ADDRESSED THE EXPRESS MEN

M. C. Lockhart, Grand Organizer of C. B. and R. E. With Others Talked to the Express Employees Yesterday.

Among the visitors in the city is M. C. Lockhart, Halifax grand organizer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees. Mr. Lockhart's mission in this city is relative to business connected with the organization which he is organizing for.

He has in his possession a copy of the schedule governing the Canadian Northern Express employees for the year 1919. "These increases in this schedule have nothing to do with the McKendoe award as the War Board at Ottawa claimed they have no jurisdiction over express companies."

Consequently it is a measure solely brought about by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees. The increases in this schedule are on a par with the McKendoe schedule and in some instances far above for the same class of labor. The minimum for any employee going to work for the Canadian Northern Express Company is $87.50 per month for an eight hour day with straight time for the next two hours, and time and a half for all holidays and Sundays.

For a messenger on the road the minimum is $135 on a bulge basis, and all over time after one hour is ten cents per hour after five thousand miles per month.

All employees have two weeks' holidays with pay each year after one year's service with the company. Mr. Lockhart had the pleasure of addressing the local division of express employees yesterday afternoon in the C. B. & R. E. hall, Union street. President Gibbs presided at the session which was most successful in every feature.

Grand President A. R. Mosher, Halifax, now in the city was present at the meeting and gave a short address to the men which was well received.

C. E. Cole, general chairman of the C. B. & R. E., was present and gave a short address. All the speakers were well received and the employees of the Dominion Express Company are quite satisfied with the explanations given by the different speakers.

Mr. Lockhart remains in the city for a time organizing this section of the province.

SERVICE IN MEMORY OF FALLEN MEMBERS

Impressive Sermon in Douglas Avenue Christian Church Yesterday—Pictures of the Brave Heroes Shown in Church.

A memorial service was held yesterday in the Douglas Avenue Christian Church in commemoration of the brave members who have fallen during the war. In connection with the service three special selections were given by the choir, and afterward a male duet rendered a favored hymn.

The pastor dwelt for a time on the characteristics of the fallen members and chose as his subject, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

The pictures of the following deceased members who have been killed in the war or from its effects were exposed in a frame in front of the pulpit:

Archibald Estey, one of the dead heroes, enlisted when only sixteen years of age, going across with the 10th, came through everything in the war zone and finally contracted influenza and died.

Jack Leary was passed and shell shocked, returned to Canada and died a short time ago in the city.

The fate of Lester Titus is unknown as he was reported missing a long time ago and no official word has ever been received relative to his whereabouts; he is presumably killed.

Jack Leary never knew his official word bore to his relatives that he was killed outright in action.

Daniel Oram, Fred Buckley and Clifford Davidson were the other members of the church who have nobly died for a noble cause.

I. L. AND B. DRIVE IS SUCCESSFUL.

President Stanford of the Irish Literary and Bevolent Society stated yesterday that the drive of the society for new members was meeting with genuine success in every feature. At ready fifty-five new members have been added to the society, and every day sees the advent of many more into the ranks of the society.

The activities in the different sport lines of the society are moving along with a bound, there being some decided interest now taken in the "Domino contest" in which rest two members, who are tied for first place. The contest will close in the near future looking now as though the final results rest with the two.

With the staging of the play "Within the Law," and other proposed winter activities, it now appears as though future members of the society will be granted various and diverse amusements.

SPECIAL MEMORIAL SERVICE WAS HELD

Impressive Service to Memory of Charles H. Williams in St. Mary's Church Last Evening—Was Leader of the Band.

A special memorial service was held in St. Mary's church last night in honor of the memory of Charles H. Williams, late instructor of St. Mary's band, who made the supreme sacrifice October last at Cambrai.

Bandmaster Williams crossed to England in 1914 as master of the 140th Band, and later crossed to France as leader of the famous Princess Patricia Band, and was with that unit through many of the fiercest fights and victories. He was in most of the important Canadian engagements and died just a short time before the cessation of hostilities from wounds received while rescuing a wounded stranger from an exposed position.

The services were conducted by the Rev. R. T. McKim, rector of St. Mary's, and special music was provided by the orchestra of which Bandmaster Williams was a former leader.

During the service a letter from Archbishop V. O. Raymond, formerly rector of St. Mary's, now of Toronto, was read in which sympathy was given to the remaining members of the family, the mother and brother Harold on active service in France, and Edith, a nursing sister at the front who was with her brother Charles when he died.

Archdeacon V. O. Raymond, formerly rector of St. Mary's, now of Toronto, was read in which sympathy was given to the remaining members of the family, the mother and brother Harold on active service in France, and Edith, a nursing sister at the front who was with her brother Charles when he died.

At the close of the service the very impressively the Dead March from Saul, and Baglens Clarke and Stopford sounded the Last Post.

