Poll, Received the Glad Hand From Many of Hand From Many of His Friends Today.

Many congratulatory remarks were heard yesterday and today about the enterprise shown by the "Times" in giving the election returns to the citizens. The wishes of her parents, to the Count wishes of her parents, to the Count with the election. The successful candidates were all given the "glad hand" and warm congratulations, while the defeated ones came in for sympathetic remarks.

Alderman "Charlie" Tilley, who has been a well-know figure at the council board for a considerable length of time and who by reason of his retirement from active business life, spent much of his time around City Hall, will probably be missed more than any of the others who were left behind. A great many of his friends on this side of the harbor express-ed their regret that he had been defeated, when a few votes in his favor would have won the day. The alderman took his defeat in good spirit, however, and remarks.

Alderman J. H. Frink, who appeared on Prince William street fairly early, was continually "held up" to receive congratulations on his splendid showing, he havcontest for alderman at large. Members of the council who were associated with him two years ago, greeted him as the prodigal son returned.

To J. King Kelley and H. L. McGowan the hand of congratulation was also extended, and E. M. Spragg was likewise kept busy by his north end friends.

Already there is some talk among the aldermen as to the constitution of the various boards for the ensuing year. The advent of three new men whose capabilities in civic affairs have yet to be learned, and the return of two men who have served before, will, it is thought, be the subject of considerable manoeuvring in framing up the boards.

It is generally understood that Dr. Frink will be given the chairmanship of the ferry board, and, if possible, arrangements will be made to give him a seat in the board of works, as it is believed he would be a valuable sequisition to the board. With regard to the other new men no special places have yet been considered for them.

At 10 o'clock a special thanksgiving service was held in the church when the church her chief in the church was held in the church when the church and the present entation of the tidennial thank-offering for the Pan-Anglican Congress took place and an address on mission work was given by the rector, Rev. Yesterday, afternoon's session of the Woman's Auxiliary opened at 2.30 o'clock, when the treasurer's report was presented. There was quite a discussion on pledges, and then followed an interesting paper on "Missionary Work in Chapleau" by Mrs. C. Coster.

WORKING TOWARD

There was a meeting of senators and members of parliament today, called by Senatod Dandurand, who, after explaining that branch of the inter-parliamentary conference union, was elected to the chair. Sufficent signatures were obtained and a telegram will be prepared and sent to Earl Grey, in New York, telling him that a branch of the parliamentary union has been organized here. One of the benefits of this will be to secure a meeting of the inter-parliamentary peace conference in Canada. The inter-parliamentary union is regarded as a practical step in the direction of international peace.

Senator Domville, who attended the last conference in London, said that Canada, was included in the list of foreign countries.
