Is Hon. Donald Morison Acting Premier?

It is now over eight weeks since the first F. P. U. memorial was sent to His Excellency the Governor, drawing attention to the connection of the Hon. Donald Morison with certain deals on timber limits, and in which the propriety of retaining that gentleman as a Councillor of the Crown and Minister of Justice was raised. Some time ago we asked the Premier if he insisted on the members of his Ministry having no interests in timber propositions, and if so, how he viewed the conduct of the Hon. Donald Morison. We wanted to know what his attitude was towards the Hon. Donald Morison. Sir Edward vouchsafed no words in reply. But his action, if we are rightly informed, speaks louder than any words he could utter. We are informed that the Hon. Donald Morison, in spite of the two F. P. U. Memorials, has been left in charge of the Government, and that he has been, and is to-day, Acting Premier. We ask publicly if it is correct that the Hon. Donald Morison is and has been Acting Premier since Sir Edward Morris left?

If it is so, it is the grossest outrage which could be perpetrated on public opinion.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, May 27, '12.

Parafornic Throat Lozenges will be found to give great ease to those who have to use their voice a great deal, and will relieve and cure slight cases of sore throat and of hoarseness. They are also useful in cases of spasmodic cough, controlling the paroxysms to a considerable extent. A good lozenge for singers and speakers. Price 30c. a bottle.

Bell's Fibre Moth Bags are the handiest and most effective things of this kind to be had. They effectively keep moths away, but impart no odor whatever to garments placed inside of them; and they keep dust, soot and germs away also. By all means try one for your furs. Price 25 to 50c. each.

BOARDS CONFER.—A committee from the Game and Inland Fisheries Board and another from the Board of Trade met to-day to confer on general routine matters.

Fire at Trinity.

BUILDING DESTROYED.

Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings had word to-day from Magistrate Lilly acquainting him of a disastrous fire that occurred at Trinity on Friday night last when the shop owned by James Crocker was wiped out of existence. When discovered the interior of the building was all in a blaze. During the progress of the fire considerable anxiety was felt for the safety of the surrounding dwellings which were near the burning building. Fortunately the wind was from a safe quarter with a rain storm which allayed all grave fears. The fire originated by the owner leaving a lamp burning in the shop at 7 o'clock in the evening and when he returned about 9 o'clock the building was totally destroyed. An enquiry is now going on.

MAN REPORTED MISSING.—Yesterday a man named Coady, of the West End, came to the police station and asked if his son had been arrested by the police Saturday night. When told he wasn't he became much alarmed. He left his house after tea Saturday evening and had not returned up to the time the man reported him, which was at noon yesterday.

Amendments to Home Rule Bill

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.

There have already been handed to the clerks of the Commons amendments to Home Rule Bill that fill 28 pages of the parliamentary orders of the day. Most are in names of Conservative members and would not take passage. Many of them make bill as useless as the paper they are printed on. Extreme radical members on the other hand, aim at giving the Irish Parliament more power, making it more democratic, while some of their non-conformist colleagues would have clauses inserted to safeguard their fellow religionists of Ulster. With the exception of Ginnell a Nationalist, with independent leanings, Irish members have not yet tabled any amendments. Ginnell's amendments would enlarge the powers of the Irish parliament and make it more democratic. While months will be spent on the committee stage of the bill, few amendments will receive a hearing. While most amendments proposed by Unionists aim at destroying the bill, some will doubtless receive consideration as tending to improve the measure. It is strange to find two Unionist members, Viscount Castlereagh and Lord Claude Hamilton, both sons of peers, who have been Lord Lieutenants of Ireland, proposing the abolition of that office, substituting a Secretaryship of State. This is a change that has more often been associated with radical policy. A sly slip is taken at O'Connor by the suggestion of one member, that Scotland division of Liverpool, which is represented in the Commons by O'Connor, and the electors of which came from across the Channel, should for the purpose of the Bill be considered a part of Ireland. Others again would have Ulster excluded from the Bill. Some will propose it shall apply to England, Wales and Scotland as well as Ireland, thus bringing about federal home rule which was for a few days the policy of some Conservatives in 1910.

Algerine Found But One Body.

Mr. Munn received a message yesterday from Capt. Jackman, of the S. S. Algerine, which was 45 miles off Cape Race, at the time of its despatch. Capt. Jackman informed Mr. Munn that in the 10 days search for bodies of the victims of the Titanic, she picked up one body, which had been identified as that of a fireman named James McGrady, of Dublin. The body was embalmed on board ship. Mr. Munn directed her in reply to return to the vicinity of the wreck and cruise for another 10 days, and then report through Cape Race for further instructions. She spoke to the S. S. Montmagny on the 19th. The latter ship has been out for two weeks but found no bodies. She is on her way to Halifax.

A Dog Attacks a Child.

At 1 p.m. to-day Mrs. James Sheehan came to the Western Station crying, and reported that a dog had attacked her little 3 year old girl, Bridie. The brute tore the poor child's arms with its fangs and might have torn her to pieces but its mother heard her cries. Fireman B. Haggerty who took the report could not leave the station as he was on guard, but would be only too willing to use a gun to kill the animal. Const. Greene, however, took his rifle and went in chase of the dog, and a good marksman that he is ended its life. In the meantime the mother summoned a doctor who cauterized and generally speaking attended to the wounds.
