SIX MONTHS OF WAR

A FRANK FRENCH RETROSPECT

The plans of General Goff are set forth and explanations are given as to how and why they could not be carried out. The review closes upon a resounding note of satisfaction at the results of the war.

V-REJUVENATION OF FRENCH ARMY

The result has been to lower the average age of general officers by 10 years. To-day more than three-fourths of the officers commanding units are under 40 years of age.

RECOGNITION OF ABILITY

Ability proved on the field of battle is now immediately recognized and utilized. The higher grades of the French Army are inspired by a remarkable unity in the matter of military theory.

HARDENED TROOPS

The quality of the troops has improved perceptibly since the beginning of the war. The men have become hardened and used to war, and their health—largely owing to the excellence of the commissariat—is extremely satisfactory.

NO LACK OF OFFICERS.

The losses in the junior commissioned ranks have naturally been highest in the infantry. There is, however, nothing like a want of officers in this arm.

VI-ASCENDANCY IN ARTILLERY.

BEGINNING with the famous 75 gun, the compiler of the French official report dwells on its power, rapidity of action, and its incomparable precision, which make it an implement of war of the first order.

FEEDING THE ARMY

Of the work of the commissariat department some idea is gathered when it is remembered that each of the 2,500,000 men at the front daily receives the campaign ration, together with bacon, sugar, coffee, tea, and a third of a litre of wine a day.

ANTON SPY COMMITTED SUICIDE

Anton Kueperle, who claimed to be an American citizen and who had been arrested charged with giving military information to the enemies of Great Britain, committed suicide by hanging himself in the cell of the Old Bailey Prison.

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE

The Dutch have played an important part in the history of the war. In the political, industrial and transportation history of the United States, the name of Holland is inseparably connected with the progress of the men who crossed over from Holland and settled in this country.

WORK OF THE TRANSPORT SERVICE

The report next passes to the transport service, which has worked with remarkable precision since the beginning of the war. Its first great task was the transport of the "troupe de couverture"—the troops sent to the front to meet the first shock of the enemy and enable the mobilization of the main armies to be carried out undisturbed.

which the most urgent transports were effected, ended on August 12 at the same hour. The second period of less urgent transports extended from 1 a. m. on August 12 to midnight on August 18.

GEN. KUEPFERLE

Gen. Kuepferele, who claimed to be an American citizen and who had been arrested charged with giving military information to the enemies of Great Britain, committed suicide by hanging himself in the cell of the Old Bailey Prison.
