

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO 17 FOR BLIZZARD

Sackville, N. B., the members of the crew were his brother, Irving Tower, also of Sackville, N. B.; Thomas Green, Port Loring, N. S.; Albert Veenberg, Saint John, N. B.; James McCarthy, Dorchester, Mass.; John Ruane, Dorchester, Mass.; and Leslie White, Hager, N. B.

Coastguard officials were of the opinion that the schooner would be a total loss. She was apparently hard and fast in the sand and battered by the heavy waves in danger of breaking up.

IN MARITIMES.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 7.—Under a cloudless sky the people of the Maritime Provinces were today digging themselves out of the snow drifts piled up by the northeaster that swept the North Atlantic seaboard over the week-end, carrying untold damage to shipping in its wake. Communications were gradually being restored and the transportation service was again functioning at something approaching normal.

The schooner Thelma was added this morning to the list of those succumbing to the storm. She was driven ashore Saturday night near West River bridge, Prince Edward Island, it was reported today and her crew of three after a thrilling experience in reaching shore, were forced to walk twelve miles through the storm to shelter.

Fears for the safety of the coastal steamer Chedabucto which sailed from Sheet Harbor for Halifax, Sunday night, in the teeth of the storm, were allayed this morning on her arrival in port. She had put to sea and ridden out the storm.

SHIPS RELEASED

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 7.—The entire upbound fleet of coal carriers, trapped in the ice here since December 1, was moving at 11 o'clock this morning, the United States coast-guard announced.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Dec. 7.—The Coastguard patrol boat C. G. 237, after an all night search in the face of the howling gale, early yesterday morning effected the rescue of three fishermen who had been marooned on the sandbar off Egg Island since early yesterday.

SYDNEY, Dec. 7.—The steamer, Emperor of Saint John, well known in this port, was nearly ashore today at Cape George, near the Northern entrance to the Strait of Canso, according to a wireless message received early this morning by Vincent Mullins, local agent of the department of Marine and Fisheries. The message stated that the ship was in latitude 45.38 north, longitude 61.52 west. She had all her chains out and was just touching a soft bottom. If her anchors held they would be all right, the message stated.

The Emperor of Saint John was formerly a unit of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine and has been for some time engaged in the St. Lawrence Gulf and West Indies trade, under private ownership.

On arrival at Windsor Station, Mayor Martin was presented to His Royal Highness, and the two conversed in the drawing room of the private car.

E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, boarded the private car after Mayor Martin had taken his departure, and spent some time in conversation with the Prince.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE TO VESSELS

along the barge canal. A passage-way was broken through yesterday, but, rather than risk being frozen in the canal, skippers had their craft towed back into the harbor in Lake Champlain.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—No deaths were reported at sea or inland waters, although there was considerable damage to shipping. Fourteen steamers were icebound in the St. Lawrence River in Quebec, fourteen vessels were wrecked off Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and fishing and barge fleets in several ports were badly crippled.

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 7.—The steamer Palmoth of the Eastern Steamship Lines, New York to Portland, came into port last night 20 hours late, after a hard battle with the elements. The vessel was forced to spend ten hours near Vineyard Haven riding out a northeasterly gale. The captain's desk was torn from the bulkhead, furniture was hurled about, windows of the pilot house were so coated with ice that they could not be seen through, and a thick layer of ice covered the vessel. A gliding snow prevented a sight of the forecastle most of the way.

ST. PIERRE, Mich., Dec. 7.—The German steamer Totila, which ran on the rocks on the south coast of Langlade last Thursday, has been abandoned by the captain and crew. An easterly gale was blowing today and it was predicted that the destruction of the steamer probably would result. The crew escaped from the vessel without serious mishap but refused to abandon hope that the ship might be floated and returned to the vessel.

TO TAX BACHELORS.
ROME, Dec. 7.—A spinster may be single because she cannot help it, but a bachelor has no such excuse and must be taxed for his choice of the single life, the Italian cabinet decided today.

Minister Talks Gospel Over Glass of Beer
LONDON, Dec. 7.—The Rev. A. W. Barker, vicar of St. Mary Magdalene church, in a London working class district, believes in taking the church to the public house and talking conversion over a casual glass of beer. On this account he has become known as the "Publican's Bishop," of which title he is very proud.

"If my parishioners won't come to church, the only thing I can do is to take the church to them, which I do nearly every day in the year," says the vicar. "I have always found that people are much more willing to fall into a religious discussion over a glass of beer in a public house than in any other environment."

The vicar contends that a minister may talk religion as well in a public house as in a church.
