

SERIOUS LABOR RIOTS.

Striking Miners at Shenandoah Again Resort to Violence.

Men and Boys Beaten by the Mob—Conflict Between Police and Rioters—Non-Union Workmen at Pittsburgh Shot into a Threatening Mob—Four Persons Wounded.

Shenandoah, Feb. 4.—As anticipated, the riot of last night was renewed this evening, and the manner in which it was gone about leaves no further room for doubt that it is part of an organized plan to compel all miners to lie idle until a general resumption of work takes place. The mere presence of the authorities of preventing any further violence only encouraged the rioting Poles and Hungarians and whetted their appetites for more trouble. During this afternoon the Poles were buying all the revolvers that could be had in town, and were holding meetings at central points for the purpose of agreeing on concerted action. Towards 3 o'clock they began to gather on the small circus grounds south of Kehley Run colliery, on the surrounding hillside and in all the streets, alleys and yards in the vicinity. By 1 o'clock when the gap bell rung, the signal to quit work, there were fully 3,000 men, women and children congregated in waiting for the word. Not all these were Poles, but those in the front rank were, and armed with revolvers, clubs and stones they impatiently looked for the coming of the Kehley Run employees. They regarded the other thousands who stood behind them as passively indorsing their work, if not actively engaged in it. The mob kicked, stoned and beat them as though they had been responsible adults. A few men who braved the mob also met the same fate, and it soon became evident that if the rioters were to be checked at all it must be by the authority of the coal and iron police and cold lead. Suddenly the coal and iron men to the number of twenty-two formed on the flat at a distance of about fifty yards below the breaker, in the very front of the howling mob, who continued to pelt them with stones. As they formed company front with drawn revolvers, heavy and self-cocking weapons, the mob recoiled and stood at bay, its temper temporarily cooled by the knowledge that they were facing death. The part of the crowd which was only there as spectators, drew back to a safe distance. The Poles, however, still remained in the foreground waiting for a move on the part of the officers. The latter, at a command from their leader, made a wheel to the left and marched off along the pike road leading to the east and toward the "Red Bridge," which spans the Lehigh Valley Railroad and connects the Gap colliery with the Indian Ridge. The Poles slowly followed for a while in the rear under the leadership of a big brawny individual, who flourished a large revolver and seemed determined to use it. The platoons of officers marched on up the slight elevation of the road. As they neared the top of the road they were suddenly fired on by a few Poles who had crept along under the shadow of the bank. One of the officers, Oscar Wilman, fell with an ugly wound in the left thigh. The platoons of officers turned and fired repeatedly in the direction of the mob, but without hitting anyone as far as known. The mob returned the fire with vigor and drew back at the same time. The officers marched off again along the railroad, through the bridge and down to Indian Ridge Breaker, where they were quartered in the offices. Part of a mob followed and besieged them there but made no attack. The officers here turned and fired some of the sixteen-shooters. After the shooting had been done Chief Burgess, with a few specials and members of the strikers' Advisory Board, appeared on the scene and succeeded in getting the majority of the crowd, not the combative part, though, to disperse to their homes, and temporary peace was obtained. The worst element of the Poles, however, remained near the Indian Ridge mine waiting for a chance to get at the officers who remained inside. About 5.30 p. m. four carloads of coal and iron police came to town over the Reading Road from Mahanoy Place and other points, and the train was run under the coal street of Indian Ridge breaker, where they remained. There are from only 150 to 200 of the officers in extemporized barracks. The most serious trouble is feared on Monday when Kehley Run and William Penn attempt to resume operations. Bloody work may then be looked for if the strikers threaten a fair gauge of their intentions.

BULLETINS FOR STONES.
Pittsburgh, Pa., February 4.—As was feared, a collision occurred this evening between the non-union men at the Solar Iron Works and the strikers. Three persons were injured, one, a 16-year-old lad named Joseph Kenne, is thought being fatally shot. Shortly after 5 o'clock the non-union men came out of the mine, customarily a rock would be seen shooting into the air and falling into the ranks of the Africans. At this juncture, without any warning whatever, several of the colored men reached for their pockets, and, drawing revolvers, opened fire upon the dense mob around them. Then there was a scene of wild confusion and excitement, terror, rage and pain rang out on the air from the throats of hundreds of angry and excited men. The officers now drew their revolvers also, and rushed among the excited colored men and endeavored to stop the murderous firing. The crowd broke and ran in all directions—across the common into the mills—any place to get out of range of the destructive bullets. The firing lasted six or eight minutes, and between thirty and forty shots had been fired before the officers succeeded in stopping it and hustling the negroes up Twenty-eighth street, where they crossed the bridge and scattered to their homes on the hill. A number of the strikers pursued them, threatening summary vengeance, until they were stopped at Penn avenue by the police, but the colored men made no further demonstrations. The deplorable affair may lead to serious trouble. The strikers were completely taken by surprise, not knowing that the negroes were armed. The excitement among the men is intense, and frequent threats of vengeance upon the negroes are heard.

The last lot I got from you having been tested in several cases of rheumatism, has given relief when other medicines have failed to do any effect. The excellent qualities of this oil should be made known, and the thousands of sufferers throughout the world may benefit by its providential discovery."

FIRE ON BY TROOPS.

Gold Lead for a Riotous Spanish Mob—Ten of Them Killed.

Madrid, Feb. 5.—A dispatch from Huerva states that on Saturday a mob of Rio Tinto miners, now on strike, being ordered to disperse refused to do so, and was fired on by the troops. Several are reported to have been killed and five wounded.

A later dispatch says that ten civilians were killed. The miners had joined the peasants living in the vicinity in protesting against open air meeting. The Civil Governor of Huerva, accompanied by two companies of troops and some civil guards arrived at the scene on Saturday, and found the streets occupied by a threatening mob numbering about 14,000. The Governor spoke from the balcony of the municipal building and tried to restore order, but the crowd drowned his voice with shouts and fired pistols and three dynamite cartridges at the soldiers. The troops were ordered to fire and the crowd was finally dispersed. Two soldiers were wounded.

Fatal Railway Wreck.
Jonestown, N. Y., February 5.—This morning the New York express on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Railroad met with a serious accident at the little village of Steamburg, resulting fatally to one passenger, Miss Hattie Abbott, aged 17, and to a conductor and brakeman. Eleven persons are injured, one probably fatally. The accident was caused by the breaking of a frog. The engine and baggage car passed safely over the frog, which it is supposed was broken by the engine running over it. The ladies' coach and Pullman car left the track and ran about two hundred feet over the ties, dashing into the caboose of a freight train which had just before taken the siding. The rear trucks of both the baggage car and snorter also left the track.
