Government Entrenched for Twenty-Five Years Overturned by Great Wave of Public Sentiment Opposition Make Clean Sweep in St. John.

RESULT A PERSONAL DEFEAT FOR PUGSLEY

PREMIER EXPLAINS.

In reply to a request from The World for a statement, Premier Robinson wired:

"Moncton, N.B., Mar. 3. "The result of the New Brunswick election is explained by the fact that a succession of events contributed to influence

"The recent change of premiers, the unpopularity of the Road Act, the opposition of a section of the Liberals, headed by Morrisey, Hazen's promise of cheaper school books, and the desire of many to give the opposition a chance after 25 years, all affected the result. In this county we ran a pure election on both sides, and the government won in other counties. Probably the campaign was not left to be decided by prayers alone. (Signed) "C. W. Robinson.

Premier Reads Letter in House of Commons Announcing Visit of England's Future King.

WILL BE IN CANADA FOR ONE WEEK ONLY

OTTAWA, March 3.-(Special.)-His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will come to Canada to attend the tercentenary celebration of the founding of Quebec. He has however stipulated that the event take place during the last week of July.

Sir Wilfrid Lauries made the announcement in the house to-night, in moving the second reading of the bill to appropriate $300,000 for the Quebec battlefields scheme.

JOHN DOUGLAS HAZEN, B.A., B.C.L., leader of the victorious opposition, comes from Eurlish ancestors, who settled in Massachusetts, and then in New Brunswick in 1775. He was born at Oromocto, June 6, 1860, and received a university education, and later was secretary-treasurer and a member of the senate. In 1883 he was called to the bar, He was alderman in Fredericton for three years, and mayor two years. Removing in 1890 to St. John' he was elected to the house of commons in 1891, but defeated in 1896. In 1899 he was elected to the legislature, and re-elected in 1903, becoming the party's leader. Speaking to his resolution, the prime minister said the idea of preserving the battlefields of Quebec had impressed itself upon the minds of the people and has been received with universal

In connection with the tercentenary of Quebec, he paid a tribute to the memory of Champlain and said the oc-casion seemed appropriate to recall the last stages of the long struggle which was maintained between France and England on this continent, and to dedicate and consecrate the ground which has been hallowed by the blood of so many noble men, who gave their lives for the respective causes in which they were engaged.

The prime minister then read the following letter from Earl Grey:

SUIT DEPENDS ON ACTS OF OMISSION

The meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank to determine, particularly, whether or not the action of the bank to recover a million or more from the ex-directors, will be pressed to a conclusion, will be held this afternoon. Indications are that the suit will go on. A motion will be proposed by Cephas Goode, who holds numerous proxies, that bank funds be used for the prosecution of this

Meanwhile the bank has taken steps to oppose the application of the defendants, Messrs. Cockburn, Perry, Harcourt, Grass, Walmsley and Flett, for an order striking out the jury notice and directing that the case be transferred to the non-jury sittings.

In support of the bank's contention an affidavit by A. D. Braithwaite, general manager of the Ontario Bank, was ready for presentation, in which Mr. Braithwaite says that the claim against the defendants is in respect of losses by the bank; (a) by dividends paid out of capital; (b) by speculative investments; (c) by purchasing shares in the capital stock of the bank itself.

"As to the losses by speculative investments, proof will neither be difficult nor intricate. . . The books of the bank show the investments on the Continent of public works, who has been camping in the province for the last week, speaking several times.
