—The executive committee of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends metat Hamilton the other day. It was decided to extend the order to the other provinces in the Dominion and to Newfoundland, making the C. O. C. F. a Dominion society in future. Ald. W. F. Miss Laird, daughter of Rev. J. G. Laird, of this city, took far greater honors in the recent Provincial University examinations than has yet been reported. She is a student of the first year, and she takes first-class honors in mathematics, English, German, French and Italian. The London Collegiate Institute teachers many will feel proud of the triumphs of this young lady in the higher field. Coming so soon after Miss Laird's matriculation honors, when she took the first scholarship in mathematics and modern languages, these new honors are all the more significant.

-St. Peter's Cathedral was crowded this morning. The marriage of Mr. John O'Flaherty, proprietor of the Wellington House, to Miss Lou Garnier occasioned the interest. Mr. Joshua Garnier, father of the bride, gave the young lady away. Mr. O. R. Brener supported the groom, while Miss Hattie Clarke assisted the bride. Father Tiernan officiated. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was partaken of at the Wellington House. Only a few near relatives and friends of the blissful couple were present. The policeman, however, asserted that Burke came to him and said that five young men were acting in an unbecoming manner. Magistrate Parke recalled Burke, but he adhered to his story. The prisoner was discharged. Thomas Cahill, William street, was arraigned on two charges—one of larceny and one of disorderliness. No evidence was forthcoming in the first accusation, but $2 or three days was the penalty for the other.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Schulte. The bride and groom were got up regardlessly for the occasion, and their un'que and picturesque appearance was the admiration of all who saw them.—[St. Thomas Journal.

get there! The fact is they lost their way, and after scrambling among bogs, bramble-bushes and barbed wire fences they descried the boat starting on its homeward trip. The ladies hailed some passing boatbushes and burbed wire fences they descried the boat starting on Its homeward trip. The ladies halled some passing boatmen, hoping in that way to reach the city, but the oarsmen were either deaf or hardhearted, and no assistance could be got from that quarter. Finally, before starting for a weary tramp along the pipe line road, they decided to endeaver to hail Capt. Foster's boat, and did succeed in attracting the skipper's notice. Now the captain runs his craft on standard (not solar) time, and he is a man of promptitude. Besides, there was no landing-place near by. He was loath to stop. But the sight of three fair ones in distress was too much for the commander's big heart, so he "hove to," and ran the Thames greyhound as near as possible to the river bank. The gang-plank was thrown out and the weary wanderers were speedily, if not ceremoniously, hustled on board. There were no ferns in the basket, and, in the classic language of a bystander, "there are no flies on Capt. Foster."
