The Boyle String at Hamilton. Hamilton, April 16.—Charles Boyle and his son, the two popular horsemen from Woodstock, arrived in the city yesterday, Charles Boyle, jr., accompanying the horses down. The thoroughbreds as they left the cars presented a magnificent sight, their appearance indicatnificent sight, their appearance indicat-ing that they had wintered well and were fit to be prepared for their spring work. Few of the string have been blanketed all winter, and that they are so fit is an indication of the ability of the Boyles to handle horses.
