H. N. BECHARD,

THE FAMOUS DWARF'S VISIT TO ENG-LAND IN 1844.

Barnum's Clever Advertising In the London Newspapers - The Yankee Midget Was a Great Success and a Prime Favorite With Royalty.

In St. Nicholas Mary Shears Roberts recounts the successes of the famous dwarf Tom Thumb. There have been smaller dwarfs, but none brighter or more intelligent than our tiny Yankee, who was never more than three feet tall. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1832 or thereabouts, of "poor but honest parents." His real name was Charles S. Stratton, and although his relatives always called him Charley he was known to the world at large as the one and only "General Tom Thumb." Under the management of Mr. P. T. Barnum our small hero traveled all over and all around the earth, making two colossal fortunes, one for himself and one for his manager. On Jan. 18, 1844, he set sail for Europe to try his fascinations on kings and queens and

In those days a voyage across the Atlantic was a much more important event than it is now, and you may rest- assured that Mr. Barnum made great capital of this 19 days' journey. The party consisted of the manager, the "General," his parents, his tutor and a French naturalist, and a brass band escorted them to Sandy Hook. This fact was duly heralded in the London newspapers, to which was added the statement that "on leaving New York the dwarf was escorted to the packet by no less than 10,000 persons." Soon after arriving in London Mr.

Barnum and his charge called at the office of The Illustrated London News. The first portrait of Tom Thumb taken in England appears in that journal, dated Feb. 24, 1844. There are two cuts. In the first he is seen standing on a chair by a table, which serves to emphasize his diminutive size. The second picture is very good and is called "The American Dwarf at the Princess Theater." He is represented as being on the stage before the footlights parodying the walk and manners of Napoleon. Tom Thumb's performances at the Princess theater made such a "hit" that Mr. Barnum next engaged Egyptian hall, Piccadilly, whither thronged many visitors of rank and fashion.

The American minister, the Hon. Edward Everett, was very kind to his countrymen, and it was at his house that Mr. Barnum met a certain Mr. Murray, master of the queen's household. On the day following one of the Queen's Life guards appeared before Mr. Barnum with a note containing an invitation from the queen to General Tom Thumb and his guardian, Mr. Barnum, to appear at Buckingham palace on a specified evening.

In retiring from the royal presence Mr. Barnum attempted to follow the example set by the lord in waiting by backing out. The gallery was of great length, and the gentlemen with long strides made rapid progress, but Tom Thumb's short legs left him far behind -or before. Seeing that he was losing writes: ground, he turned and ran a few steps, then resumed the process of "backing." Again losing ground, he repeated the performance, to the great amusement of the royal spectators. The queen soon sent another summons, and the "General," with his guardian, made a second visit to the palace, being received in the yellow drawing room. A third visit was soon paid to Buckingham palace, and this time the queen's uncle, Leopold, king of the Belgians, was present and was greatly amused, asking many questions, and Queen Victoria, desiring the "General" to sing, inquired what song he preferred. "Yankee Doodle," was the prompt reply. All present laughed heartily, and her majesty said: "That is a very pretty song, 'General.' Sing it, if you please." And he did. The British public was now fairly excited. From March 20 to July 20 the levees of the little "General" at Egyptian ball were continually crowded:

One afternoon, attired in a court dress, consisting of a handsomely embroidered velvet coat, short breeches. white satin vest, white silk stockings, pumps, wig. cocked hat and dress sword, he went to Marlborough House, the residence of Queen Adelaide, widow of William IV.

"Why, 'General,'" said the queen dowager, "I think you look very smart "I guess I do," he answered contentedly. Before he left the queen took him up on her lap, saying: "I see you have no watch. Will you permit me to give you oue?" "I should like it very much," was the answer. And a few weeks after be was again invited to Marlborough House, where many children of the nobility were present, and Queen Adelaide gave him a beautiful but tiny watch and chain. He received many other presents from various people, and these were all placed under a glass case and exhibited at the receptions. The Duke of Wellington frequently looked in upon the little man, and on one occasion when the small "General," with folded arms and knitted brow, was strutting up and down, imitating Napoleon, the big general, Wellington, laughingly inquired. "Of what are you thinking, my little man?" "I am thinking, sir, of the battle of Waterloo," was the prompt reply, the little features never losing their serious expression.

Making Distinctions.