A very large audience was present, on whom the service made a deep impression.

ONLY ONE OF FOUR BROTHERS RETURN

Gunner W. H. Englehart Arrived Saturday After Fighting in Many Battles—His Three Brothers Paid the Sacrifice.

Two full years behind a Victoria machine gun, with Hill 70, Vimy, Lens and Passchendaele as a background, has been the experience of Gunner W. H. Englehart, of the 5th West Canadian Rifles. When war broke out there were four boys in the Englehart family, living in a small town in Saskatchewan. The following year saw all the boys in the service, and in the early months of 1916 they were in the trenches.

Only one is returning home, the other three sleep beneath Canadian crosses over there, and Harry, the lone survivor, is bearing home with him scars on his side and legs, a maimed hand, and memories that keep him awake at nights.

After leaving eight bunk-mates killed, one after the other, Englehart took as his "Buddy" a sanitary feldgman named McLeod, who was considered too old for front line service. "Mac," as he was called, was not satisfied with his fatigues detail and was always wanting a chance to direct a gun at the Boches. And eventually he got his chance, and the trench, "Mac," went into the line, Harry, he would say each time to Englehart, and he took as much joy in the front line as a boy at a picnic. But one day he did not seem so cheerful, he did not speak to his mate on the hike to the line. That day a German shell blew Englehart out of the trench, machine gun and all, and when he was able to crawl around he came across Mac lying in a shallow hole with his right hand and his left leg smashed.

He was suffering intense pain, but was still interested in the fight, and managed to sit up, putting his hands on the ground behind him and pushing his head up an inch or two to look around. This he did once, and on the second time a bullet from a watching German caught him right under his steel helmet.

But the German paid the price. He too, was dead five minutes afterwards.

Englehart was sent out one night with a visiting party when the 5th was in front of Lens. He started out at twelve o'clock, crawling on his hands and knees over No Man's Land towards Pette land, his first objective being a clump of bushes which he had noticed during the day. Skirting the bushes and crawling on all fours his hand suddenly came in contact with a foot. Surprised, he challenged the party, but got no reply. Approaching nearer, ready for all emergencies, he found the dead body of a German sniper, his rifle in position, but his body cold and stiff, killed that day while he was picking off some of the ranks from a vantage ground.

At Vimy, after the Lone Tree scrap, Englehart was on duty cleaning ditches in a support trench, and came across one dud shell which by a matter of means could not hold more than one man, and he would have been of medium size. While talking to a mate he saw a German airplane coming with the machine gun popping, headed right over the line. The plane made for the dugout at the same time, and it held both of them but it was one of the "closest quarters" the gunner was ever in.

Englehart arrived on the Tunisian front, and left the front on Saturday, and though glad to be back it is a sad home-coming, for his three brothers are ever of the days over there and the graves that contain all the other boys of the family.

MUSIC LOVERS' LAST CHANCE

By request from many musical lovers in the city, Mary Desmond, the noted English concert soloist, now appearing at the Opera House, will sing as one of her number this afternoon and evening, an aria from "Samson and Delilah." Today will be Mary Desmond's last appearance in the city. If you enjoy real good music, go and hear her—it is a treat that comes but seldom.

Today is the last opportunity to enjoy the splendid vanderbilt program in every known church of the Globe.

Mary Desmond, the noted English concert soloist, now appearing at the Opera House, will sing as one of her number this afternoon and evening, an aria from "Samson and Delilah." Today will be Mary Desmond's last appearance in the city. If you enjoy real good music, go and hear her—it is a treat that comes but seldom.

Commencing tomorrow afternoon there will be an entire change of program, the new features including the celebrated Manon Four, a quartette of Grand Opera singers in a high class vocal feature; Watson's Comedy Dog Circus; Henry Myers, funny man; the Renzettas in sensational feats of juggling; Field Barnes, xylophone soloist; and good comedy picture. This program opens tomorrow afternoon and continues to Thursday evening.

ONE MATINEE IMPERIAL TODAY.
Because of P. A. McKenzia's moving picture war lecture at the Imperial at 4 o'clock this afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club, the Imperial's own programme will be shown but once, namely from 2 to 4. With Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson and all the famed players of Great Britain in the cast, this should attract many of the lecture patrons to the preceding programme as well. Signor Guarino will sing and the arrival of Canadians in Somalia will be an added feature. The English picture will commence at 2.45.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.
A heavy slide of snow and ice crashed to the sidewalk from the roof of J. S. Gregory's house on Main street Saturday and a citizen who was walking on the sidewalk had a narrow escape from being buried under the mass.

The only damage caused was the breaking of the telephone wires.

Good ice on Victoria Rink every afternoon and evening. Band every night and Saturday afternoon.
