"THE 999."

The love and admiration of the average boy for the locomotive was prettily illustrated a few evenings ago. A seven-year-old had been to a Sunday school concert with his parents and listened to some of the beautiful songs that Elsie and Sam used to sing, such as "Too Late, Let the Lower Lights be Burning, It Is All with My Soul, Hold the Fort, Call for the Shore, and The Ninety-and-Nine. The last made a deep and lasting impression. George H. Daniels, an old friend of the family, visited them the following night, and the youngster, running to him, exclaimed, "Oh, Mr. Daniels, I heard 'em sing your everlasting song last night!" "Indeed!" said the dean of passenger agents, "what was the name of it?" "The 999," replied the boy, thinking of the most advertised engine in the world, that which gave fame to the Empire State Express. Best thing Daniels has heard in ten years—From On the Tip of the Tongue, New York Press.

BOOKBINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first class.

The instinctive feeling of a great people is often wiser than its wisest men.

ASKS OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION.

Organizer Writes Prov. Sec. re Co-Operative Harvesting Co.

Toronto, March 12.—J. F. McLaughlin has written to Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, asking him to investigate the affairs of the Farmers' Co-operative Harvesting Machine Co., saying:

"In 1902 I obtained a charter from the Ontario Government for the Farmers' Co-operative Harvesting Machine Company, Limited. I was induced by Joseph Stratford to undertake the organization by representations which I have found to be untrue. The company, money, principally obtained from farmers, and the methods of this company generally call for investigation on the part of those in authority, whose duty it is to protect the public from fraud and fakery. As the organizer of the company, it is my duty to draw your attention to its condition, and to the representations that have been made in order to induce farmers to purchase its stock."

Funeral of O. A. Howland.

Toronto, March 12.—The funeral ceremonies on Saturday of Oliver Alphonse Howland, K. C., C. M. G., ex-Mayor of Toronto, were extremely simple. The services at St. James' Cathedral were attended by a gathering that fully represented the political and commercial life of Toronto. The service for the family was conducted by Canon Cody at the residence of Sir William P. Howland at 2 p.m., and the body was then conveyed to the Cathedral, where Canon Welch took charge, assisted by Canon Cody. The church was crowded to the doors, and traffic on King Street was disturbed for about an hour. The final service at the chapel in St. James' Cemetery was very largely attended by intimate friends.

McDougall Growing Worse.

Toronto, March 12.—In the Sessions on Saturday, when the case of Alfred McDougall was called, Dr. H. J. Wilson stated that McDougall's condition was steadily growing worse. The execution of the left arm was cut off. He lived in bed and often had spells of unconsciousness. Dr. F. N. G. Starr was also called by Mr. DuVerney, and Dr. A. A. Macdonald and Adam Wright by the Crown. They all concurred with Dr. Wilson's statements, and agreed that the malady was progressive and incurable. His span of life is now short.

Hanged to Bedpost.

Montreal, March 12.—Sick, penniless, without a friend in the city, and oppressed by a strange dread of having to go into a hospital, Pierre Trudel, a widower, 55, employed as a cook by Mrs. Blaissonette, St. Paul Street, after having gone to confession, hanged himself to a bedpost yesterday afternoon in a room of his lodging house.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Creosote Tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

To The Ladies of Chatham

This is to certify that Miss Beale J. Goulay, Emma street, opposite Norcross' Home, is now representing us in Chatham in succession of Mrs. E. Hamilton, who has been obliged to discontinue the work because of ill health, after so faithfully representing us for a number of years. We cheerfully recommend Miss Goulay as a competent young lady and can assure you that all orders placed in her hands will receive careful and prompt attention. Thanking you for your past liberal patronage and soliciting a continuance of the same, we very truly yours,

To Hide the Disgrace.

Hamilton, March 12.—An inquest was opened by Coroner Ross Saturday morning on the body of the infant found buried under the barn of John Adams, Millgrove, who is generally known as William Marshall. The inquest was adjourned till next Thursday. In the meantime a post-mortem examination will be held with a view to finding out how the child died. The prisoner told the police the child was born on Feb. 23, and died two days later. He says the body was concealed to hide the disgrace.
