DR. R. C. RUDDICK DEAD IN WEST

Former Port Physician Here Passes Away Suddenly in Saskatchewan.

Many friends in St. John will be sorry to learn of the sudden death in Edmonton, Sask., on Tuesday, of Dr. Robert C. Ruddick, formerly of this city. No particulars have been received yet as to the cause of death, but he had left St. John some months ago on account of ill health. Dr. Ruddick was born in St. Martins and practised his profession there for some years. He was port physician at Partridge Island for thirteen years and retired from this position a year ago last March. He was greatly esteemed by the people of the county and province and served two terms in the provincial legislature as a representative of St. John county. His wife died three years ago. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Coburn, wife of Dr. Garnet Coburn, of Edmonton, and one son, Dr. William Ruddick of Montreal. The body will be brought home for burial.

STILL NO WORD OF SADIE McAULEY

Sergeant Detective Power and his staff again diligently searched the woods in the rear of Douglas avenue and the waters about Marble Cove yesterday afternoon in effort to find some trace of little Sadie McAuley, who went picking berries there on Tuesday at noon and has since not been seen or heard from. The detectives agree that it would be almost impossible for the little girl to be drowned there as the water is very shallow at the shores of the cove it is a considerable distance from where they were picking berries to the falls. They are sparing no effort in an endeavor to locate the man mentioned by Ethel Levine, who she says took Sadie McAuley away down the road where she could get larger berries.

This afternoon the detectives will continue their search assisted by Boy Scouts and volunteers.

THE RENFORTH PROGRAMME IS LOOMING BIG

Four-oared Event to be One of Prime Interest Among Many Good Features.

Aside from the intense interest the people of St. John and the maritime provinces are evincing in the homecoming of Captain Hilton Belyea and his appearances at the coming jubilee at Renforth, the event that seems to be creating the most comment is the well-filled four-oared maritime championship in which it is practically assured the challenge will be met by the crew of the Halifax Northwest Arm, Halifax St. Mary's, possibly West St. John and most certainly the Renforth club will have speedy crews.

The Renforth crew is the present holder of the tri-provinces championship. It is well remembered how they romped away with it on Courtenay Bay last year and judging from the clip they were cutting on the Kennebecis between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning they are rounding into prime condition for a strenuous defence of the title.

The Renforths are a somewhat different crew this year, composed of Pierce Watson, James Fleming, Don Armstrong and George Wetmore, stroke. Captain Wetmore says it is the best combination he has yet gotten together and feels perfectly well satisfied with the placement of his men and their jump in performance.

In Halifax two years ago the Renforths were beaten by the sister city crew, but stroke Wetmore attributes this to their more correct steering saying that his boat described a serpentine movement losing water continually, but crossing the line with ten feet of his boat edging onto the winner. This makes the Renforth people ready to back their boys to hold the title won from allcomers, Halifax included, last season.

It is reported that Hilton Belyea will stroke the "Belyea" crew to row under Millidgeville colors and the word is that the Northport and Millidgeville Club of Halifax will have two four-oared shells in the big event. With such an array of keen rivals—even between the Haligonian clubs themselves the fifteenth anniversary of the great Renforth race will be worthily observed.

Then again the youngsters are going to have a royal battle. Renforth has a boys' four-oared boat and Millidgeville will be a sharp contender with a quartette of juveniles who have been training for a contest in this event too.

Add to these races the double, singles and multiple events and the sport-lover has a programme varied enough, inter-ethnic enough and colored with championships enough to make the heart doubly glad; to say nothing of our own Hilton Belyea, Bobby Belyea and the general celebration of the Paris crew's golden jubilee.

Treasurer C. F. Sanford of Harbottle, Sanford and Harrison and Collector A. G. Hainnie are still grateful for cash donations to the jubilee fund so that the boatmen's expenses for uniforms, medals and general operating expenses may be met and the whole gala event—soaring to being thousands to tow—will not wind up with one of these disheartening deficits, which tend to diminish enthusiasm.

EVIDENCE IN CASE OF FALSE ALARM

A Midnight Pursuit and a Hearing in the Police Court.

In the police court this morning Lloyd B. Ricker was charged with ringing in a false alarm last midnight from box 12. He pleaded not guilty. Some evidence was taken and the accused remanded until this afternoon.

Alexander Lesser testified that he was in Waterloo street last night about twelve o'clock and that he had heard a call, "catch him" come from William Donahue's stable, and had seen the accused running pursued by eight or ten men. He had picked it up. Later in the night he had been asked to identify the accused and had done so. He had not seen the accused ring in the alarm, but was sure that he was the man who had been pursued. A police station the accused had told Detective Saunders that he owned the stable, which was produced in court. To the accused the witness said that he had seen an automobile in front of the Regal Film Co., but had not noticed two men standing in the door of a grocery store nearby. He had been standing at the corner of Peters street and Waterloo street.

This evidence was corroborated by Detective Saunders. To the previous evidence he added that he had seen a crowd pass him and that later William Donahue and Frank Garnett had come back with the accused. The witness and Policeman Chisholm had taken him to the police station. Mr. Lesser had had a two-foot rule to him and had told him it had fallen out of the accused's pocket. The accused had said that it was his rule. To the accused he said that he had not heard that the crowd had chased another man and then dropped back.

A man named Whelpley said that he had been sitting in the office at Donahue's stable and that Donahue had called him to the door. Donahue had said to him: "Do you suppose that fellow is going to pull the hook?" The man at the post on which the fire alarm box was hung had walked away from the box and then returned to it. He identified the accused as the man who had been at the post. Immediately after he had seen the man at the post he had heard the alarm.

To J. Starr "Pat" for the accused, the witness said he could not positively identify the accused as the man pursued by the crowd. He could not swear that the accused had pulled the hook. To Detective Power he said he had seen the man's hand go to the box and then come down, and just after that he had heard the alarm. The accused had walked up the street and Mr. Donahue had gone after him and asked him if he had pulled the hook. The accused had denied pulling the hook. Mr. Donahue had tried to seize him and he had run across the street and down Waterloo toward Union.
