Neighbors Send for Them instead of the Doctor.

Little Gaspe, Que., Jan. 11, 1887.

W. H. COMSTOCK.

SIR.—I have been selling your medicine for sometime and have used no other in my family since. All the neighbors in this section, "when they are taken sick" send for MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS instead of for the Doctor.

Yours Truly,

doses of ignorance and professional mistakes, or recount to you a few of the numberless instances we have known of unintentional slow poisoning by quieting syrups, White Calomel and White Antimony, wherein the first dose taken has been perceptibly the first downward step toward the poor little innocent's grave! Or could we exhibit to you the various little blanched bodies, mentally drained (calf-like) of their life's blood by lancet or leech, we undoubtedly think each anxious mother would immediately resolve never to forego the above three rules.

The theme of this little book is the necessity of mothers themselves becoming their children's only doctor, and its object the safety of the little Earth Angels who rest in their bosoms.

Once more we earnestly would entreat you not to permit the present medical mania for prescribing mineral poisons and deadly drugs to find a victim among your little flock, nor allow any man's hobby of pet poisons to sacrifice the life of your helpless, confiding child, who until its reason can act, looks solely to you to protect it from every harm.

And now, gentle reader, let us urge you carefully to read through several times the following pages, and you will then know as much, nay, more, about worms affecting children, and how to cure them, than many of the professed doctors, and, being likewise nurses, will be much better able to save life.
