WHITE SLAVES.

President Taft Interested in Stopping Infamous Traffic.

Bill to be Introduced into Congress Dealing With It.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Foregoing a contemplated horseback ride because of a snowstorm, President Taft devoted the entire afternoon to-day to a series of important conferences covering the subject of proposed amendments to the interstate commerce laws, legislation looking to the suppression of the white slave traffic.

It was with Attorney Sims and Mr. Mann that the president also took up the white slave question. Mr. Mann is to introduce a bill on this subject at the coming session of Congress. He believes the Government can prevent this traffic through the exercise of its power to control interstate and foreign commerce. The bill which Mr. Mann has drafted, and in which the president to-day expressed his deep interest, provides a heavy penalty for the enticement of a woman or girl from one place to another for immoral purposes, thereby causing her to go as a passenger over any transportation line engaged in interstate or foreign commerce.

"The investigations in Chicago under the direction of District Attorney Sims and elsewhere," said Mr. Mann to-day at the close of the conference, "have disclosed a situation startling in its nature as to the extent of the traffic in young girls, both within the United States and from France and other foreign countries. Most of these American girls are enticed away from their homes in the country to large cities. The police power exercised by the State and municipal governments is inadequate to prevent this—particularly when the girls are enticed from one State to another, or from a foreign country to the United States."

FILLED TOOTH.

Gunda Had to Undergo Dentistry Without Gas.

Used Mallet and Chisel in Cleaning Out the Cavity.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—When Gunda, the elephant at the Zoological Gardens in the Bronx, refused to eat hay and shied at the water Sunday her keepers knew there was something radically wrong, for she can stand away enough hay at a meal to stock a barn.

Gunda was suffering from racking toothache. The discovery was made yesterday by Walter Thumann, keeper, who detected a swelling on her jaw. Dr. W. Reed Blair, veterinarian, with the aid of "Dick" Richards and John Bayreuther, keepers, forced her jaws apart with crowsbars and a searching dental examination was made.

One of the lower molars, four inches in diameter, was decayed. There was a cavity two inches wide and three inches long. It was decided to scrape out the cavity and fill it. Gunda was bound down to the floor with great chains and belts and her trunk was secured.

But Gunda was not in a fighting mood. She seemed to know her pain was to be relieved, and she courted dental attention rather than repelled it. So after an hour's hard work the cavity was treated with chisels and mallet, the jaws being held apart meanwhile with large wooden blocks. The cavity was sprayed with a cooling solution and filled with amalgam. The elephant was released and she trumpeted several times for very joy.

Dr. Blair visited his patient an hour later. She recognized him and showed her gratitude by raising him to her head with her trunk. When the two parted Gunda wept—at least so the keepers said.

NEEDED NURSE.

Two-Year-Old Husband Here With Seven-Year-Old Bride.

New York, Nov. 24.—Theodore Leslie is the youngest married man in the country. Theodore is two, and he has brought back from Portuguese Congo, where he was born, a dusky bride of seven, the daughter of a Congo chief.

Theodore's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Leslie, who have just returned on a vacation from a missionary post, explained to-day that when he was born, the chief of his tribe, Nyakakas, who had 40 children, had decided to give Theodore a spare granddaughter for a wife as a token of regard.

As Theodore was badly in need of a nurse, the present was accepted, and the royal African proprieties were satisfied at the same time.

MOVING PICTURES.

The moving pictures and illustrated song entertainments at Association Hall on Saturday afternoon and evening promises to be the best of its kind ever put on here. Seven reels of the best films and newest pictures have been ordered, and the reputation of the Kinetograph Co. is at stake, so the very latest may be expected.

The Carey Bros. have a reputation for putting on the pictures in good style, and they deserve it. The direct current and a first-class lantern are responsible for the life-like appearance of the pictures. The solos and duets, beautifully illustrated, add much to the interest of the entertainment.

A three-hour programme of rare quality is therefore guaranteed to patrons on Saturday night. The afternoon price, 5 cents to all, and evening 5 and 10 cents. There should not be any empty seats in the hall.

What does this proposition mean to the Hamilton store man? It means a complete saving in the cost of fixtures. It means no outlay for mantle renewals or for cleaning. It means less money for lighting bills and it means a much more attractive place of business.

THE WAR ON VIVISECTION.

Are Men, Women, Children and Even Infants to be Experimented Upon With Knife For Scientific Purposes Alone?

MRS. DIANA BELAIS, PRESIDENT OF THE NEW YORK ANTI-VIVISECTION SOCIETY.

She is a wealthy woman, who, being touched by reports of cruelties imposed upon dumb animals to "advance science," five years ago founded the society which now makes sensational charges against medical men for alleged cruelties to helpless human beings.

New York, Nov. 23.—In its war upon medical men who experiment upon living creatures to "advance science," the New York Anti-Vivisection Society has brought out a pamphlet which is having general circulation, and which makes sensational charges.

The pamphlet is labelled "Human Vivisection." This, it is stated, "is the practice of subjecting human beings, men, women and children, a great proportion of whom are patients in hospitals or asylums, to experiments involving pain, mutilation, disease or death, for no object connected with their individual benefit, but entirely for scientific purposes."

Saying that the information was gained from various medical journals, from papers read by scientists and from responsible newspapers, the anti-vivisectionists make the following charges:

A French physician named Gailleton was condemned in the courts for his treatment of an orphan boy, belonging to one of the charitable institutions. He inoculated the boy with a certain horrible disease, which the boy took and died. On trial Dr. Gailleton defended his conduct on the ground that what he had done was for the advancement of science.

In Germany a Dr. Schimmelschlag "inoculated two boys with the virus from a boil," and both died from a pustular disease.

Dr. K. Menge, of the University Hospital for Women in Leipzig, is quoted as follows: "My experiments on new born babies (girls) disproved the correctness of the professor's deductions. Unfortunately I could get only three babies to experiment on. These I took immediately after birth. They were not bathed, but at once wrapped up in sterile linen and carried to my laboratory. I inoculated these subjects with very considerable quantities of disease-producing germs."

Dr. Lund, of Samsø, Norway, is charged with feeding his infant son, for sixteen months, on milk from tuberculous cows, to learn whether the disease could thus be communicated to a human being. The child developed a tuberculous infection in consequence.

In Austria 80 cases are cited of children being inoculated with disease germs, and it is alleged the same thing was done in maternity cases, so that infants were born suffering with loathsome diseases. It is said these victims number into the hundreds.

Dr. Epstein, professor of children's diseases at Prague, is alleged to have infected five children with "round worms" just for the sake of experiment. Dr. Pellican in France plied confirmed drunken women with as much spirits as they could swallow, and applied a lighted match to their mouths in an endeavor to produce spontaneous combustion.

Dr. John S. Pyle, graduate of Bellevue Medical College, read a paper at the meeting of the Tristate Medical Association, Peoria, Ill., on Oct. 3, 1893, pleading for the appropriation of criminals, condemned to capital punishment, to the experimental physiologist.

Dr. Henry J. Berkley, of Johns Hopkins Hospital, the anti-vivisectionists say, describes his experiments on eight insane patients of the city asylum in poisoning them with preparations of the thyroid gland. He says this poison "when its administration is pushed even to a moderate degree almost invariably results in death." "Two patients became frenzied, and of these one died before the excitement had subsided."

NEW WITNESS IN DETROIT TRAGEDY.

up to see him. At the foot of the stairs I met a young lady, a beautiful girl, and we went up together.

"The doctor was busy with other patients, and while we were there this young lady and I talked together, and she
