

does everything!—Pregnancy and political excitement—Cornelia contrasted with man-aping Amazon—British matrons will not join the revolt—Mrs. S. C. Hall eloquently censures “The Movement”—Miss Emily Faithfull’s criticism—Beggars the question—Imputes selfishness to opponents—A minority of ambitious women call British women selfish!—Spinsters and Widows do not represent wives and mothers—Why should the vast majority of women enfranchise spinsters and widows?—Pretence that women are hindered from doing what they dislike to do—British women freest in the world—Various pursuits in which they do, or may engage—Preference for domestic sphere confirms the conclusion—A natural division of duties between man and woman.

PART SECOND.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE CONSIDERED IN PRACTICE, AND DETAIL.

CHAPTER I. P. 159

Analysis of the Woman Suffrage Bill—Three classes of supporters—Bill declared not final: final: uncertain—Inconsistency of co-operators—Mrs. P. A. Taylor—National Woman Suffrage Society—Educating women of England for the Suffrage—Victoria Magazine—Victory already won!—Disinterested support by Spinster and Widow-householders—Potential voters!—No real analogy between male and female household suffrage—Wives the most important members of society—Fallacy of the citizen argument