

Introduction.

In presenting to our subscribers our sixth annual Directory of the City of London and County of Middlesex, we are glad to be able to state that notwithstanding the general cry of hard times, we have had increased patronage over previous years. Still there are many business people who do not extend the support that the enterprise deserves.

We have printed a portion of a street showing the changes that have taken place on it during the last year, which, we trust, will have the effect of satisfying some who think that there are not many changes taking place in London, that they are mistaken. You will find this sample between pages 28 and 29.

The greatest care has been taken this year in endeavoring to furnish the information as accurately as possible. Thanking all those who so kindly assisted our canvassers in procuring the names of their employees, etc.,

We are, yours truly,