"Do you know much about music?" "Not a great deal," answered Mr. "But I've managed to figure out that if you hear anything in a theater at the cost of $5 per seat It's art, and if somebody sings the same thing in an adjacent flat, or hammers it out on a piano, it's an infernal racket. I'm getting on."-Washington Star.

Eleven on One Limb at One Time With Excruciating Pain. All Remedies Tried, and Number-less Physicians Little Benefit. CUTICURA Speedily Cures.

My mother has been a victim to nicers from varioes veins for thirty-five years. Eleven of these terrible sores have existed at one time on the limb affected. Excruciating pain and intense suffering were endured, with all sorts of remedies on trial and numberless physicians' calls and prescriptions applied, but all practically with but little benefit. However, at last the remedial agent was found in Cutzicura (ointment), which surely proved its weight in gold, alleviating pain and causing healing processes to commence and a cure speedily effected. She has, also, used Cutzicura with marked benefit in crysipelas of the face and eczema. The Cutzicura Soar, also, has established a record only as the best cleansing, purifying, and healing in its nature, having proved itself a most excellent and valuable auxiliary to the Cutzicura (ointment).

NEW SCHOOL UPENCO

A very successful school entertainment was held in S.S. No. 13, Howard, on the occasion of the opening of their handsome new school house. Between seven and eight o'clock some two hundred guests were served with supper in the ample basement of the building where tables sixty feet in length were set, taden with the richest and best that the country and the season could afford. This department was managed by a committee including Mesdames F. Fysh, A. Julier, J. Henderson, J. Miller and T. Martin and the abundance ler and T. Martin and the abundance of good things set for the refreshment of the company could not have been excelled for variety and good quality. Upon adjournment to the school room I. J. Newell, the teacher of the school, presented an excellent musical and interary program which was well sus-tained by the Thamesville quartette, Mr. and Mrs. Munro, the local clergy, and excellent local talent. Address were given by Mr. A. Hubbell, Rev. Mr. Kerr and Inspector Colles Mr. John Howatt occupied the chair and by his ready wit and comely presence kept every one in the best of good humor.

The school house marks a new era in school architecture and its design in house in the county (excepting only the Chas. Geron school in Harwich of which it is the counterpart,) and it re flects the highest credit upon the architect, J. S. Wilson; the contractor, Chas. Hubbell, and the trustees A. Hubbell, Wm. Dudmore and Fred.

It is a substantial brick building 35 by 42 feet with stone foundation, cement line basement, 7 feet in the clear school room with caracity for 72 children, oil finished hardwood ceilings 15 feet 1 inch high, slate roof and mod ern windows will arranged. The founda tion and facings are of stone and the rooms are heated by furnace in the basement. The building stands upon a high corner lot, one and a half acres in area, and has two fronts upon north and west sides, facing the two roads. Separate entrances for boys and girls, cloak rooms, and a teacher's room, and there is a bacdsome square bell tower in the N.W. corner. The entire cost of the building was only $2,619, which in dicates excellent management by the trustees.

Inspector Colles is to be congratulated upon having so fine a school added to the already excellent school houses of his inspectorate of East Kent.

Dr Colenette Fooled the Experts on Wine Test-They Pronounced the Bogus Article Genuine

Some years ago the late Dr. Colonette undertook to make a bottle of port that should not cost more than threepence which the best judges should be unable to distinguish from the highest priced wine that could be obtained in the island. The preparation was compounded openly before a large assemblage, and three competent judges were selected to test the product. The basis of this compound was cider, colored with an infusion of logod To this he added a few grains of tartaric acid and salt of tartar to give respectively a rough taste and a meliowed appearance. When three glasses of this compound and three glasses of recognized port were presented to the judges to taste and pass their verdict, without being told which was which, they unanimously pronounced in favor of the doctor's cheap preparation and rejected the genuine port. What they would have said the next morning if they had consumed a bottle of this preparation remains a matter of conjecture.-London Chroni-

The distances over which birds migrate vary between wide limits and are often surprisingly great. The bobolinks, which rear their young on the shores of Lake Winnipeg and go to Cuba and Porto Rico to spend the winter, twice traverse a distance exceeding 2.800 miles, or more than a fifth of the circumference of our earth, each year. The kingbird lays its eggs as far north as the fifty-seventh degree of latitude and is found in the winter in South America. The biennial pilgrimages of the little redstart exceed 3,000 miles and the tiny humming bird 2,000
