BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmether's Old Faver
ite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Now-adays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of where ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one tan possibly tell that you darkened your pair, as it does it so naturally and even to the children attending Victoria anneat this year have been enjoying short. bont tan possibly tell that you darkened your pair, as it does it so naturally and eventy. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of discovered as the work is nearly completed.

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of saxolite and witch hazel has a remarkable action upon the deepest wrinkles, no matter what their nature, whether caused by worry, habitust frowning, a debilitated condition or the ravages of Father Time. This harmless remedy, which anyone can easily make and use at home, acts both as an aastrongent and a tonic. The combined effect of tightening the skin and heightening its vitality is to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smeeth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce saxolite (powdered) to one half pint witch hazel, ingredients which are found in every drugstore. The solution should be used as a wash lotton. It is equally effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck as well as sagging below the eyes. close her lips and cease singing and the audience will hardly realize that she is silent. American Training Camp in France, Sept. 27—The Paris correspondent of Reuter's, Limited, writes an account of Reuter's, Limited, writes an account of his recent visit to the training camps of the American Expeditionary Force, partly as follows:—I asked an English drill sergeant, who had just given a bunch of sixteen American subalterns a breathing spell after some particularly strenuous exercises, what he thought of his charges.

"What do I think of these 'ere young gentlemen, sir? Why, sir, we've just had 'em in six days and look at 'em. They're training on beautiful."

We stood later on a hillside while the divisional commander pointed out where there had been constructed in a dip three short lines of trenches, ending at a rise some hundred yards off. "Those points you see in the sun on the opposite slope," he said, "are tin cans on sticks. You will know their use in a minute or two."

"Ready, gentiemen," said the drill sergeant.

"Prepare for trench bayonet practice by half sections. You're to take these three lines of trenches, lay out every Boche in the lot and then get to cover and fire six rounds at them 'ere tin 'ats. Don't waste a shot, gentlemen, every bullet a Boche. Now, then, ready. Over the top and give them 'ell

They ran some ten yards and dug their bayonets savagely into dummy Germans, made of sacks, who swung in the wind to meet them, and disappeared in the first trench. We could see the rifle butts lift and fall as they lunged desperately at the supposed enemies. Then they came, and on again until we could see them spread-eagled behind a shallow trench, blazing away at the cans which rattled down. Then as they marched back the second section got ready to begin its stunt. Play in Between,

Illuminating Comment,

'E's got 'ears all down his back. We taught 'em that trick, so see that your feet are pneumatic and for 'eaven's sake, don't sneeze, or his nibs will sling you a bomb like winkin' and there'll be a narsty mess. "Ready Number 1. 'Ead down, bayonet up. Its no use sticking out your neck to try 10 get sight of Fritz in his 'ole. Why, if old Fritz was there 'ed just down your joint, and 'e's no dub, is Fritz.

To ease 'em up a bit between real work,' the sergeant explained, "we give 'em games, but each of these 'ere games is meant to teach 'em something. We let 'em laugh and joke, but they must keep their minds on the game or we tell 'em a thing."

So they played a game designed to teach concentration of thought on the exact words of command. The sergeant began:—"When I begin a command with the words, 'O'Grady says,' you obey it. When I don't, you stand stiff. O'Grady says eyes right! O'Grady says left turn—front! There you are, four of you gone to sleep. Get back and touch the post in that wire-fencing behind you and then keep your eye skinned for O'Grady."

It was a merry game, but behind all its fun and laughter one could see its serious purpose and the fine young fellows who played it knew it better than we.

An Interesting Sight.
