTER SCOTT has the pleasure to announce that he has made arrangements to publish, in Monthly Volumes, a series of translations of works by the eminent Russian novelist, Count Lyof N. Tolstoï. These translations, direct from the Russian, are by Mr. Nathan Haskell Dole, and admirably reproduce the spirit and style of the original. The English reading public will be introduced to an entirely new series of works by one who is probably the greatest living master of fiction in Europe, and one upon whose personality and opinions,—social, ethical, and religious,—a unique attention is concentrated. To those unfamiliar with the charm of Russian fiction, and especially with the works of Count Tolstoï, these volumes will come as a new revelation of power.

The Series will begin with:—

A RUSSIAN PROPRIETOR, AND OTHER STORIES.

By COUNT LYOF N. TOLSTOÏ.

This volume, which is representative of Count Tolstoï's literary activity between 1852 and 1859, will fittingly serve as a prelude and introduction to those which follow. Besides its own interest, much of it has the interest of disguised autobiography; Prince Nekhliudof, the 'Russian Proprietor,' suggests the youthful figure of Count Tolstoï himself in one of his early experiences; the 'Recollections of a Scorer,' and 'Two Hussars,' are regarded as reminiscent of Count Tolstoï's gambling days. Both must have been suggested by some such terrible experience as that told of the Count's gambling-debt in the Caucasus. 'Lucerne' and 'Albert,' two other stories of the volume, are also evidently transcripts from the author's own experience. The strange young protector of the wandering singer in the one, the shadowy Prince Nekhliudof in the other, are both Count Tolstoï himself in phases quite distinct from those in which he is familiar at present. 'Albert,' in its peculiar realism and pathos, is one of Count Tolstoï's most exquisite sketches, and a striking example of his literary method.
