WATERDOWN,

ONTARIO

"Toronto Street" in Vimy.

The Secours National of Toronto some time ago decided to adopt the town of Vimy and to work for its re-establishment. That the efforts of the members are appreciated is shown by the following letter from Mons. A. Ansart:

Sir Glenholme Falconbridge,
President Secours National,
Toronto.

Dear Sir,—I have been informed by Mr. Tanotax in the name of the Committee "France-Canada" that the Secours National of Toronto was disposed to act in the capacity of Godmother to the Canton of Vimy.

As Mayor of the town of Vimy, I am very desirous that your committee should undertake the work they have offered to do for Vimy. The status of Godmother to my commune has not been accorded to any charitable organization, or to any person, and your committee will be recognized as our official Godmother. This decision has been taken by the Municipal Council of Vimy, whose members are at present scattered to the four corners of France.

I regret that I cannot thank you on the official paper of our commune, but the Germans have taken every piece of official letter-head or paper that they could lay their hands on, and up to date we have been unable to obtain enough paper even to write you this letter. Alone there still remains in my possession the seal of the town of Vimy, with which I have stamped this letter.

It is particularly agreeable to us, the inhabitants of the Canton of Vimy, on the ground over which your Canadian soldiers so courageously fought, to see that your compatriots are to-day coming to the aid of our unfortunate population.

In order to give expression of our gratitude, I am charging myself with the duty of asking our Municipal Council on their first reunion to inscribe on a marble plaque the name of your committee and of its officials and to place this marble plaque in the Hall of Honor at the City Hall. We desire also to name one of our streets or squares in the town of Vimy in your honor.

(Signed.) Monsieur A. Ansart.

That Was It.

One of the favorite stories told in army camps in the earlier days of the war was that of the recruit who developed a queer mania very shortly after he had been assigned to a depot regiment. Time and again in barracks and out he was seen picking up pieces of paper from the floor or ground, looking at them, muttering "that's not it," and passing on. He refused to explain his actions. The matter finally came to the attention of his officers and they had him reported to the attention of a medical board for examination. When he came before the board the recruit grabbed up the papers on the table and looked them all over before he could be prevented. "That's not it," he repeated as he examined each one feverishly. Finally, after lengthy observation, the medical officers recommended his discharge, via the "s. c. o." route. When the soldier detailed to accompany the apparent lunatic to his home was handed the discharge certificate the cause of it all seized it and perused it hastily. "That is it!" he yelled. "And it was, for the release from the service was permitted to stand."

Pine Needles as Playthings.

In the beautiful and cleanly needles of the pine, the children had an unlimited supply for the manufacture of toys, writes Alice Morse Earle, in her "Child Life in Colonial Days." Pretty necklaces could be made for personal adornment, resembling in miniature the fringed bark garments of the South Sea Islanders, and tiny brooms for dolls' houses. A thickly-growing cluster of needles was called "a lady." When her petticoats were carefully trimmed she could be placed upright on a sheet of paper, and by softly blowing upon it could be made to dance. A winter's amusement was furnished by gathering and storing the pitch-pine cones and hearing them snap open in the house.

TEA—TEA

The great pressure of present times when everyone seems to be hurried in everything, even to their buying has induced and increased the use of package goods, especially teas, to such an extent that bulk teas are almost forgotten but just a work. We must consider the extra cost of package goods. The extra cost of packages, the extra cost of labor and machinery to do the packing, and also the advertising. All these add to the cost of your tea and also adds to the cost of the high cost of living which today is a vital question with the majority of people.

To offset the high cost of living to some extent we have bought a lot of very fine high grade India Tea in bulk, grown in the home of the tea plant. This tea is of exceptionally good quality and flavor and we can sell you any quantity you want by the pound at the moderate price of
