Chateau Frontenac Team Leader's Long Journey

Mountie, veteran husky, leading the team, outside Chateau Frontenac. Inset, Mountie.

A breath from the freezing winds of the Canadian Arctic, with something of its loneliness, its savagery, its call upon the elemental qualities of courage and endurance and a dash of the romance of the long trails are embodied in Mountie, veteran hero of the wilderness and new leader of the Chateau Frontenac dog-team at Quebec.

Mountie is a husky, in other words, part wolf and his wolf strain shows itself in his handsome head, with its sharp ears and nose, its steel-hard, flaming eyes, its gleaming fangs and its great ruff of fur. He is a dark grey giant, almost one hundred weight of muscle, bone and sinew, ferocity, grim determination and unwavering fidelity. He was born away up within the Arctic Circle, at Lac-du-Brochet, bought in 1919, when very young, by Sergeant Grennan of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and trained by him. He put in nearly five years as a member of that famous force, running patrols on His Majesty's Service with the red-coated heroes of the waste.

The journey from Le Pas, in Northern Manitoba, where he was purchased, to Quebec, a distance of well over two thousand miles, was an exciting and extraordinary experience for Mountie. He spent Christmas Day at Winnipeg, where the kind-hearted officials of the Canadian Pacific offered him seasonal fare, which he did not like much, except as a dessert following a meal of his accustomed fish and biscuits. He made friends with the baggage men, who were more than sorry to part with him. At Montreal, he had a day's rest and there adjusted himself comparatively easily to the strange turmoil of the great city. His driver, Arthur Beauvais, an Indian from Caughnawaga, took him for a short stroll through the streets, where he created a tremendous sensation. Ard no wonder, for Beauvais says he is without exception the finest husky he has ever seen, while the Mounted Police report that he has always been greatly admired wherever he has been, both for his appearance and his capacities.

Now he is at the Chateau Frontenac, working comparatively easily at giving visitors a ride and is one of the big attractions of winter-time Quebec and will no doubt shine brilliantly at the forthcoming carnival there.

EAST WILLIAMS FARMERS' MUTUAL

The auditor's report, presented at the annual meeting of the East Williams Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held in Nairn, on Monday, Jan. 28, shows the company to be in excellent financial condition. The losses by fire during the past year amounted to only $123. The company has 577 policies in force, covering a risk of $1,368,373. The fine showing of the company is a great credit to the management and all concerned.

LOBO FARMERS' MUTUAL

The annual meeting of the policy holders of the Lobo Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held in the town hall, Coldstream, on Friday, Jan. 18. The auditors' report shows receipts of $11,254.91 for the past year; disbursements, including $891.50 paid for fire losses, $8,517.59; leaving a balance of $2,737.32. The company has assets amounting to $244,633.86; 776 policies in force with risk of $2,536,078. These figures speak more eloquently than words of the fine condition of the company.

FOREST AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY HOLD MEETING

The adjourned annual meeting of the Forest Agricultural Society was held in the council chamber Forest, on Monday afternoon Jan. 28, with a good attendance.

Before the general meeting the board of directors for 1923 held a short session. The treasurers financial report showed a balance on hand of $59.93. The report was adopted.

A letter from the militia department, London, was read together with a statement of the cost of repairs to the armories, other than the roof repairs, amounting to $151.03.

John Farrell gave a report of the district meeting held in Strathroy and gave the dates arranged for the fall fairs.

The annual meeting of the 1924 members was opened with Robert Hair, the retiring president in the chair, and about forty members present. The secretary reported a total of 66 paid up members. The matter of holding a spring show and also of field competitions were referred to the new board of directors, as was also the matter of departmental judges. John Farrell was appointed delegate to the Provincial Fairs Association.

Officers and directors for 1924 are: Honorary president, Robert Hair; president, J. C. O'Donnell; first vice-president, Earl Brand; second vice-president, W. K. Janes; third vice-president, Caleb Rawlings; auditors, J. F. Brush and J.M. McKenzie; directors, Forest, Samuel Bailey, John McPherson and C. W. Stuart; Bosanquet, E. M. Lester, R. W. Stutt and John Vivian; Plympton, Arch McKinlay, H. A. Taylor and R. W. McLaren; Warwick, Robert Brandon, Adam Kent and M. D. Campbell.

Advisory directors: James A. Whyte as treasurer and H. J. Petty as secretary.

It was decided to hold a spring horse show on May 2, and Messrs. Bailey, Brand and Rawlings were appointed as a special committee to make arrangements.

THE LEVEL AND THE SQUARE.

We meet upon the level and we part upon the square,
What words of precious meaning those words Masonic are!
Come, let us contemplate them, they are worthy of a thought.
In the very soul of Masonry these precious words are wrought.

We meet upon the level, though from every station come,
The rich man from his mansion and the poor man from his home.
For the one must leave his heritage outside the Mason's door,
While the other finds his best respect upon the checkered floor.

We part upon the square, for the world must have its due,
We mingle with the multitude—a faithful band and true.
But the influence of our gatherings in memory is green,
And we long upon the level, to renew the happy scene.

There's a world, where all are equal, we are journeying toward it fast,
We shall meet upon the level there when the gates of Death are past.
We shall stand before the Orient, and our Master will be there,
To try the blocks we offer with His own unerring square.

We shall meet upon the level there, but never thence depart.
There's a mansion—'tis all ready for each faithful, trusting heart.
There's a mansion and a welcome, and a multitude is there,
Who have met upon the level and been tried upon the square.

Let us meet upon the level, then, while laboring patient here,
Let us meet and let us labor, though the labor be severe:
Already in the western sky, the signs bid us prepare
To gather up our working tools and part upon the square.

Hands round ye faithful Masons in the bright, fraternal chain!
We part upon the square below to meet in Heaven again.
O! what words of precious meaning those words Masonic are.
We meet upon the level, and we part upon the square.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR FUR COAT LAST LONGER

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—"Fur-wearing women should imitate fur-bearing animals in the care of their coats," declares Miss Hazel Manning of the home economics department of the University of Wisconsin. She says the life of a fur coat may be prolonged several years with proper care.

"An animal always shakes its fur vigorously after it has been out in the rain or snow—which is exactly what the women should do who is wearing the animal's coat. The coat should then be hung on a padded hangers and allowed to dry slowly," she points out.

"Animals also are their own dry cleaners. They use the simple and effective method of rubbing sand thoroughly into their fur by rolling in it. The owner of a fur coat may clean hers by thoroughly rubbing similar materials into it."

Hot bran, sand or cedar and mahogany sawdust may be used for dark-colored furs. White corn meal, salt, Fuller's earth, cornstarch or powdered magnesia will clean white furs. The material should be rubbed thoroughly into the fur. It is removed by whipping with two pliable, smooth sticks, after which the fur is brushed with a clothes brush or furrier's comb.

"A fur coat may be mended at home, but a furrier's needle should be used as it does not tear the skins as easily as a sewing needle. Mercerized cotton thread is good to use."
