Most readers would prchably notice, that the Provincial Auditor General, Mr. W. A. Loudoun, has made what is probably a fine audit of the financial affairs a Campbellton in connection with the late fire. The total relief sent into the town and which passed into the hands of the Public Committee amounted to $193,440,62. Of this amount the grant of $70,000 made by the Dominion government in aid of the burned town was wisely applied to the purpose of prote ting the bonds and preserving the public credit, a stroke itemized expenditures on building account, grants in cash, and in various other ways, the sum of $9,243,85 was transferred to the town special poor fund. Campbelton came out of the great disaster in much better form than at one time appeared possible. Its loss, as estimated by the insurance companies, was $2,500,000. It received $1,400,000 insurance, the $193. grants which were not included in the general statement. The loss was relatively heavy, but the conditions enabled the work of con struction to go on speedily; and to this the late government contributed through its railroad and other departments so that the work of restoration went on effectively, and all who wanted work got it promptly. The citizens, too, show ed incree and energy. Fires are not to be approved, but the new Campbellton is better than the old
