LABOR CANDIDATES

Inions Have Men in View-They are Hampered by Legal Qualifications for Aldermen.

At the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night the matter of bringing out labor candidates for the common council was not brought up, owing to pressure of other business. A special meeting of the council, however, has been called for next Thursday night, when that along with other matters of importance will receive at-

Kelly walked lame—at times—but when he was chased by Officer Rolston the limp vanished and he developed into a sprinter. He was arrested on Prince William street after a long run, between eight and nine o'clock last night, Kelly says he belonged originally to St. John, but has not been here since 1887. He is twenty-three years of age and has evidently been living on charity for some time. Today he whined for leniency but was given one month for drunkenness and six months with hard labor for beer ging.

The labor people have experienced some difficulty in securing properly qualified men from among themselves, and for the completion of their ticket they may be compelled to go outside of their unions. They have a number of well known outside men in view, who they think would make good aldermen.

If the present qualifications which are required in those who offer themselves for the position of aldermen were abolished the difficulty of bringing out labor candidates would be obviated. The labor people then would not be hampered in choosing fit candidates. Two or three sessions ago of the provincial house an attempt was made to have the qualifications done away with, but it was vigorously opposed by the
