

The original text of the Convention was authenticated on 30 August 1946 by the signatures of Henry M. Jackson, President of the Conference, and Edward J. Phelan, Director of the International Labour Office.

The Convention had not come into force on 1 January 1947.

IN FAITH WHEREOF I have, in pursuance of the provisions of Article 6 of the Final Articles Revision Convention, 1946, authenticated with my signature this thirty-first day of August 1948 two original copies of the text of the Convention as modified.

Edward PHELAN
Director-General of the International Labour Office.

Article 11

The Director-General of the International Labour Office, in accordance with the provisions of Article 10 of the Convention, shall, at the request of any Member State, submit to the Conference a report on the progress of the work of the Convention in that State.

Article 12

The Convention shall remain in force for a period of five years from the date of its entry into force, and shall thereafter continue in force for successive periods of five years, unless it is terminated in accordance with the provisions of Article 13.

Article 13

1. In any case where the Conference decides to amend the Convention, the amendments shall be adopted by a two-thirds majority of the Members present and voting. The amendments shall be subject to the same procedure as the Convention itself.

Article 14

The Convention shall be authenticated in the original text in French, English and Spanish, the three texts being equally authoritative. In the event of any discrepancy between the texts, the French text shall prevail.
