WIT AND HUMOR

'Most people,' remarked the thought-ful thinker, 'take life seriously.' 'Well, there's no reason why they should not,' rejoined the matter-of-fact person.
'Taking life is a serious matter.'— Chicago Daily News.

▼ Booth Tarkington says that in no State have the newspapers more journalistic enterprise than in his native Indiana. While stopping at a little Hoosier hotel in the course of a hunting trip, Mr. Tarkington lost one of his dogs "Have you a newspaper in town?"

he asked of the landlord "Right across the way, there, back of the shoemaker's," the landlord told him. "The Daily News—best little paper of its size in the State.

The editor, the printer, and the printer's devil, were all busy doing justice to Mr. Tarkington with an "in-our-midst" paragraph when the novelist arrived.

"I've just lost a dog," Tarkington explained after he had introduced himself, "and I'd like to have you insert this ad. for me:- 'Fifty dollars reward for the return of a pointer dog answering to the name of Rex. Disappeared from the yard of the Mansion House Monday night.'"

"Why, we were just going to press, sir," the editor said, "but we'll be only too glad to hold the edition for your

Mr. Tarkington returned to the hotel. After a few minutes he decided, however, that it might be well to add, 'No questions asked' to his advertisement, and returned to the Daily News office.

The place was deserted, save for the skinny little freckle-faced devil, who sat perched on a high stool, gazing wistfully out of the window.

"Where is everybody?" Tarkington asked.

"Gawn to hunt th' dawg," replied the boy, without removing his gaze from the distant fields.

The great simplicity of the habits of Gen. Robert E. Lee was one reason for his popularity with his soldiers. He fared no better than his troops. There were times, when for weeks the Southern army had but short rations, often doing entirely without meat. In The Old South and the New, Mr. Charles Morris tells an amusing story of one of these periods of scarcity.

On a very stormy day several corps and division generals arrived at headquarters, and were waiting for the rain to abate before riding to their camps, when General Lee's cook announced dinner. The General invited his visitors to dine with him. On repairing to the table, a tray of hot corn bread, a boiled head of cabbage, seasoned with a very small piece of bacon, and bucket of water constituted the repast. The piece of meat was so small that they all politely declined taking any, expressing themselves as 'very fond of boiled cabbage and corn bread,' on which they dined.

Of course, the General was too polite to eat meat in the presence of guests who had declined it; but later in the afternoon, when they had all gone, feeling very hungry, he called his servant and asked him to bring a piece of bread

The darkey looked perplexed and embarrassed, and said in a deprecating tone. 'Well, Marse Robert, dat meat dinner, I put it on de dish wid de cab-bage for looks. But when I seed you an none of de genelmen touched it. I cluded you all knowed it was bor-
