Fictitious Prosperity

To float loans seems to be something over which the only organ of the Government finds food for congratulation. As a business proposition it is not so tremendously successful as the Advocate would have its readers believe. Any concern that is being carried along on borrowed capital must inevitably come a financial cropper sooner or later. Newfoundland is heading in that direction at the moment. We are basking in the sunshine of a fictitious prosperity. Our revenues are not sufficient to meet current expenditure, and for that reason we are obliged to go outside, to the money lenders, and solicit help on their terms. Is there, we ask, any cause for jubilation or congratulation in that? Last year it was found necessary to float a Six Million Dollar Loan in order to finance extravagant disbursements. This year another such sum has been raised on the credit of the Colony. Can that go on forever? Will there not come a time when a period will have to be placed to such promiscuous borrowing? What kind of a mess would Water Street firms get into, if they had to go seeking loans year after year? Would not the whole fabric become weakened and eventually totter to a fall, bringing down all the commerce of the island in its ruins?

Can a Government then continue in a state of constant borrowing? How much longer are the collapse? Millions of dollars are being piled up year after year against coming generations, and yet Government men and newspapers see in this immense charge upon the public purse, cause for congratulation. If the money were being raised abroad for any utilitarian purpose; if any visible asset were to be seen for its worth, it would not be so bad. But we have nothing to show. The money is being squandered right and left. The whole proceeding is positively disgraceful and absolutely immoral. Interest bills are accumulating. The loan policy was originated by the first railway construction Government; it was developed by the Government of Sir Edward Morris, and perfected by the Administration of Sir Richard Anderson Squires, who will for all time be known as the Loan Premier. Twelve million dollars within the short space of one year is not a bad record. And all that money, that huge sum, has been practically wasted. Thrown away on political kitting. What benefit has all this netted to the country? And it goes on. Duties cannot be levied at any higher rates than the tariff contains. And so there is but the one way to plunge the old Colony still farther in debt, and that by raising loans to cover political extravagance and Government squandering. It is indeed time to call a halt. In a crisis such as faces every country to-day, the motto should be RETRENCH! CUT DOWN EXPENSES! Make the ends of revenue and expenditure meet. ECONOMISE! No country can live forever on the money of other people. Some day the structure built on this weak foundation will come down with a crash. It won't be the men who brought it about that will be buried in the debris, but the people. And so good friends, look to the future.

House Re-Opens.

DEBATE ON ADDRESS IN REPLY.
The House of Assembly re-opens this afternoon, after a week's adjournment. It is expected that the debate on the Address in Reply will begin. Optimistic people are of the opinion that the debate will be short. Certainly it will not last as long as last year's, but it is unlikely that it will be concluded before late in the week. Question time should provide a busy few minutes for the occupants of ministerial seats. There are seventeen questions on the Order Paper, fifteen of which were asked by the Leader of the Opposition. Some are divided into as many as nine different paragraphs. It is possible that the several Bills which appear on the Order Paper may get their first reading. It is not easy to understand the necessity for a "Bill for the protection of Neglected, Detendant and Delinquent Children." Was not a similar act passed last year? What has become of it? The "Bill to regulate the importation, manufacture and sale and use of opium and other dangerous drugs" appears to be a hint to the effect that opium is being smuggled into the country. The explanation of the Bill will probably show this.

For Orphans' Education.

"MY IRISH ROSE" REPEATED TO-NIGHT.

To supply the ever increasing need of school room at Mount Cashel Orphanage the B.I.S. players some time ago undertook to equip a new school there; and for this worthy object, (through the kind permission of His Grace the Archbishop) this talented troupe are repeating at the Casino to-night, their St. Patrick's Day success of "My Irish Rose." It is a charming comedy scintillating with dialogue that is as witty as it is humorous, and it loses nothing in the presentation by the Irish players who delightfully portray a story that begins in the post office in Killarney, Ireland and comes to a close in Andrew Carrington's Fifth Avenue residence in New York. For years the B.I.S. players have been devoting their time and talents solely for educational purposes and in their special and very worthy effort to-night for the new Mount Cashel school the Telegram feels sure they will have the generous support of the public. A special programme of music will be rendered by the C.C.C. Band under Capt. Arthur Bulley as well as specialties between the acts by Miss Mary McCarthy and Mr. Karl Trapnell. Tickets may be had at the Royal Station.

Who Sank the German Fleet?

SCAPA FLOW MYSTERY, REVEALED.

