The Inglorios Goeben

The success of the Germans in partially closing the harbor of Libau is important, for it may lead to the complete bottling up of the harbor, and the loss of Southern Russian power in the Baltic. It has natural advantages over other Russian Baltic ports in being almost ice free. It is open three weeks before St. Petersburg. The port is on a lake, which is connected by a canal, over 23 feet deep, which gives access to the port and is kept open throughout the winter by ice breakers. The importance of the bottling up of Libau, arises from the fact, that it is the only Russian port in the Baltic which the Russian fleet can utilize throughout the winter. If ingress and egress is blocked by sunken ships, the Russians will have in the Baltic with useless for the next three or four months, and the Germans can direct their attention to the North Sea without having to divert any important units of their fleet to watch the big Russian battlecruisers and battleships off the coast.

TURKEY MAKES NO REPLY.

LONDON, To-Day. Turkey has not yet replied to the request of the United States Government for information as to why the launch of the cruiser Tassanee was fired upon by Turkish forces at Smyrna. If an answer is not forthcoming shortly it is probable that the U.S. Government will apply to the French Admiralty for permission to use its wireless communication with American ships in Turkish waters.

GLASGOW TO DRY DOCK AT BRAZILIAN PORT.

RIO JANEIRO, To-Day. The British cruiser Glasgow has obtained permission from the Brazilian Government to enter the dry dock to receive urgent repairs. Repairs are expected to last seven days. At the expiration of that time the vessel will sail for the high seas. The Glasgow has five holes in her hull by shells in battle and four sailors were wounded. From conversations with the officers of the Glasgow it became known to-day that at the very beginning of the battle, the cruiser Good Hope, considering the higher power of the German squadron guns, ordered the Glasgow and transport Ontario to seek a place of refuge. Notwithstanding this order the Glasgow answered the fire of the German cruisers and received a number of shells on her forecastle deck. Officers say that the allies and Russians are engaged in the centre along the north and south lines. Hence it seems that the Teutonic allies are levelling a concentrated attack from three directions against the Russian forces.

THAT RUSSIAN RETREAT.

LONDON, To-Day. Public interest is now largely centred in the battle between the Russians and Germans between the Vistula and Warta Rivers in Poland as the result of which the course of the fighting there will have a very marked effect on operations elsewhere and on duration of the war. Curiosity is far from being satisfied, as both German and Russian headquarters are very sparing with information. All that is definitely known is that the Russians advanced greatly, consisting largely of cavalry, which advanced right on to the German frontier after the battle at Warsaw, met superior forces of the enemy and have been compelled to fall back more than half the distance covered in the advance. The Germans are sending very strong forces of men and guns into the country between the two rivers where the battle must be fought, hoping that in this confined area the Russians will not be able to deploy their enormous forces to their advantage, as they have done in practically all previous battles. Grand Duke Nicholas, Commander-in-Chief, however, can choose his own ground for battle and it is probable that he will select it far away from the Vistula. In Galicia before Cracow and in East Prussia, the Russians are pushing their advantage apparently disregarding the fact that their centre has been compelled to fall back. They are also showing much activity in the Carpathians, their object being to prevent the Austrians from returning to Italy. In fact it is said that they have already cut off 800,000 Austrians who will now be compelled, if defeated, to retreat westward.

via St. Louis and London, To-Day. Quiet reigns in West Flanders. The sudden and violent coming of winter has caused a suspension of hostilities. The Yser River now has the temperature of that of the New England coast on a bleak windy day. In this way the armies are compelled to live in devastated territory where there are no houses to give shelter or warmth. Physical numbness and not
