

BOARD INSURANCE PLAN A NUISANCE

Officials Say "Insurance Year" Every Three Years Disturbs Equilibrium.

Growing dissatisfaction is showing itself in the board of education with the three-year insurance policy scheme.

The fact that the board has an "insurance year" every three years, with only a small insurance expenditure each year, tends to throw out of the board's estimates from year to year and disturb the equilibrium of the situation to an uncomfortable and unbusinesslike degree.

For instance, last year the board paid out $13,494 for insurance, and this year it will only be $3,474, a difference of $10,000, which sum has to be "found" by paring the estimates unduly elsewhere. Insurance estimates would not have touched as high even as $3,474 except for the fact that it is "bolder year" in the public schools, amounting to $1,800, and insurance in the Central college amounting to $1,464. Insurance on the new addition to the technical school will cost $410.

Last year's insurance on the Tech. school ran to $1,874, and on the public schools to $11,500.

A general protest on the part of the members of the executive committee yesterday, to result in some action being taken in the matter, whereby the insurance companies will write up the board's policies with the estimate being made payable annually instead of every three years.

WOMEN PLAY A BIG PART IN POLITICAL INTRIGUES

Killing of Sofia Senty Leads to Arrest of Bolshevik Agent.

HANGS HERSELF

By WALTER HERSCHELS. Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News.

Sofia, Feb. 21.—The role women are playing in political intrigues is shown by the following story.

A sentry who was mounting guard outside Sofia the other evening warned a casual passer-by to keep away from the barracks. When the latter failed to comply, a quarrel began, which ended by the sentry being shot, but not without giving the alarm to his comrades, who searched unavailingly for the assassin.

They did, however, succeed in capturing the woman who was accompanying him. She was imprisoned and her house searched. In it were found many documents showing the woman was an important agent of the Bolsheviks, and her house was used as a hiding-place by persons wanted by the police.

The woman refused to reveal the name of her companion, but finally hanged herself during the night.

Being of a good family, her death caused a sensation, especially as it is reported that her secretary, Miss L. Panitza, the famous federalist Macedonian gunman. It is suspected that Panitza was implicated in the murder of Nicolas Mileff last Friday, and the police are making every effort to capture him.

POISON GAS DELAYS MINE RESCUE WORK

Working. A flame from a miner's lamp ignited the gas and caused the explosion. Rescuers were hopeful that all of the bodies remaining in the pit would be recovered today.

Sullivan dropped all other pursuits in his efforts to bring solace to the bereaved and alleviate the sufferings of the families of the victims. The local chapter of the Business and Professional Women's club was certain the task of ministering to the needs of stricken families. In four instances fathers and sons were victims. These were Earl and Lex Robertson, Philip and Wayne Walters, Florence and Emil Leacock, and Pearl and Frank Hawze.

The sole survivor of the fifty odd men working near the entries wrecked by the blast was Elmer Davidson. He was coupling cars in the main entry just outside the third and fourth entries.

At the Sullivan hospital, Davidson was recovering today from numerous cuts and bruises. He was taken from the mine by Clarence Foghes and Harry Lewis, who found him buried beneath a pile of slate.

GAS CAUSES EXPLOSION.

Associated Press Despatch.

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 20.—In an explosion of gas that wrought the greatest mine disaster in the history of the Indiana coal fields, 51 men are believed to have been killed almost instantly at 10:45 o'clock this morning in the City Coal Company's mine on the outskirts of this city.

There were 121 miners in the mine at the time of the explosion which entangled the third and fourth entries north where most of the men were at work who were killed. Rescue crews went to work at once and the rescue team of the United States bureau of mines at Vincennes, Ind., reached the scene of the disaster by motor truck one hour after the explosion. They were on the bottom within 35 minutes after arrival.

Believe All Dead.

C. O. Thomas, checkweighman at the mine, the officials of the mine and rescue workers, all were of the opinion that there is no possible chance of the men being alive. Miners who were injured were brought to the surface at once.

The work of bringing out the dead proceeded slowly, the bodies being brought out singly. Rescue workers were handicapped by fumes of gas, which flooded the mine immediately after the explosion.

Tremendous crowds thronged the scene soon after the word of the disaster spread through the town and surrounding communities, and automobiles were parked along the roads leading to the shaft for distances of several miles.

Wives and children of miners employed in the shaft crowded about, seeking information, and groups of weeping, sobbing women and children clustered about as the news was broken that 51 of the men were known to be dead.

A signal to the hoisting engineer was received within three minutes after the explosion, but one of the cages was caught on the bottom by wreckage, and miners were forced to climb into the shaft to the bottom and cut away the wreckage before the hoisting engine could be used. But one cage was being used as a rescue in the work of bringing the bodies to the surface. A row of waiting ambulances removed the dead to the city.

Sheer courage and heroism marked the work of rescuers who braved the deadly fumes of gas and descended time after time into the mine to bring out the dead. Many were overcome and several were carried from the mine.

Women Supply Relief.

Organizations of women of Sullivan were early on the scene and had established a food station for the relief of rescue workers and others. The Red Cross erected a tent early in the afternoon.

Most authentic reports of the disaster were that the explosion occurred when a miner abandoned workings, or a slight cave-in opened old entries in which gas had collected, the miners' lamps setting off the pocket of gas.

The explosion occurred in entries off the main east entry on both sides of which were abandoned entries. Most of the dead were trapped in these entries and in an entry off them.

Death in all instances was caused by burns or suffocation, according to reports from the town and the mine. John M. Lowery of Sullivan, president of the City Coal Company and superintendent of the mine, was on the bottom at the time of the disaster, and was overcome by gas, being carried from the mine.

First reports of the tragedy were that several men had been killed and that about 40 were entombed in an entry. Later reports from the mine officials disclosed however, that the entire 51 men working in the immediate vicinity of the explosion were believed to have been killed almost instantly. As the force of the explosion reached out through the mine it was spent, and the remaining 70 men brought to the top unharmed. Of the missing 41, two were injured, four machine men, two motor men and one probably a trip rider.

After were that the explosion occurred when a miner abandoned workings, or a slight cave-in opened old entries in which gas had collected, the miners' lamps setting off the pocket of gas.

DUTCH TAXES DRIVE TRANSIENTS AWAY

Many Wealthy Americans Leave Holland to Escape Levies.

Special to The Advertiser. Amsterdam, Feb. 21.—Holland has a bad reputation among the countries whose taxes are exceedingly high. It is difficult to make comparisons with those countries who suffered so much from the war, but it is possible to state that the Dutch middle and higher classes are paying about 20 per cent of their income, divided between a state income tax, an inhabitant house tax, and a property tax.

For a long time Amsterdam topped all the other Dutch cities, but a few years ago the taxes in the metropolis were reduced by one-third. Many wealthy American people, however, had already moved to Belgium, France or Italy where the living is much cheaper and taxation much lower.
