James Hanna, milk-dealer, of Military Lane, was surprised to find last night that the tail of one of his cows had been cut off. The animal was found covered with blood.

Work is progressing favorably with the street railway operations in Carleton Place. The roadbed in Queen square has been graded and the rails are in position. Rails have also been laid on Queen street, and it is expected that the circuit will be completed in a few weeks.

The officials at sports tomorrow afternoon will be: Referee, V. W. Clark; judges, Mayor Sears, R. E. Walker, J. N. Harvey, Starter, Arthur McHugh, Timmer, Harry Erwin, John McHugh, Martin Dolan. Clerks of course, C. A. Seely, B. L. Sheppard, E. Mooney.

Miss Jennie M. Bell, daughter of Joseph Bell, Horsfield street, has successfully passed the required examinations and graduated today from the Lowell General Hospital, Lowell, Mass.

Whether or not, the Turk, who is at present in the city conducting a sale of Turkish rugs, carpets, etc., will pay a $25 license, is a question which is causing the Mayor and other officials considerable thought. Auctioneer Lantieri claims that the Turk is now being brought here as a demonstrator to be present at a sale which he is really holding. He thinks his license as an auctioneer should be sufficient, and that the Turk should only take out a clerk's license which costs $7.50.

PERSONAL
Bert Bowser and Arthur Kerr formerly of this city, arrived here on the noon train today from Alberta, where they have been living for the past year.

Mrs. E. A. Smith, of Shediac, passed through the city on the noon train today.

OLD CHARLOTTE ST. BARRACKS A PLACE WITH A HISTORY

Was Originally a Church, Then a Dance Hall, Prize Fighting Emporium, Theatre and Army Home.

The Salvation Army, No. 1 Barracks on Charlotte street, is being rapidly torn down and as soon as the contractors can do the work, a fine, large brick and stone structure will arise in its place. There is quite a history connected with the old Charlotte street building, for it was first a church, then a dance hall, a place for prize fights, a vaudeville theatre, and finally a Salvation Army barracks. About the year of 1874 a body of worshippers known as the Reformed Episcopalians met in Zion Church, but during February, 1878, they moved into a new church on Charlotte street that had been erected by the congregation. Most prominent among the members was the late Henry Jack, father of D. Russell Jack. The sacred edifice was known as the Reformed Episcopal church and at that time was a beautiful structure, and a joy to the religious body who assembled there.

As years rolled along and the more prominent pillars of the church died, the congregation finally ceased to meet at the Charlotte street building and the church went to D. Russell Jack, whose father had held a mortgage on the building. The Salvation Army picked out a lot on the corner of Princess and Sydney streets, where it was their intention to erect a barracks and conduct their meetings, but D. Russell Jack, the owner of the Charlotte street property, made arrangements with the Army officers whereby he obtained the Princess street site and the Army took the amusement building on Charlotte street. It was swept clear of what the officers called the Devil, and for years the Army has conducted a great campaign against sin.

Mr. Fred B. Macrae, provincial manager of the Imperial Life Assurance Co., on Prince Edward Island, is a guest at the Royal. Mr. Macrae was one of the first members of the African contingent from P. E. Island. He says that the boys from that province have every hope of being granted land in the Northwest. When the application was first made the federal government promptly refused to comply with the request. The reason given was that as British Columbia and Ontario had out of the crown lands made grants similar to that asked, the other provinces enjoying the possession of such lands should do the same.

Hereupon the Island men came back at the government with the statement that P. E. Island alone had no crown lands, and that consequently the grant should be made by the Dominion. The force of this argument has been acknowledged and Hon. Mr. Fielding has said that the request is now being carefully considered. The Island men will endeavor to secure all the land in a block.

ISLAND SOLDIERS ARE EXPECTING LAND GRANTS

South Africans Hope That the Federal Government Will Comply With Their Request.

EMPIRE DAY IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Empire Day was observed in the public schools today. Programmes of patriotic nature were carried out. The usual two sessions were held and the special work was taken up in the afternoon. The following programme was carried out in the High School:
Selection by the orchestra; recitation, Miss Hazel Holder; chorus "Canada, God and Our Land," by Grade 9; essay, Stanley Grenville of Grade 9; vocal solo, "Our Patron Saints," by Jennie Kerr; selection by the orchestra; recitation, Lyle Kennedy; chorus, "Land of the Maple," by Grade 8; essay, "Patriotism," Chester Earle of Grade 11; selection by the orchestra and addresses. The speakers were: Mayor Sears, Dr. Daniel M. P., and Rev. A. B. Cohen.
These gentlemen all referred to the patriotic spirit which exists in every true Canadian boy and girl.

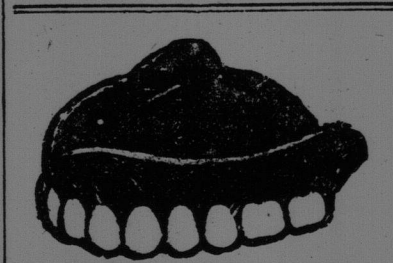

THE I. C. R. VOTING.

Mr. Editor:
I wish to draw the attention of employees of the I. C. R., and engineers in particular, to the position a great many of them placed themselves in by their vote of yesterday, viz: plumping their man or voting one vote where they should have voted two votes.
Mr. Nairn, who represented the engineers at Ottawa, contended that there should be two men elected by the men to represent them on the board of management. The Hon. Minister gave way to the request of the employees and made the act read that two men were to be made elective.
Yesterday was the day of the election and we find the men who were so anxious to have two representatives killing their arguments by only voting for one. These men are supposed to stand amongst the most intelligent of the I. C. R. Does their action speak well for them?
Yours,
CONSISTENCY.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BED THIS MORNING

Mrs. Ellen Delaney, said to be a native of P. E. Island, was found dead in bed this morning in a house of White street. Mrs. Delaney who was not well off in worldly possessions, had been for some time a sufferer from consumption. Arrangements were being made to have her admitted to the Home for Incurables and until a vacancy occurred she was living with Mrs. Robinson, on White street. This morning when Mrs. Robinson went to the room, she found that Mrs. Delaney had passed away during the night. The dead woman was about fifty years of age and is thought to have relatives living at Tryon.

The D. A. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Potter, arrived in port this morning from Boston, where she has been in dry dock. The Rupert has been off the Bay route for the past winter and has been given a thorough overhauling. She is now in excellent shape for the summer trade. The Rupert leaves tomorrow morning, and the steamer Yarmouth, which has given a faithful winter service, will be taken off the route.

The "Why" and "Wherefore" of It

How New Spring Wearables Are Sold at Such Bargain Prices.

A GREAT MANY LADIES have already attended our backward weather sale of Costumes, Coats and Jackets, and nine out of every ten serious shoppers have bought of the new wearables. Surprise is general that such strikingly fresh and modish models should be so radically reduced in price, but the frank admission on our part, that unseasonable weather has retarded business so much that in order to catch up to June goods a clearance must be held, should answer all queries. We try to advertise plainly and briefly; realizing that everybody knows the season is backward, and that many are aware that such conditions interfere with mercantile plans. So brand new handsomely tailored clothes at bargain figures is the result—that's all there is to it.
