AMDUR'S SALE, EAST AND WEST

Opens With Splendid Results;
People Prepare for the Royal
Visit

Andur's confidence in the shoppers of Greater St. John was amply justified today on the occasion of their opening for the clearing out of their summer stocks of ladies' and men's wear. Buying was brisk from the time the doors of the Andur centres in East and West St. John were swung back sharply at 9 o'clock and groups of people inspecting, investigating and purchasing were forming and departing constantly.

Early indications were that the success of the big sale was assured and before noon there was reason to assume that the record established at the last Andur bargain period would be smashed by a comfortable margin.

The coming royal visit evidently determined the ladies to call for considerable quantities of clothing, suitable for the holidays of August 14 and 15, and in this department Andur's are singularly fortunate in having secured splendid offerings from the Canadian metropolitan centres. Now is the time to purchase theory for the prince's reception, as prices are certain to advance just prior to the arrival of the royal party.

The influence of the preparation for the provincial welcome to the returned soldiers was also appreciated at the Andur annual clearance sale, in that the younger set were, markedly in evidence at the morning and early afternoon period of the initial sale-day.

Recognition of the return of St. John to aquatics was also noticed at the Andur business centres in East and West St. John. Sweaters, sport shirts and other articles of dress suitable for boating were being quickly snapped by girls and women.

In the men's department the sale offers remarkable bargains. Here outing shirts, dress shirts, socks, ties and other articles of dress suitable for boating are being quickly snapped by girls and women.

St. John is afforded a grand opportunity properly to prepare, in clothing and in decorations for the homes, for the welcome and reception of all returned soldiers on August 14 next and for the royal welcome on August 15 next. In addition, supplies for the remainder of this summer and for the high price period of next summer may now be obtained at rock-bottom prices.

Andur's are ready, east and west, with new goods, new styles and record low prices. Buy early to economize in time; buy generously eventually to economize in money.

Andur's are ready with special staffs of clerks; Andur's are waiting with splendid lots of goods. The prices at which the summer stock is being rapidly cleared out will not permit of any delay. The duty of the shopper is obvious.

People who usually do not attend sales would do well closely to watch the sales and carefully to read the Andur advertisements during the summer clearance sale period. There are to be sales within the big sale; or special sales at prices based on the sale prices.

Keep closely in touch with Andur's; visit the store; inspect and closely examine the goods; note the prices. It costs nothing to investigate and east and west Andur's are located in central and commanding positions.

Opportunities such as Andur's offer do not thump very often at the door. Go to Andur's today—and watch the papers.

OF LOYALIST DESCENT

Hardland Observer.—The death of James Rufus Fowler occurred at his home, Lakeville, Carleton county, on July 6. Mr. Fowler was born at Upham, Kings county, September 23, 1846, and was the youngest son of the late James Rufus Fowler and Rachel Melick, direct descendants of the United Empire Loyalists. Mr. Fowler set up a blacksmith business in Lakeville more than forty-five years ago, and was in his younger days considered the best horse-shoer in that part of the country. He was also favorably known as the sweet singer of Lakeville, having led the choir for many years. He was a life long Conservative and a Methodist in religion. At the time of his death he was superintendent of the Union Sunday school of Lakeville.

NEW HEAD OF BOSTON COLLEGE

Boston Globe)
Rev. Fr. William Devlin, S. J., was yesterday appointed president of Boston College, Chestnut Hill, to succeed Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J.
Rev. Fr. Devlin is a native of New York city, where he was born Dec. 15, 1873. His early studies were at the Jesuit College, Stonyhurst, Eng. He entered the Jesuit order Sept. 24, 1893, and continued his studies at Frederick, Md. and at Woodstock, Md. He was ordained to the priesthood in July, 1918.

For the last year Rev. Fr. Devlin has been dean of Boston College, but for eleven years past he has held a professorship there, four of those years being prior to his ordination, when he held the chair of philosophy.

Ex-Pres. Lyons, whom Rev. Fr. Devlin succeeds has been transferred to the Church of Ignatius Loyola, New York city.

JURY FINDS ONTARIO FARMER JUSTIFIED IN KILLING MAN

Collingwood, Ont., July 23.—That Amos Sherrick, a farmer who shot and killed John Mooney in a pig sty on the Sherrick farm early last week and died a few hours afterwards from shock was justified in his action was the decision of a coroner's jury here last night.
