The New Improved DE LAVAL SEPARATOR

embodies the latest development in those features of De Laval construction, which in their original form were sufficient to place De Laval separators in practically every creamery and model dairy on two continents, together with many altogether new ideas in separator manufacture, resulting in the highest degree of efficiency, convenience and utility. It is delightfully simple, requiring only one tool—a screwdriver—to set up or entirely remove the parts. Capacities are absolutely guaranteed and are much greater than in any other make of separator represented to be of corresponding size.

The Bowl is entirely without a spindle, being so constructed that it is hung around, not above, the top bearing, thus eliminating the possibility of a sprung spindle and making it impossible to throw it out of balance in ordinary or extraordinary use.

The Bearings are so simple and so easily replaced, when years of use make it necessary, that the most inexperienced operator can do it quite as readily as one who might be termed a separator expert.

The Pail Shelves for holding cream and skim-milk utensils may be turned to any desired angle by a touch of the operator's finger.

The Supply Can is spun from a single sheet of tin and is made without seam or joint, thus making it easy to clean and absolutely sanitary. It is of most convenient height and its unique and graceful shape effectually prevents splashing of milk over the sides from any cause.

The Base on which the machine rests is so constructed that oil cannot possibly find its way to the floor.

The Enamel Finish of frame and stand is most attractive and if wiped lightly with a dry, soft cloth after each separation, the appearance of a new machine may be maintained after years of constant use.

The Skimming Efficiency of the De Laval separator is so universally recognized as the standard of cream separator excellence that even "would be" competitors concede the fact. It bears the seal of approval of all creamerymen, experimental stations and dairymen of international repute.

The Terms of Purchase are extremely liberal and have been arranged in a way to permit the machine to pay for itself from the increased profits which it earns. These will be fully explained by the nearest De Laval agent or upon application to the Company and a New Improved De Laval will be placed upon approval if desired, in the dairy of anyone considering a separator purchase.

I started the machine with 100 eggs. At the end of ten days I tested out twenty-eight and opening the shells I found every one infertile. This left 72 in the Incubator; of these 61 came out fine healthy chickens, and the balance addled in the shell or wes, too weak to get out.

From my second hatch with the 120 Peerless Incubator I got 96 strong chicks. I am more than pleased with the machine.

Fully satisfied that the Peerless people not only make good with their hatching and broeding out fits, but actually do give the most valuable kind of help to their customers—help in rear-ing the chicks after they are hatched; help in feeding them right; help in bringing them feeding them right; help in bringing them quickest to market size or to egg-production; and help in finding a cash buyer who pays highest prices for Peerless poultry-products. STANSLEIGH, ALTA.

I bought 200 eggs in the store at Lloydminster and then put them in a lumber wagon and took a five-day journey to my homestead. Then put Incubator under canvas tent where the temperature ranged from 50 decrees at might up to 95 when the sun was shiming in the day-time, and after all this I hatched 114 good, healthy chicks that are doing well. I think your Peerless Incubator about as near perfection as it possible to get.