Beginning to-morrow the Telegram will republish from Cassels Magazine the true story of the sinking of the German (surrendered) fleet at Scapa Flow, contributed by Admiral Von Roeder, who was Commander of the German Navy at that time. The sinking of the enemy ships was one of the greatest coups of the war. How it was explained in full detail by the Admiral, who does not hold back any secrets as to arrangement or instruction with and to his officers. The story is thrilling and throws a strong light on German principles and methods. Look out for to-morrow's Telegram and succeeding issues and become acquainted with one of the most momentous happenings of naval warfare.

HIS DIARY.

March 18.—At the office pretty night all morning, being that there was much work to be done. So to the Detective offices and have some discourse with Supt. O'Neil. He did show me the way of taking fingerprints, but I unwilling that he should take mine, seeing how I have at all times looked well to my future welfare. At night to the Club and to play at Bridge.

March 19th. (Lord's Day).—A fine gold day. To walk with my wife, to my great content. So home and to bed, being in great need of rest.

Seals Off Catalina.

MEN LANDED 200 SATURDAY.
Seals are extraordinarily plentiful off Catalina this season and men from the shore are making good hauls. On Saturday Little Catalina men landed 200 seals. The Northern Head of Catalina reports thousands of young hauls about a mile off the land. All the motor boats from the nearby settlements went out after the seals this morning.

Sealing Ship Owners Meet.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO HELP.
A meeting of the sealing ship owners was held this forenoon when matters in connection with the fishery was discussed. It is general rumor that Major Cotton has offered to give the necessary information about the main patch for $40,000, and that it was turned down and another offer made to the effect that the sealing owners should pay 20 cents a seal for all the seals taken from the information that would be furnished the Government should pay a like amount. One sealing ship owner has stated that no such offer was made. The meeting to-day discussed the matter of locating the seals by airplane, and it is understood the owners will approach the Government on the matter.

Short of Flour.

A business man of the city who has connection with the Trading Companies on Labrador, received a message to-day from North West River, via Battle Harbor and Fogo, stating that there was a shortage of flour at Hamilton Inlet. Arrangements have been made to have supplies sent forward as soon as navigation opens up.

Premier Will Speak.

Sir Richard Squires will be the principal speaker at to-morrow's luncheon of the St. John's Rotary Club. Rotarian B. Gardiner will be chairman for the day. The Prime Minister's address will be brief and his subject is "Education." This will probably be applied to the proposals of the Rotary Club to hold to survey of Boy Life in the city.

Hockey Notes.

The Tie-Cup Game—The Terra Nova and Fiddlers are the contesting teams in to-night's Tie-Cup game. The winning side will play the St. Bon's in the final game of the series. So far this season the Fiddlers have carried everything before them and they have no intention of allowing that record to be spoiled if it is at all possible to prevent it. The Tie-Cup games will have to be finished quickly as there is very little likelihood of the ice lasting until the end of this week.

MERCANTILE HOCKEY.—There will be two mercantile hockey games to-night. The first will be played at 6 o'clock. It is between Harvey's upper and lower offices. The second game will be played at 10:30 o'clock and the teams will represent the Royal Stores and Bowring Brothers, Ltd.

Silver Mine Discovered.

ORE SHOWS HIGH PERCENTAGE—VERRON'S IS. P.B. MAY BE ANOTHER COBALT.

That Verron's Island, Placentia Bay, may be another Cobalt is the opinion expressed to-day by Mr. W. A. Mackay, mining expert, who has just returned from investigating a reported silver find. Mr. Mackay brought several samples of ore with him. This ore is known as "Argentiferous Galena" and consists of silver, iron and lead, the geological name for it being composed of the Latin names for these minerals. A sample assay from the strouter shows 1000 ounces of silver to the ton of ore. At sixty cents an ounce, this means that every ton of ore is, on an average, worth $600 for the silver it contains. Lead is the predominating substance in the ore. A contract has been entered into between the small syndicate which owns Verron's Island and Dickson's Hill, which is on the main land and to which the ore has been traced, and Mr. L. J. Furlong, whereby the latter does a certain amount of work, such as shaft sinking and other preliminaries to enable the ore to be got at.

Supreme Court.

(Before Mr. Justice Kent.)
In the matter of O'Leary, trustee of the insolvent estate of J. Barrett vs. John Barrett, Mr. C. J. Fox for plaintiff moves for postponement and transfer of the case to Harbor Grace. Mr. J. A. Barron agrees to postpone, but objects to transfer to Circuit Court. It is ordered that the matter be transferred for trial before Circuit Court sitting next month at Harbour Grace.

Wounded by Glass Splinters.

BUSINESS MAN MEETS ACCIDENT IN BUSY GOTHAM.

