

DEW DROPS

VOL. IV.

TORONTO, DECEMBER 8, 1900.

No. 49.

THE PIGEONS' BREAKFAST.

Little Miss Letty is the best young mistress I know. She manages two houses, and does it very well indeed. One is a big doll-house up in the attic, in which a dozen or more dolls live, and of which Miss Letty is chief housekeeper. Here she attends to making of beds, sweeping and dusting the whole house and getting the dollies' meals.

The other house of which Letty has charge is one out in the garden, where three or four dear white pigeons live. Letty looks well after their home too, keeps it clean and gives her pets plenty of corn and bread-crumbs.

What a lot of pleasure can be got out of helping dumb creatures!