Boston and Montreal Express Wrecked on Intercolonial.

One Passsenger and the Conductor Were Killed

And Twenty-five Persons

Sustained injuries.

Halifax report; The Boston and Montreal express of the Intercolonial Railway, which left Halifax at tributed the fault, not to a surplus of honey on the market, but to a lack of care in distribution, claiming that the larger cities were fing with the Canadian Pacific at St. John, was wrecked near Milford station at 10 o'clock. The engine alone escaped destruction. The train had about thirty passengers on board, and her various crews numbered ten or more. One of the passengers and the conductor of the express are dead, and the C. P. R. car inspector is dying, and nearly all of the passengers are injured more or lees severely.

The cause of the accident may never be known. At first it was thought to b-a spreading rail, but thought to b- a spreading rail, but thought to be a spreading rail, but the fact that the engine went along safety, that other trains had just before passed without mishap and that nothing wrong with the roadbed could be observed after the accident, go to show that the rails were not the cause of the disaster. Time and official enquiry will probably eventually reveal the secret, but to-night carcumstances secret, but to-night circumstances point to some deject in the running gear of the cars behind the engine gear of the cars beauth the engine as the cause of the catastrophe.

The wrecked train to-night is lying at the bottom of an embanks ment, nearly thirty feet below the rails. Mrs. John Gussey, of Halifax, who was on her way to see her s.ck sister in Truro, is dead. Conductor Robert G. Duncan, who for forty-seven years has been running on the Government railroad, died from his injuries at midnight. E. J. Hudd, car inspector of the Canadian Paci-fic Railway, is hovering between the and death, and twenty others are badly hurt. A story is current that there are two bodies buried be-neath the wreck of the second-class car, but this is probably a mere rumor.

Mrs. Glassey started from her home to catch a train leaving at 7 o'clock, but missed it by five minutes, and wates for the next departing an hour and forty minutes later. This meant her death, the only death so far in a train carrying forty people, which feil thirty feet down an embankment, every car in which was capsized, and some of them making a complete revolution. The train was running revolution. A GENEROUS ACT.

G. T. R. Paid Drummers' Hotel Bills and Sent Them Home.

Toronto News: "There certainly have een some decidedly inconvenient snow blockades during the past two weeks," said James H. Callan, a Hamilton drummer, on Saturday. "I have been on the road for 15 years, and never saw any thing like it before. It was absolutely impossible to do business in the neigh-berhood of St. Mary's and various smaller towns in that district were inacces sible for days at a time, unless one was provided with snowshoes. Last week I purchased at Seaforth a ticket to Hamilton, good for return this week. I intended to work out from Hamilton, but was good only as far as Stratford, but was good only as far as Stratford, for the road was blocked beyond. We reached Stratford on Tuesday, and stayed over till Wednesday evening, when Mr. Forbes, the agent there, paid our hotel bills, and advised us to go back to Hamilton. He considered it useless to intended to work out from Hamilton. My return ticket was marked Seaforth, but was good only as far as Stratford,

"I heard of one fellow who had to walk into St. Mary's on top of the drifts, and who broke his leg by falling over a telegraph wire. You can take that story for what it is worth," con-cluded the Hamilton man, laughing.

The Grand Trunk Railway authorities paid the hotel bills of 75 traveling people who could not get out of Climton on account of the snow blockades from Sunday till Wednesday morning.

Burnham, in Lambton County, and Emsdale, Muskoka, both report a depth of four feet on the ground, the fall at the first named station for the month being 33 inches, and at the latter 22 1-2 inches.

Welland reports the heaviest snowfall, 60 inches, but the depth remaining on the ground is not stated. Haliburton had a fall of only 16 inches, but the fall in previous month was heavy, and there is still a warm covering of 40 inches lying on the ground. The snowfall in Western Ontario has been especially heavy. London reports that 42 inches feel during January, and a depth of 36 inches fell, but the spells of moderate weather left only 24 inches on the ground at only 24 inches on the ground at the end of the month; Stratford has 2 feet 9 inches on the ground, but the observer became tired of recording the fall, as it snowed every day; Alton, Peel County, fall 30 inches; depth, 3 feet; Georgetown, fall 26 inches; depth 23 inches. In Toronto the fall was 18 inches, but only 12 inches remained. In the eastern part of the Province the snowfall was heavy in spots. Arden, near King-ston, reports a fall of 32 inches, with 20 inches with 20 inches on the ground on the 31st. At Peterboro' 27 inches fell and 24 inches remained; Port Hope reports that 24 inches of snow covered the ground at the end of the month.

of the month. The "snow" man at the Observatory states that the depth of snow in many localities is owing, not so much to the heavy snowfall during the month as to the accumulation of snow from the early part of the winter, Saused by the absence of rain and thaws. The preponderance of high winds also caused serious drifts, greatly hampering railway and all kinds of travel. As stated above, the depths ranges from 16 inches to 50 inches in Ontario; in Quebec it is about 28 inches, and in the Maritime Provinces up to 30

The Present Irish Land Act Will be Amended.

John Redmond Declares the Government is Rotten.

London, Feb. 8.—Irish affairs occupied considerable portion of the time of the House of Commons to-day, and the Government was subjected to a fierce attack by the Irish members.

Mr. Redmond bitterly attacked the Government's attitude on education in Ireland, describing it as grossly absurd and irreparably harmful to the youth of Ireland. The Government's course on the Irish University question, he added, was a dishonest evasion of an admitted duty and a grievance which poisoned the life of Ireland and conlemned her to failure in the struggle of nations.

The Government, continued Mr. Red-The Government, continued Mr. Reqmond, had played the "devil's game of false promises" too often, and if the Government desired the support of the Irish in Parliament and at the polls nothing short of the introduction of the requisite legislation would secure it.

With reference to Mr. Redmond's demand for Home Rule, Mr. Wyndham said Mr. Redmond's object seemed to be to prove that he was the real head of the third party in the House of Commons, and that it demanded a separate Parliament for Ireland. The Chief Secretary denied that he ever had proposed Irish legislation with the view of giving Home Rule to Ireland, or as a concession for the purpose of changing the views of the Nationalists. He also denied that he had any understanding with the Irish party for any purpose. He had been careful not to delude the Irish by rosy, ambiguous neriods, but he would insist that Ireland derive a fair share of the financial resources of the empire. With reference to Mr. Redmond's de-

Mr. Wyndham did not believe the Irish question would be settled for at least fifty years. Even if Ireland had her own Parliament, she could not, in the present state of the money market, find $750,000,000 for the purpose of carrying out 'the provisions of the Land