Mr. Isaac Levitz, who returned by the Rosalind from his annual business trip to the United States, met with an accident whilst in New York city, which kept him confined to his hotel for over a week. He was riding on a street car in Broadway when an expressman ran into the street car and smashed several of the windows. The flying glass hit Mr. Levitz and inflicted a bad cut over his eye necessitating several stitches. Mr. Levitz has filed a claim of $500 against the railway company. Business in New York, Mr. Levitz says, seems to be moving with the usual swing, although business men complain of dull times. Some lines of goods are slower than last year, but cottons are somewhat dearer, he says.

A Correction.

Mr. W. H. Crowdy wishes us to correct an error as to the ownership of a broken blind horse as mentioned in his letter on cruelty to animals in Saturday's edition, when Mr. Crowdy stated that the horse was imported by Sir W. D. Daint. He has since learned that the animal was imported by another horse fancier.

Steamer Sighted.

The Postal Telegraphs to-day received a message from Cape Bonaville, stating that the ice is two miles off, and that two steamers can be discerned from the Cape. One is supposed to be the Terra Nova, and is about 8 miles to the N.E. The other is probably the Ranger and lies about six miles to the southward.

MORE TERRITORY FOR BRITAIN.

NEW YORK, March 20.
Wrangel Island, one of the most important islands in the Arctic region, has been claimed for Great Britain by a party of three Americans, a Canadian, and four Eskimos, it became known last night, through Vilhjalmr Stefansson, Arctic Explorer, organizer of the expedition. Mr. Stefansson said the British flag had been planted on the island on September 21 last. Stefansson who is a British subject, said his fifth and last Arctic expedition was sent by him for the express purpose of claiming Wrangel Island for the British. Wrangel Island is about the size of Jamaica, lying one hundred miles west of Behring Strait. Strategically the island dominates North Eastern Siberia. Mr. Stefansson said only the leader of the party, Allen Crawford, son of a Toronto University professor, knew of the mission of the expedition.

Seals' Wonderful Noses.

TRAP-DOORS THAT KEEP OUT SAND AND WATER.
Most of us when we go in for diving have the very unpleasant experience of getting our nostrils full of water. Nature did not design man to be a diving animal, otherwise he would have been as clever with his nose as she has been with the seal's.

The seal is, without doubt, the cleverest diver in the animal world, and his nose is a very ingenious contrivance indeed. Each nostril is provided with muscles which close it hermetically at the owner's will. And the shape of the nose is such that when the nostrils are closed not a drop of water can enter.

TERRIBLE DUST STORM.

With seals the closing of the nostrils at the moment of diving has become an automatic process. This is wonderful enough, but we can see a still more remarkable application of the same principle in an animal as far removed from the seal as chalk is from cheese.

The seal is a water animal. The other owner of trap-door nostrils is the camel, an inhabitant of the driest parts of the world, the waterless sandy deserts. Now why should the camel require such an apparatus? He is not troubled with water, but he is troubled with dust; not the dust that we see in this country, but the fierce blinding dust storms of the desert.

These are so violent that tiny particles are driven into the works of even the most finely made watch, which becomes at once clogged and useless. If the camel had not nostrils which were perfectly dusttight, he could never endure the dreadful sand and dust storms.

Do you want your choice of a Suit or Overcoat—cut, made and trimmed in the Spurrell way—at almost your own price? We must have work, even if we don't get profits. SPURRELL the Tailor, 365 Water Street.

Seeking Similar Privileges.

A special meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade was held this forenoon when the matter of the preferential tariff passed some ten days ago by the Jamaica Legislature, was discussed. The meeting decided to request the Government to take steps to procure the same benefits for Newfoundland as has been granted to Canada by this agreement. It is likely that a meeting of the whole trade will be called to give further consideration to the matter.

N. F. Tariff May Be Revised.

COAKER STUDYING TRADE POSSIBILITIES—SAVE US FROM OUR LEADERS.

St. John's, Nfld. (Canadian Press) March 11.—It has been reported for some time that Sir Richard Squires' government plans on revising the customs tariff of Newfoundland during the next session of the House of Assembly, but nothing definite is known. Sir Richard not long since paid a visit to Washington and endeavored to secure favored treatment for a number of Newfoundland products, but the results of his visit remain to be seen. Meantime the United States trade with this country has been doing much better than the trade of Canada, which has fallen off very considerably in recent years.

The date of the next session of the House of Assembly has not yet been fixed. Hon. W. F. Coaker, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has left for Brazil to study trade possibilities there, and he is an important man in the Squires government, the session may be much later than usual this year.
