ARCHBISHOP CONDEMNS LOW NECK DRESSES

Will Refuse Communion to Women Improperly Garbed

Kingston, July 3.—The large congregation assembled in St. Mary's Cathedral this morning for the 7:30 o'clock mass listened to some wholesome advice to the young ladies by Archbishop Spratt. On more than one occasion his Grace has expressed himself emphatically from the pulpit of St. Mary's with regard to the garb of the women of today. At this Friday mass his Grace plainly intimated that he did not wish any ladies wearing low-neck dresses to come up for communion. Some women, he remarked, were not garbed as they should be in God's house and he thought it was disrespectful for such women to approach the altar. Some young ladies who had intended taking communion left the cathedral after mass without doing so, as they feared they might be refused it.

MAKE OF CHEESE DWINDLES

Mr. R. T. Gray, inspector of cheese factories in addressing the local board stated that the quality of milk and cheese is good this season, but the make of cheese is twenty per cent less than last year. This is a great decrease, considering that last year the output of cheese was very small, owing to the shortage of pasture.

The cause is attributed by Mr. Gray to the quantity of cream being sent to Toronto and to the local creamery and also to the fact that fewer cows are now being kept. The pasture this year has been good, but is now in great need of rain. — Campbellford News.
